McCarthy 'Abuse' Protested

Ike Soft-Pedals Attack On Plane

Soviets More Conciliatory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — President Eisenhower took a calm and nonbelligerent stand today on the latest Russian plane incident. He said it occurred in a disputed border area and that the Russians seem more conciliatory this time.

Eisenhower nevertheless said the American photo bomber shot down off Japan last weekend by Red fighters had a right to be there. He said he approved the protest which the State Department has made.

The President took his stand at a news conference where he also defended the Dixon-Yates contract to feed private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority system.

Watch Alarm Goes Off

On other matters, he said he expected no trouble on bipartisan foreign policy from the Democratic leadership in the 84th Congress, and talked approvingly of the idea of government scholarships for scientific students.

His sober discussion of the plane incident was interrupted by his wrist alarm watch going off suddenly, to the puzzlement and then the laughter of everybody in the conference room. Eisenhower flushed, smiled, said "excuse me" and cut off the alarm. The President uses the alarm to tell him when it is time for a news conference or other appointment. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the watch may have been off today, or perhaps the President set it wrong.

Complicated Problem

The first question dealt with the shooting down of the American plane, and whether there is anything that can be done to guard against such incidents and to force reparations.

In reply, Eisenhower said that this was a very complicated, tricky problem. He said that the world these days, even in the sort of peace that exists, is very watchful of its borders. He said there were some cloudy features in this newest incident.

Eisenhower said this isn't a clear cut thing, where one can say this must be so, and that is that. His calm approach was in line with his recent emphasis on world peace, and what he has called its improving chances.

Persecution Of Soviet Churchgoers, Clergy Halted By Red Bosses

MOSCOW, Thursday, Nov. 11 (AP) —The Soviet Communist party Central Committee ordered Red propagandists today to stop persecuting and insulting Soviet churchgoers and clergymen and confine themselves to "painstaking and systematic atheistic propaganda."

A decree, signed by Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev and published in the party's official newspaper Pravda, warned overzealous antireligious workers that "insulting attacks against believers and the clergy can only lead to strengthening and even intensification of religious prejudices among the people."

Private Power In U. S. Interest, President Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he does not believe it is in the best interests of the country to saddle the federal government with "a continuous and never-ending responsibility" to provide new public power.

He set forth his power philosophy in a letter urging the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee to allow swift execution of the Dixon-Yates private power contract if the committee finds its terms satisfactory.

Demos' Delay Move Fails

The controversial contract is for a 107 million dollar generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to pour private power into the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The power would take the place of electricity TVA is furnishing to plants of the Atomic Energy Commission.

There had been proposals that TVA build government-owned plants to supply the extra power needed in the valley but Congress declined to underwrite this plan.

The President's letter, addressed to Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, was released toward the end of a day in which Eisenhower forces won a big round in the Dixon-Yates fight. Democrats on the committee lost, 10-8, a move to bar immediate signing of the contract.

"Partisan" Argument

"It seems to me," the President wrote, "that there has been a very great deal of talk and argument—much of it partisan—about issues that are really clear and simple.

"No one in this administration has any intention of destroying or damaging TVA or of diminishing its effectiveness in any way.

"But this is not the same thing as fastening on the federal government a continuing and never-ending reesponsibility which I frankly do not believe is logical nor, in the long run, in the best interests of the country."

Read in the context of the whole letter, it was clear that by "responsibility" Eisenhower meant responsibility to build generating plants and distribute public power.

Strange, Deer-Like Animal Captured

ROSCOMMON, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP)—A small, white deer-like animal was caught near Houghton Lake today.

Ralph MacMullan, in charge of the Houghton Lake wildlife experiment station, said the "whazzit" stands about two feet high and has legs about 10 inches long. He was unable to identify it.

The animal, a female with a coat resembling a deer's, was caught running wild with a mature doe. MacMullan ruled out the possibility that it is an albino, since its eyes and muzzle are black.

Grand Rapids Fights Diphtheria Outbreak

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP)—The City Hall rang with wails of 570 children inoculated today in an emergency program to curb an outbreak of diphtheria in Grand Rapids.

Seven homes have been quarantined. Two homes were quarantined today after a public health nurse found traces of diphtheria in throats of three elementary school pupils. They do not have diphtheria but could become carriers, Dr. W. B. Prothro, city-county health officer, said.

TESTIFIES — Mrs. Esther Houk, first outsider to see the battered body of Marilyn Sheppard on the morning of July 4, enters the court room at Cleveland yesterday to testify in the murder trial of Dr. Samuel Sheppard. Mrs. Houk testified Dr. Sheppard knew a head injury "was the hardest to evaluate." The implication, in the state's own words, was that the osteopath knew how to "pretend" such an injury. Sheppard claims his wife was killed by a stranger who knocked him out and seriously injured his head and neck. (AP Wirephoto)

Security Check Of State Dept. Is Nearing End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has virtually completed a sweeping new loyalty and security check of the State Department's 10,600 employes.

Informed officials reported today that 90 per cent of the total, about 9,500, have been cleared and found to be good security risks.

Investigations of the remaining 10 per cent are nearly over with prospects their cases will be completed by the end of the year.

McLeod Directs Review

R. W. Scott McLeod, the department's controversial security chief, has directed the far-flung review into the loyalty and security of all diplomats and Civil Service employes.

For the past 18 months, McLeod's security agents have examined the background of all present employes and job applicants to make certain they qualify under the Eisenhower administration's new loyalty and security standards.

Director Satisfied

McLeod, former aide to Republican Sen. Bridges (NH) and friend of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), is reported satisfied his investigations have been thorough and fair.

A frequent target of Democratic criticism, McLeod is reported ready to give an accounting to the Democratic - controlled 84th Congress in the event it demands an investigation of his security activities. He is reported resolved to stay on the job despite any new criticism which may be leveled at him.

Malenkov Urges More Diplomacy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov has suggested to the United States and British ambassadors in Moscow that the three great powers should try to improve relations among themselves by means of practical diplomacy.

Malenkov talked with U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and Britain's Sir William Hayter for half an hour following a banquet in the Kremlin Sunday night. The party celebrated the 37th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

It was learned that Malenkov:

1. Suggested that the American, British and Soviet governments should try to deal with problems that come up to prevent relatively minor issues from becoming major issues.

2. Advocated maximum use of the normal processes of diplomacy for handling such problems in order to smooth out East-West relations.

3. Adopted a cordial and friendly tone toward the two Western diplomats.

Reds Shoot Down Freedom Balloons

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 10 (AP)—Police sources here said today freedom balloons carrying anti-Communist leaflets are being fired upon by Soviet occupation troops in Austria.

The balloon campaign was started by the privately financed Free Europe Committee of the Crusade for Freedom to encourage resistance in Communist-led countries. For the past six days, the police sources said, Soviet antiaircraft batteries have been shooting the balloons down along the Austro-Czech frontier and in Burgenland province bordering on Hungary.

Mother Believes Baltimore Girl Murdered By "Drape"

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Wide eyed kids, hushed and scared, answered police questions today as investigators sought to learn who murdered a 14-year-old blonde boy charmer whose mother believes it was "done by a drape."

The slain girl was Carolyn Wasilewski, who frequently dyed her hair, was fond of dating "drapes" and answered to the nickname "Peaches."

The "drape" term is self-applied by youths who let their hair grow at the temples to meet in "ducktails" at the back of the head and wear loose fitting coats and tight fitting trousers.

Her battered body, practically nude, was found under a bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks not far from Pimlico race track at 7 a.m. yesterday by a railroad engineer.

Police said today they learned Carolyn was beaten up a week ago by a boy. Her mother, Mrs. Stanley Wasilewski, said she knew nothing of the incident until today.

She reasoned Carolyn must have been afraid to tell for fear of being called a "squealer" and of being given harsher treatment by the gang of "drapes" she'd been going with. Mrs. Wasilewski said she was convinced her daughter was killed by a "drape."

Among the youngsters questioned today were a 19-year-old former boy friend and 16-year-old Peggy Lamana, reputed to have been Carolyn's closest friend.

Police said they were certain the victim was slain in a field about a half mile from her home and some distance from the bridge from which her body had been hurled.

A blood-stained rock and a wooden handle screw driver were found in the field. Her shoes were nearby.

USAF Grounds F100s Pending Crash Inquiry

Supersonic Jets Hold World Speed Record Of 755 MPH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Air Force said today it has grounded all F100 supersonic jet fighters as a result of three crashes, including one in which a British air officer was killed.

A spokesman said the grounding was a "precautionary measure pending completion of thorough investigations" into the causes of the crashes.

Air Commodore Geoffrey D. Stephenson, commandant of the Central Fighter Establishment of the Royal Air Force and former aide de camp to Queen Elizabeth, was killed Monday at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida, when the F100 he was flying crashed after going into a steep spiral.

Yesterday, the Air Force also said, another crash occurred at Edwards Air Force Base, California. The pilot of that plane, Maj. Frank N. Emory of Mount Vernon, Wash., parachuted with only minor injuries. This accident occurred while Emory was engaged in gunnery practice.

The first of the series of crashes occurred on Oct. 12 when an F100 flown by Chief Test Pilot George Welch of North American Aviation Co. crashed near Lancaster, Calif.

The F100 holds the accepted world's top speed record of 755.149 m.p.h., set by Lt. Col. F. K. (Pete) Everest at Salton Sea, Calif., Oct. 29, 1953.

The F100s are produced by North American.

The first deliveries on the 800 mile per hour jets, newest of the Air Force interceptor planes, began only last week. About a dozen were turned over then to a unit at George Air Force Base near Victorville, Calif.

Dixie Producers Avoid Showdown With Mine Union

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Southern Coal Producers Assn. avoided today a showdown with the United Mine Workers Union over miners' wage rates, but indicated it may seek to remove "inequities" from its contract.

President Joseph E. Moody said the association's membership and board of directors authorized its executive committee and officers to cancel the present UMW contract, but he said there is no present intention to act along those lines. The group concluded a two-day meeting today.

Moody Is Re-Elected

There had been talk that the group might seek to reopen the contract to negotiate for lower wages, although UMW President John L. Lewis had said last summer the union would not permit any wage cuts.

Either the union or the companies could reopen the contract by giving 60 days notice. That power has continued unused, by either side, for more than a year.

Meanwhile, the association re-elected Moody to another term as president, and renamed Walter R. Thurmond of Charleston, W. Va., secretary and Laurence E. Tierney Jr. of Bluefield, W. Va., treasurer.

Northern and western mine owners have given no intention they intend to seek contract changes, and Lewis himself has made no demands for contract improvements.

Officers Given Broad Powers

Moody said in a statement the association had given its officers and executive committee broad powers to seek solutions for the industry's economic problems, including labor costs.

"This program includes renewed activity in the field of legislative action, governmental relations, marketing and competitive fuels," he said. "The board also authorized a thorough study of the whole problem of high production costs, including inequities in the present contract with the United Mine Workers of America, although no action was taken toward reopening the contract."

Mother 18th Time

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP) — A 44-year-old widow who says she's had less trouble with 17 children than some people do with one, was the mother today of No. 18.

"My children take care of each other," said Mrs. Bertha Evans of the nearby Alsuma community after the birth of her eighth son.

Marine Corps Hero Gets Welcome

Reckless (center) is a horse, but a Marine Corps hero nevertheless. Once a racing pony in Seoul, South Korea, Reckless served with the Marine 5th Anti-Tank Company and was wounded twice while carrying ammunition to the front lines. She arrived by ship in San Francisco yesterday and was greeted by men who saw combat with her. Left to right are former Pfc. Monroe Coleman, Loa, Utah; Staff Sgt. E. C. Lively and Lt. Eric Pedersen. Reckless, who holds the rank of sergeant, is to be retired to pastures around the Marine base at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Witness Declares:

Sheppard Knew Head Injury "Was Hardest To Evaluate"

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10 (AP)—The state, seeking to knock down Dr. Samuel Sheppard's alibi in his wife's slaying, drew from a woman witness today that he knew a head injury "was the hardest to evaluate."

The implication, in the state's own words, was that he knew how to "pretend" such an injury.

The osteopath is being tried in the July 4 slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31. He claims she was killed by a stranger who knocked him out and seriously injured his head and neck.

It is the state's claim that any injuries Sheppard suffered that night were very trivial — although he wore his neck in a brace for weeks afterwards.

Auto Accident Recalled

Mrs. Esther Houk, a Sheppard family friend, testified as a state witness that a sister of hers was in an accident last spring. The sister's auto was damaged but she was unhurt. The sister's insurance did not completely cover the damage.

She said she discussed the situation with Sheppard, and Asst. Prosecutor Saul Danaceau asked:

"Did he participate in a conversation with the subject of which was how to pretend a head injury?"

"He said that, as a doctor, he knew a head injury was the hardest to evaluate," replied Mrs. Houk over strong defense objections. "It pertained to the insurance in the case of an accident and, where there was no obvious injury, a head injury could be easily claimed as far as the insurance was concerned."

Mayor Urged Confession

Mrs. Houk was the first person definitely known to have viewed the body of Marilyn in her bedroom after she was murdered.

Her husband, Mayor J. Spencer Houk, had preceded her on the stand. He testified he once appealed to Dr. Sheppard to confess the slaying if he was the murderer.

"I figure if it was done by you, it was done in bitter rage," Houk said he told Sheppard after the murder. "Sam replied that he couldn't have done it, hadn't done it."

Maine Woman, 63, Begins Horseback Ride To California

SANFORD, Maine, Nov. 10 (AP)—Tired of living alone, a 63-year-old Maine woman has started across country to California on horseback.

Mrs. Annie Wilkins left her hilltop farm in West Minot without fanfare or farewell last Saturday on her nine-year-old horse, Tarzan, accompanied by a dog. She passed through Sanford today having covered about 50 miles.

Annie, who said she lived alone 25 years, became ill recently and was forced to sell much of her property.

Life in West Minot didn't hold much for Annie any more, so she decided to visit California.

Ike To Dedicate Museum Today

ABILENE, Kan., Nov. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower came back to this prairie land hometown of his youth tonight and the folks gave him a warm welcome, complete with brass band.

The President traveled from Washington for a family reunion and—primarily—to dedicate the $325,000 Eisenhower Memorial Museum at Veterans Day ceremonies tomorrow.

The museum, housing many of the chief executive's mementos and trophies, is adjacent to the home where he lived as a boy. It is kept as a shrine—just as it was at the time of death of the President's mother in 1946.

The President and his party flew into Salina, Kan., 23 miles to the west, at 5:53 p.m., and then drove to Abilene.

He was accompanied from Washington by Mrs. Eisenhower and by his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University.

The President's private plane, the Columbine, stopped briefly in Kansas City, Kan., to take aboard his three grandchildren—David 6, Barbara Anne, 5, and Susan 2—and their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

East German Reds Launch Spy Trials

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Communist East German government opened four separate trials today of 22 East Germans accused of spying in the Soviet zone for the United States and West Germany.

Ten were charged with being directly in the employ of the "American Secret Service," the usual Communist name for the U. S. intelligence network.

Eisenhower Asks Senate Ok Asia Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The United States' answer to Communist victories in Indochina, the Southeast Asia collective security pact, was sent to the Senate today for its approval as "an important link" in free world defenses.

President Eisenhower so described it in a special message accompanying the treaty, which he said is designed "to promote security and peace in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific by deterring Communist and other aggression in that area."

No Special Session Action

Although he called for "early and favorable consideration" of the agreement, the White House said he has no plan to push for Senate approval of the treaty at the special Senate session and now considering censure of Sen. McCarthy.

The White House had announced earlier that both the Southeast Asia treaty and a series of agreements involving admission of West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be sent to Capitol Hill this month only to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee time to study them and prepare for Senate action in the new session starting in January.

Signed Sept. 8 At Manila

The treaty was signed at Manila Sept. 8 by the United States, Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Phillippines, Thailand and the United Kingdom.

Pushed by Secretary of State Dulles, it followed Communist conquest of major portions of Viet Nam at the end of an eight-year war between French and Communist forces in Indochina.

Although the Indochinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia did not join in the treaty, a special protocol provides for economic assistance to them and declares that any armed attack or indirect aggression against them will bring the security pact into operation.

Parental Fears Of A-War Held Delinquency Factor

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Parental fears of atomic warfare are contributing to the "nation's number 1 problem" — juvenile delinquency —Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director for the District of Columbia said today.

While he declared there are many other contributing factors—including maladjusted homes, substandard health, welfare and recreational conditions in certain areas, and lack of proper job opportunities for teen-agers — Dr. Seckinger told the 48th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Assn.:

"The atomic blasts, aggression overseas, the threat of war, the (military) draft, the facility of mobility, and other factors have tended to accentuate our national problem No. 1.

"With the development of the atom and hydrogen bombs we have become the first generation in history which, we can realistically say, is living under the threat of total annihilation.

"This threat is reflected in the anxieties and uncertainties of parents who in turn impart them to their children."

He added that, "in this period of uncertainty and aggression it is exceedingly difficult to influence our junior citizens to exert control over their aggressive behavior."

"The draft," he declared, "involving the possibility of actual participation in war, makes it even more difficult for our boys and girls to plan constructive, productive lives. This is reflected in their 'don't care' attitude and accentuates their feelings of hostility toward society."

Case Declares Tactics Might Prove Charge

Watkins Also Hits Back At Wis. Senator In Censure Debate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—A member of the Watkins committee, which has been accused by Sen. McCarthy of being a tool of Communists, hit back today with a declaration that senators doing their duty should not be subjected to "personal abuse."

Sen. Case (R-SD), a member of the committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, spoke out near the end of the Senate's first day of debate on the hotly controversial censure question.

The day also saw McCarthy (R-Wis) swap accusations with Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), committee chairman. McCarthy accused Watkins of twisting facts and the Utah legislator countered with a charge that McCarthy has violated his obligation—if not his oath—as a senator.

Watkins was referring to McCarthy's failure to appear before an investigating committee which looked into his affairs in 1952. This is the basis for one of the censure counts against him. The other charges he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general appeared before McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee.

Case Answers Charge

Case, in cautioning against "personal abuse" of senators, was replying to McCarthy's statement that the Watkins committee acted as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party in making its censure recommendations.

McCarthy made the charge yesterday in a speech he said he would deliver in the Senate today. As it turned out he didn't actually deliver it but put it into the Congressional Record—with Case and others insisting it be described there as a statement and not a speech.

Case declared, his voice rising: "I don't want the senator from Wisconsin to prove unintentionally to the country that count one is right."

The first count in the two-count censure recommendation of the Watkins committee is that McCarthy showed contempt for another Senate committee.

Case said the Watkins group is trying to make it possible for senators to accept committee assignments in the future without laying themselves open to "personal abuse."

Butler Speaks For McCarthy

McCarthy told Case he never meant to suggest any of the six senators on the Watkins committee was sympathetic toward communism. But he continued to insist that the committee "unwittingly" served the Communist cause by proposing censure for him.

Watkins opened the debate, saying his committee had no intention of appearing in the role of prosecutor but was offering its censure proposal and would leave any action on it to the Senate's discretion.

McCarthy broke in with a series of questions which at times led to sharp exchanges between the two as they stood side by side.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) spoke first for the opponents of the censure resolution. He said he would not endorse everything McCarthy has done, but he cautioned fellow senators to be careful on two points:

1. To recognize that senators are

Cardinal Bruno Dies Of Cancer

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 10 (AP)—Giuseppe Cardinal Bruno, chamberlain of the College of Cardinals, died today after a long illness with cancer. He was 79.

His death raised to five the number of vacancies in the 70-member college—a fact which revived speculation that Pope Pius XII would soon call a consistory to create new cardinals.

Among American prelates frequently mentioned here as possible candidates ia Archbishop Richard Cushing of Boston.

Cardinal Bruno died of cancer of the liver. Until recently he carried on his work as chamberlain, prefect of the Vatican Congregation of the Council and prefect of the Supreme Tribunal of the Apostolic Seal.

A few days ago his condition worsened and he was confined to bed where he received the last Sacraments of the church and the special blessings of the Pope. The cardinal fell into a coma yesterday.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Wide eyed kids, hushed and scared, answered police questions today as investigators sought to learn who murdered a 14-year-old blonde boy charmer whose mother believes it was "done by a drape."

The slain girl was Carolyn Wasilewski, who frequently dyed her hair, was fond of dating "drapes" and answered to the nickname "Peaches."

The "drape" term is self-applied by youths who let their hair grow at the temples to meet in "ducktails" at the back of the head and wear loose fitting coats and tight fitting trousers.

Her battered body, practically nude, was found under a bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks not far from Pimlico race track at 7 a.m. yesterday by a railroad engineer.

Police said today they learned Carolyn was beaten up a week ago by a boy. Her mother, Mrs. Stanley Wasilewski, said she knew nothing of the incident until today.

She reasoned Carolyn must have been afraid to tell for fear of being called a "squealer" and of being given harsher treatment by the gang of "drapes" she'd been going with. Mrs. Wasilewski said she was convinced her daughter was killed by a "drape."

Among the youngsters questioned today were a 19-year-old former boy friend and 16-year-old Peggy Lamana, reputed to have been Carolyn's closest friend.

Police said they were certain the victim was slain in a field about a half mile from her home and some distance from the bridge from which her body had been hurled.

Supersonic Jets Hold World Speed Record Of 755 MPH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Air Force said today it has grounded all F100 supersonic jet fighters as a result of three crashes, including one in which a British air officer was killed.

A spokesman said the grounding was a "precautionary measure pending completion of thorough investigations" into the causes of the crashes.

Air Commodore Geoffrey D. Stephenson, commandant of the Central Fighter Establishment of the Royal Air Force and former aide de camp to Queen Elizabeth, was killed Monday at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida, when the F100 he was flying crashed after going into a steep spiral.

Yesterday, the Air Force also said, another crash occurred at Edwards Air Force Base, California. The pilot of that plane, Maj. Frank N. Emory of Mount Vernon, Wash., parachuted with only minor injuries. This accident occurred while Emory was engaged in gunnery practice.

The first of the series of crashes occurred on Oct. 12 when an F100 flown by Chief Test Pilot George Welch of North American Aviation Co. crashed near Lancaster, Calif.

The F100 holds the accepted world's top speed record of 755.149 m.p.h., set by Lt. Col. F. K. (Pete) Everest at Salton Sea, Calif., Oct. 29, 1953.

The F100s are produced by North American.

The first deliveries on the 800 mile per hour jets, newest of the Air Force interceptor planes, began only last week. About a dozen were turned over then to a unit at George Air Force Base near Victorville, Calif.

Dixie Producers Avoid Showdown With Mine Union

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Southern Coal Producers Assn. avoided today a showdown with the United Mine Workers Union over miners' wage rates, but indicated it may seek to remove "inequities" from its contract.

President Joseph E. Moody said the association's membership and board of directors authorized its executive committee and officers to cancel the present UMW contract, but he said there is no present intention to act along those lines. The group concluded a two-day meeting today.

Moody Is Re-Elected

There had been talk that the group might seek to reopen the contract to negotiate for lower wages, although UMW President John L. Lewis had said last summer the union would not permit any wage cuts.

Either the union or the companies could reopen the contract by giving 60 days notice. That power has continued unused, by either side, for more than a year.

Meanwhile, the association re-elected Moody to another term as president, and renamed Walter R. Thurmond of Charleston, W. Va., secretary and Laurence E. Tierney Jr. of Bluefield, W. Va., treasurer.

Northern and western mine owners have given no intention they intend to seek contract changes, and Lewis himself has made no demands for contract improvements.

Officers Given Broad Powers

Moody said in a statement the association had given its officers and executive committee broad powers to seek solutions for the industry's economic problems, including labor costs.

"This program includes renewed activity in the field of legislative action, governmental relations, marketing and competitive fuels," he said. "The board also authorized a thorough study of the whole problem of high production costs, including inequities in the present contract with the United Mine Workers of America, although no action was taken toward reopening the contract."

Mother 18th Time

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP) — A 44-year-old widow who says she's had less trouble with 17 children than some people do with one, was the mother today of No. 18.

"My children take care of each other," said Mrs. Bertha Evans of the nearby Alsuma community after the birth of her eighth son.

Marine Corps Hero Gets Welcome

Sheppard Knew Head Injury "Was Hardest To Evaluate"

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10 (AP)—The state, seeking to knock down Dr. Samuel Sheppard's alibi in his wife's slaying, drew from a woman witness today that he knew a head injury "was the hardest to evaluate."

The implication, in the state's own words, was that he knew how to "pretend" such an injury.

The osteopath is being tried in the July 4 slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31. He claims she was killed by a stranger who knocked him out and seriously injured his head and neck.

It is the state's claim that any injuries Sheppard suffered that night were very trivial — although he wore his neck in a brace for weeks afterwards.

Auto Accident Recalled

Mrs. Esther Houk, a Sheppard family friend, testified as a state witness that a sister of hers was in an accident last spring. The sister's auto was damaged but she was unhurt. The sister's insurance did not completely cover the damage.

She said she discussed the situation with Sheppard, and Asst. Prosecutor Saul Danaceau asked:

"Did he participate in a conversation with the subject of which was how to pretend a head injury?"

"He said that, as a doctor, he knew a head injury was the hardest to evaluate," replied Mrs. Houk over strong defense objections. "It pertained to the insurance in the case of an accident and, where there was no obvious injury, a head injury could be easily claimed as far as the insurance was concerned."

Mayor Urged Confession

Mrs. Houk was the first person definitely known to have viewed the body of Marilyn in her bedroom after she was murdered.

Her husband, Mayor J. Spencer Houk, had preceded her on the stand. He testified he once appealed to Dr. Sheppard to confess the slaying if he was the murderer.

"I figure if it was done by you, it was done in bitter rage," Houk said he told Sheppard after the murder. "Sam replied that he couldn't have done it, hadn't done it."

Maine Woman, 63, Begins Horseback Ride To California

SANFORD, Maine, Nov. 10 (AP)—Tired of living alone, a 63-year-old Maine woman has started across country to California on horseback.

Mrs. Annie Wilkins left her hilltop farm in West Minot without fanfare or farewell last Saturday on her nine-year-old horse, Tarzan, accompanied by a dog. She passed through Sanford today having covered about 50 miles.

Annie, who said she lived alone 25 years, became ill recently and was forced to sell much of her property.

Life in West Minot didn't hold much for Annie any more, so she decided to visit California.

Ike To Dedicate Museum Today

ABILENE, Kan., Nov. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower came back to this prairie land hometown of his youth tonight and the folks gave him a warm welcome, complete with brass band.

The President traveled from Washington for a family reunion and—primarily—to dedicate the $325,000 Eisenhower Memorial Museum at Veterans Day ceremonies tomorrow.

The museum, housing many of the chief executive's mementos and trophies, is adjacent to the home where he lived as a boy. It is kept as a shrine—just as it was at the time of death of the President's mother in 1946.

The President and his party flew into Salina, Kan., 23 miles to the west, at 5:53 p.m., and then drove to Abilene.

He was accompanied from Washington by Mrs. Eisenhower and by his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University.

The President's private plane, the Columbine, stopped briefly in Kansas City, Kan., to take aboard his three grandchildren—David 6, Barbara Anne, 5, and Susan 2—and their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower.

East German Reds Launch Spy Trials

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Communist East German government opened four separate trials today of 22 East Germans accused of spying in the Soviet zone for the United States and West Germany.

Ten were charged with being directly in the employ of the "American Secret Service," the usual Communist name for the U. S. intelligence network.

Eisenhower Asks Senate Ok Asia Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The United States' answer to Communist victories in Indochina, the Southeast Asia collective security pact, was sent to the Senate today for its approval as "an important link" in free world defenses.

President Eisenhower so described it in a special message accompanying the treaty, which he said is designed "to promote security and peace in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific by deterring Communist and other aggression in that area."

No Special Session Action

Although he called for "early and favorable consideration" of the agreement, the White House said he has no plan to push for Senate approval of the treaty at the special Senate session and now considering censure of Sen. McCarthy.

The White House had announced earlier that both the Southeast Asia treaty and a series of agreements involving admission of West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be sent to Capitol Hill this month only to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee time to study them and prepare for Senate action in the new session starting in January.

Signed Sept. 8 At Manila

The treaty was signed at Manila Sept. 8 by the United States, Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Phillippines, Thailand and the United Kingdom.

Pushed by Secretary of State Dulles, it followed Communist conquest of major portions of Viet Nam at the end of an eight-year war between French and Communist forces in Indochina.

Although the Indochinese states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia did not join in the treaty, a special protocol provides for economic assistance to them and declares that any armed attack or indirect aggression against them will bring the security pact into operation.

Parental Fears Of A-War Held Delinquency Factor

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Parental fears of atomic warfare are contributing to the "nation's number 1 problem" — juvenile delinquency —Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director for the District of Columbia said today.

While he declared there are many other contributing factors—including maladjusted homes, substandard health, welfare and recreational conditions in certain areas, and lack of proper job opportunities for teen-agers — Dr. Seckinger told the 48th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Assn.:

"The atomic blasts, aggression overseas, the threat of war, the (military) draft, the facility of mobility, and other factors have tended to accentuate our national problem No. 1.

"With the development of the atom and hydrogen bombs we have become the first generation in history which, we can realistically say, is living under the threat of total annihilation.

"This threat is reflected in the anxieties and uncertainties of parents who in turn impart them to their children."

He added that, "in this period of uncertainty and aggression it is exceedingly difficult to influence our junior citizens to exert control over their aggressive behavior."

"The draft," he declared, "involving the possibility of actual participation in war, makes it even more difficult for our boys and girls to plan constructive, productive lives. This is reflected in their 'don't care' attitude and accentuates their feelings of hostility toward society."

Case Declares Tactics Might Prove Charge

Watkins Also Hits Back At Wis. Senator In Censure Debate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—A member of the Watkins committee, which has been accused by Sen. McCarthy of being a tool of Communists, hit back today with a declaration that senators doing their duty should not be subjected to "personal abuse."

Sen. Case (R-SD), a member of the committee which recommended censure of McCarthy, spoke out near the end of the Senate's first day of debate on the hotly controversial censure question.

The day also saw McCarthy (R-Wis) swap accusations with Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), committee chairman. McCarthy accused Watkins of twisting facts and the Utah legislator countered with a charge that McCarthy has violated his obligation—if not his oath—as a senator.

Watkins was referring to McCarthy's failure to appear before an investigating committee which looked into his affairs in 1952. This is the basis for one of the censure counts against him. The other charges he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when the general appeared before McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee.

Case Answers Charge

Case, in cautioning against "personal abuse" of senators, was replying to McCarthy's statement that the Watkins committee acted as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party in making its censure recommendations.

McCarthy made the charge yesterday in a speech he said he would deliver in the Senate today. As it turned out he didn't actually deliver it but put it into the Congressional Record—with Case and others insisting it be described there as a statement and not a speech.

Case declared, his voice rising: "I don't want the senator from Wisconsin to prove unintentionally to the country that count one is right."

The first count in the two-count censure recommendation of the Watkins committee is that McCarthy showed contempt for another Senate committee.

Case said the Watkins group is trying to make it possible for senators to accept committee assignments in the future without laying themselves open to "personal abuse."

Butler Speaks For McCarthy

McCarthy told Case he never meant to suggest any of the six senators on the Watkins committee was sympathetic toward communism. But he continued to insist that the committee "unwittingly" served the Communist cause by proposing censure for him.

Watkins opened the debate, saying his committee had no intention of appearing in the role of prosecutor but was offering its censure proposal and would leave any action on it to the Senate's discretion.

McCarthy broke in with a series of questions which at times led to sharp exchanges between the two as they stood side by side.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) spoke first for the opponents of the censure resolution. He said he would not endorse everything McCarthy has done, but he cautioned fellow senators to be careful on two points:

1. To recognize that senators are

Cardinal Bruno Dies Of Cancer

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 10 (AP)—Giuseppe Cardinal Bruno, chamberlain of the College of Cardinals, died today after a long illness with cancer. He was 79.

His death raised to five the number of vacancies in the 70-member college—a fact which revived speculation that Pope Pius XII would soon call a consistory to create new cardinals.

Among American prelates frequently mentioned here as possible candidates is Archbishop Richard Cushing of Boston.

Cardinal Bruno died of cancer of the liver. Until recently he carried on his work as chamberlain, prefect of the Vatican Congregation of the Council and prefect of the Supreme Tribunal of the Apostolic Seal.

A few days ago his condition worsened and he was confined to bed where he received the last Sacraments of the church and the special blessings of the Pope. The cardinal fell into a coma yesterday.

Ex-Iranian Minister Executed By Firing Squad For Treason

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 10 (AP) — They lashed Hossein Fatemi to a stake before a mud wall today and riddled him with 16 bullets for being a traitor to the Shah.

Thus ended on a windswept barracks rifle range the life of the fiery pint-sized ex-foreign minister who had been the right hand man of former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

He was executed in secret by a four-man squad just before dawn. Gen. Teimour Bakhtiar, Tehran's military governor, a witness, said the blindfolded Fatemi shouted as he stood tied to the stake:

"May God protect you!"

Other army witnesses said he cried out "This is Britain's work!" and "The British are murdering me!" before four volleys ended his life.

Fatemi was an uncompromising supporter of Mossadegh's extreme nationalist policy under which the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. was nationalized in 1951.

Fatemi, 40, was sentenced to death by a military court a month ago for his part in plotting to overthrow Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi in August, 1953. His old boss, the aged and ailing Mossadegh, now is serving three years in solitary confinement for the same offense.

Bakhtiar said Fatemi had spent the last pre-dawn hours before the execution writing his will and addressing messages to his family. Then he was driven in a heavily guarded army car to the rifle range at Ghasr Barracks. He walked to the stake without trembling. The four-man firing squad shot four volleys.

"Fatemi had more blood than a cow," Bakhtiar said.

The body was taken to a public graveyard for the Moslem washing ceremony. Then it was delivered to Fatemi's family by army authorities. Weeping relatives buried Fatemi at the nearby shrine of Ibneh Baboieh.

Provoo Is Taken To Baltimore For Treason Retrial

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—John David Provoo, 36-year-old onetime San Francisco bank clerk and former army sergeant, was brought here from New York today to await retrial on charges of treason.

His New York conviction and life sentence for allegedly going over to the Japanese aftee the fall of Corregidor during World War II were upset by a federal appeals court which said he should have been tried in Maryland.

Provoo was reindicted by a federal grand jury here Oct. 27. He remained in the New York House of Detention while his attorney fought unsuccessfully to have the second trial held in Washington instead of Baltimore.

Provoo was brought here today by train, handcuffed to another federal prisoner.

He was taken to Baltimore City Jail where he will remain until his arraignment, possibly next week.

U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub has said the trial, which he describes as the most important treason case since that of Aaron Burr, will start probably in January.

Wartime Leader Of Japan Heads Anti-U. S. Party

TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 11 (AP)—Two oldtime Japanese leaders purged by the Allied occupation formally decided Wednesday to launch a new Conservative party to oust the often pro-American Yoshida government.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, peglegged World War II foreign minister who signed Japan's surrender, and Ichiro Hatoyama, wartime education minister, agreed to form the new party Nov. 23.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida is scheduled to return from the United States Nov. 17.

Shigemitsu and Hatoyama have big followings in the Diet, increasing the possibility the government will lose a vote of confidence planned by opposition Conservatives and Socialists. That would mean a new Diet election.

Shigemitsu, 67, agreed to disband his Progressive party—Japan's No. 2 conservative group—and urge members to sign up with the new anti-Yoshida movement.

Hatoyama, 71, founder of Yoshida's Liberal (conservative) party, is expected to lead into the new group 30 or 40 Liberals disgruntled by Yoshida's six-year rule.

Anti-Yoshida Liberals and Progressives plus 147 Socialists would be enough to carry a no-confidence vote in the 466-seat Lower House.

Yoshida with 223 Liberals plus minor party support, barely survived a confidence vote earlier this year, when 20 Progressives abstained.

Shigemitsu and Hatoyama, like Yoshida, are pro-Western. But they and their followers consider Yoshida, 76, arrogant and feel that as occupation Prime Minister he should step down now that Japan is sovereign.

'54 Crop Production Rises During October

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that 1954 crop production edged up slightly during October to a volume exceeded only by four of the previous six years.

Record production of soybeans, rice and sugar beets were indicated, along with above average crops of oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, sorghum grain, cotton, hay, dry-beans sugar cane and cranberries.

The Department said production might well have been one of the largest of record had not a severe drought caused extensive damage in southern and western states.

But a near average corn crop of 2,939,000,000 bushels helped to minimize the effect of slightly below average crops of wheat, potatoes, peanuts, pecans and certain fruits.

subject to much abuse when they investigate subversion and "should be excused if they lose some of their usual patience." Butler said the present wording of the committee's report on the Zwicker incident gives subversives "real cause to celebrate."

2. To avoid any such vote of censure as would unduly restrict the acts of other senators in the future. He asked the Senate if it really was ready to say "that senators may not impugn the motives of fellow senators, in the privacy of their own homes, in the company of a group of friends, in our cloakrooms and in the heat of a political campaign."

HOLDUP VICTIM—Mrs. Helen Shore, 31, smiles with relief yesterday after a man shoved a check drawn for $1,500 through her cage window in a branch of Lincoln Bank at Syracuse, N. Y., and made off with $1,700 she counted out for him. "I didn't see any gun but I had the feeling that he would kill me if I didn't give him the money," she said. The thief missed out on another $5,000 which was in a drawer under Mrs. Shore's counter.

Nixon Dedicates Marine Statue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The United States Marines, proud possessors of a heroic past, gave to the nation today a giant memorial to their fallen comrades.

President Eisenhower attended the ceremony paying respect to the memory of all Leathernecks who have paid the last full measure of devotion to their country, from the Revolutionary War to Korea.

Vice President Nixon said in dedicating the memorial on the banks of the Potomac that it stands as "a great challenge" to Americans to find a way to peace and freedom that will require no further sacrifices on the field of battle.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr. Marine Corps commandant, said in presenting the memorial to the people of the country that it is not "just a monument to a departed past. It is a graphic message to the future. . . .

"May it stand for ages yet to come as a symbol of American courage and determination, of indestructible faith and unity of purpose."

The memorial, which was dedicated on the 179th anniversary of the birth of the Marine Corps, depicts one of the most glorious moments in the history of the Leathernecks: The raising of the Stars and Stripes above the World War II Pacific battleground of Iwo Jima.

"Heart Condition" Fatal; Proves To Be Darning Needle

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP)—Peter Pivaroff died today of "heart trouble"—there was a darning needle in it.

His wife took him to a hospital Monday night for treatment of a "heart condition"—he had a pain in his chest. X-rays taken last night disclosed a three-inch needle, but it was too late then to save his life.

Officers quoted Mrs. Pivaroff as saying a similar needle was used to sew a Halloween costume and had since disappeared.

An autopsy disclosed two punctures under the man's left arm.

Romulo Urges That U. N. Build Atomic Reactor

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate and former president of the U.N. Assembly, today urged the U.N. to build an atomic reactor without waiting for President Eisenhower's atoms for peace program to take effect.

There was no early comment from supporters of the American program in the U.N. Assembly's Political Committee, but indications were the Romulo suggestion was heading for rejection in the committee. The American plan picked up support from New Zealand, South Africa and Australia.

Romulo praised the United States for taking the initiative on the atomic problem. He said he felt this work should be tied in as closely as possible to the United Nations.

Referring to a statement by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. U. S. chief delegate, that the United States is ready to negotiate agreements with various nations to build atomic reactors for peaceful purposes, Romulo said:

"I believe that we should launch the United Nations on its own cooperative atomic reactor project, inviting contributions of fissionable materials or uranium from every country able to provide even a token contribution — and money from others.

"The Soviet Union and the United States, which have been setting off so many atomic weapons, should be willing to contribute at least the equivalent of one atomic weapon. . . .

"Such a reactor could be used to produce radioisotopes; it could train international technicians; it could study routes to atomic power." . . .

The United States and six other U.N. members are backing a resolution intended to provide the first steps for putting into effect President Eisenhower's program for peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Provoo was brought here today by train, handcuffed to another federal prisoner.

He was taken to Baltimore City Jail where he will remain until his arraignment, possibly next week.

U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub has said the trial, which he describes as the most important treason case since that of Aaron Burr, will start probably in January.

Wartime Leader Of Japan Heads Anti-U. S. Party

TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 11 (AP)—Two oldtime Japanese leaders purged by the Allied occupation formally decided Wednesday to launch a new Conservative party to oust the often pro-American Yoshida government.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, peglegged World War II foreign minister who signed Japan's surrender, and Ichiro Hatoyama, wartime education minister, agreed to form the new party Nov. 23.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida is scheduled to return from the United States Nov. 17.

Shigemitsu and Hatoyama have big followings in the Diet, increasing the possibility the government will lose a vote of confidence planned by opposition Conservatives and Socialists. That would mean a new Diet election.

Shigemitsu, 67, agreed to disband his Progressive party—Japan's No. 2 conservative group—and urge members to sign up with the new anti-Yoshida movement.

Hatoyama, 71, founder of Yoshida's Liberal (conservative) party, is expected to lead into the new group 30 or 40 Liberals disgruntled by Yoshida's six-year rule.

Anti-Yoshida Liberals and Progressives plus 147 Socialists would be enough to carry a no-confidence vote in the 466-seat Lower House.

Yoshida with 223 Liberals plus minor party support, barely survived a confidence vote earlier this year, when 20 Progressives abstained.

Shigemitsu and Hatoyama, like Yoshida, are pro-Western. But they and their followers consider Yoshida, 76, arrogant and feel that as occupation Prime Minister he should step down now that Japan is sovereign.

'54 Crop Production Rises During October

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that 1954 crop production edged up slightly during October to a volume exceeded only by four of the previous six years.

Record production of soybeans, rice and sugar beets were indicated, along with above average crops of oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, sorghum grain, cotton, hay, dry-beans sugar cane and cranberries.

The Department said production might well have been one of the largest of record had not a severe drought caused extensive damage in southern and western states.

But a near average corn crop of 2,939,000,000 bushels helped to minimize the effect of slightly below average crops of wheat, potatoes, peanuts, pecans and certain fruits.

HOLDUP VICTIM—Mrs. Helen Shore, 31, smiles with relief yesterday after a man shoved a check drawn for $1,500 through her cage window in a branch of Lincoln Bank at Syracuse, N. Y., and made off with $1,700 she counted out for him. "I didn't see any gun but I had the feeling that he would kill me if I didn't give him the money," she said. The thief missed out on another $5,000 which was in a drawer under Mrs. Shore's counter.

Nixon Dedicates Marine Statue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The United States Marines, proud possessors of a heroic past, gave to the nation today a giant memorial to their fallen comrades.

President Eisenhower attended the ceremony paying respect to the memory of all Leathernecks who have paid the last full measure of devotion to their country, from the Revolutionary War to Korea.

Vice President Nixon said in dedicating the memorial on the banks of the Potomac that it stands as "a great challenge" to Americans to find a way to peace and freedom that will require no further sacrifices on the field of battle.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr. Marine Corps commandant, said in presenting the memorial to the people of the country that it is not "just a monument to a departed past. It is a graphic message to the future. . . .

"May it stand for ages yet to come as a symbol of American courage and determination, of indestructible faith and unity of purpose."

The memorial, which was dedicated on the 179th anniversary of the birth of the Marine Corps, depicts one of the most glorious moments in the history of the Leathernecks: The raising of the Stars and Stripes above the World War II Pacific battleground of Iwo Jima.

"Heart Condition" Fatal; Proves To Be Darning Needle

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP)—Peter Pivaroff died today of "heart trouble"—there was a darning needle in it.

His wife took him to a hospital Monday night for treatment of a "heart condition"—he had a pain in his chest. X-rays taken last night disclosed a three-inch needle, but it was too late then to save his life.

Officers quoted Mrs. Pivaroff as saying a similar needle was used to sew a Halloween costume and had since disappeared.

An autopsy disclosed two punctures under the man's left arm.

Romulo Urges That U. N. Build Atomic Reactor

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate and former president of the U.N. Assembly, today urged the U.N. to build an atomic reactor without waiting for President Eisenhower's atoms for peace program to take effect.

There was no early comment from supporters of the American program in the U.N. Assembly's Political Committee, but indications were the Romulo suggestion was heading for rejection in the committee. The American plan picked up support from New Zealand, South Africa and Australia.

Romulo praised the United States for taking the initiative on the atomic problem. He said he felt this work should be tied in as closely as possible to the United Nations.

Referring to a statement by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. U. S. chief delegate, that the United States is ready to negotiate agreements with various nations to build atomic reactors for peaceful purposes, Romulo said:

"I believe that we should launch the United Nations on its own cooperative atomic reactor project, inviting contributions of fissionable materials or uranium from every country able to provide even a token contribution — and money from others.

"The Soviet Union and the United States, which have been setting off so many atomic weapons, should be willing to contribute at least the equivalent of one atomic weapon. . . .

"Such a reactor could be used to produce radioisotopes; it could train international technicians; it could study routes to atomic power." . . .

The United States and six other U.N. members are backing a resolution intended to provide the first steps for putting into effect President Eisenhower's program for peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Mandatory Vote Machine Bill Will Go To Assembly

Major Changes In Md. Election Laws Proposed

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — The 10 Maryland counties still using paper ballots would have to use voting machines by the 1958 primary election under a bill to be submitted to the General Assembly after it convenes in January.

The mandatory voting machines are among the few major changes in a complete overhauling of the state's election laws which the Legislature will receive.

The Legislative Council decided today not to go into the proposed revisions of the elections laws since they were worthy of a full scale hearing at the General Assembly. The Council instead will present them to the Assembly without recommendation.

The Council had appointed a special commission two years ago to reorganize the laws most of which date back to 1908.

The most important changes are mandatory voting machines, revision of the Corrupt Practices Act, and restoring in Baltimore City a provision that voters who don't cast ballots five years in a row are to be removed from the registration books.

Use of voting machines now is voluntary. Thirteen counties, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Cecil, Dorchester, Howard, Harford, Kent, Prince Georges, Montgomery, Washington, Wicomico, and Queen Annes, and Baltimore City are using them.

The chief potential points of debate in the revised election center on the corrupt practices sections as the legislators try to reconcile theoretical aims with practical politics.

The principal changes involve attempts to fix limits on campaign and election days spending.

Mrs. Mary L. Nock, Democratic delegate on the council who was elected to the Senate Nov. 2, voiced the sentiment of those favoring spelled out limits.

"It's high time the public knows you can't buy elections," she said.

Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert) didn't disagree with the principle, but sought to point out the difficulty of putting it down in dollars and cents.

It is proposed to specify the number of workers at each poll on election day and to pay a maximum of $15 to each individual.

Goldstein, saying "there's no use kidding ourselves," reported Calvert County workers demanded $20 on Nov. 2. In the bargain, it was raining and "we had to buy them raincoats, boots and hats," Goldstein said.

Other changes in the Corrupt Practices Act would:

1. Limit each candidate and his immediate family to a contribution and expenditure of $10,000 for a state-wide office and U.S. Senator; $5,000 for the House of Representatives and Baltimore City; $2,500 for all others.

2. Limit the contribution or expenditure by any person not a candidate to $2,500.

3. Require an itemized statement of contributions and expenditures on the Friday before an election after which no more contributions would be legal.

4. Require another itemized statement within 30 days after an election.

5. Permit any voter to force in Circuit Court the filer of the election financial statements to swear to their accuracy.

6. Require all contributions to be deposited in a bank and make all disbursements by check.

7. To require authorization for all campaign literature and keep samples of it for 120 days after an election.

Russell Low Bidder For Road Project

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — T. Edgie Russell of Frederick submitted the apparent low bid of $313,994 Tuesday for the rebuilding of a two mile section of Maryland 26, the Liberty Road, east of Eldersburg in Carroll County.

Sam Finley Inc. of Atlanta, Ga., was second low at $324,372 and ten other bids ran as high as $523,627.

The Raymond Concrete Pile Co. of Baltimore apparently was low at $35,283 on sub-surface explorations for the Washington Circumferential Expressway from Jones Mill Road to Palmer Highway in Prince Georges and Montgomery counties.

Sprague and Henwood of Scranton, Pa., submitted the only other bid, $36,181.

Rep. Devereux Victor With 67,179 Votes

BEL AIR, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—The official vote canvass in the race for Congress in the Second District gave the incumbent Rep. Devereux 67,179 votes over 52,540 for his opponent, the Democratic candidate, William P. Bolton.

Unofficial figures tallied on election night also gave Devereux the victory. The unofficial score was 67,026 for Devereux and 53,587 for Bolton.

Rabbit Hunter Draws $165 Fine

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 10 (AP) — Jesse James Fore, railroad worker, was fined $165 today for shooting nine rabbits in advance of the hunting season which opens Monday.

Fore was arrested early yesterday after residents of the Downsville section complained of early morning shooting in the nearby woods.

Game Warden Stanley Alexander said Fore, when arrested, had a rifle with a flashlight taped to it.

Unemployment Benefit Checks Hit Low For '54

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—The State Department of Employment Security reported today 17,724 Marylanders received unemployment benefit checks last week, hitting a new low for 1954.

The figure is at the bottom of a slow, nearly steady decline since the last week of May. Jobless workers received 33,564 checks for $801,124 that week.

The average through October was about 27,000 checks a week.

Except for the week ended Jan. 2, the $443,087 value of last week's 17,724 checks also was the lowest of the year.

This compared with $470,548 for 18,966 checks paid out the previous week last month and $241,884 for 9,617 paid in the first week of November, 1953.

A spokesman for the department acknowledge some of the decline resulted from the exhaustion of time eligibility. New claims for benefits filed last week jumped almost 800 to 4,498. Most of the new claims were filed in the counties and were attributed to the seasonal closing of canneries in Western Maryland and on the Eastern Shore, as well as the devastation caused by Hurricane Hazel on Oct. 15.

Deadline Tomorrow For U. Of Md. Ruling

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins has until Friday to show why the State shouldn't turn over to Del. Whitworth (R-Allegany) the controversial accreditation report on the University of Maryland.

Twice the Board of Regents of the University have voted to withhold it. Sections of the report were made public during the gubernatorial campaign in which Republican Gov. McKeldin defeated H. C. Byrd, the University's former president.

Whitworth, who has said the entire report should be made available, filed a suit requesting that it be turned over to him.

The report withheld renewal of accreditation of the University pending compliance with several recommendations. It did not disturb the existing accreditation.

Civil Service Plan OK'd

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—City Council today approved a civil service plan for Rockville government employes.

The plan, approved at a meeting which lasted until long after midnight, sets up a merit plan, provides for leave and retirement benefits, and establishes a salary-grade structure, job description list and administrative procedure.

Silver Spring J. P. Dies

SILVER SPRING, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—Monroe Stevens, 54, justice of the peace assigned to the Silver Spring substation of the Montgomery County Police Department since his appointment in 1952, died today at his home in Sellman, Md.

Sterilization Order Is Upheld By Judge

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Judge Herman M. Moser today ruled two lawyers could not intervene in an order he signed for the sterilization of a woman mental patient.

The Baltimore attorneys, Francis J. Meagher and John J. Sweeney Jr., argued in their petition the court exceeded its authority.

There were no religious points raised, but the Catholic Review has printed at length a summary of the stand taken by the two men.

Relatives of the woman requested the sterilization after doctors said her mental illness was related to childbirth. She had borne a number of children, several of them illegitimate.

The "Cleaningest" Cleaner!
There's Been a Change Made in FINA FOAM

The new Triple Strength Fina Foam produces the highest level cleaning efficiency. It has a definite advantage where the resoiling of carpeting or upholstery is considered. When carpets are home cleaned, a good portion of the cleaner remains in the pile because rinsing has been omitted. Any of the new Fina Foam left in the carpet dries to a fine invisible crystalline powder which is easily removed by vacuuming. Ordinarily, soaps and some synthetic detergents leave a gummy deposit in the pile; this traps dirt and causes the carpet to resoil rapidly. The new Fina Foam does not cause the fibres to mat and on drying leaves the rugs or upholsetry fabrics with an open lofty pile. The new Fina Foam is triple strength. One gallon makes 3 gallons, so not only is it much more efficient and easy to apply, it is much less costly to use. The new Triple Strength Fina Foam is available at Rosenbaum's.

Most of the new claims were filed in the counties and were attributed to the seasonal closing of canneries in Western Maryland and on the Eastern Shore, as well as the devastation caused by Hurricane Hazel on Oct. 15.

Deadline Tomorrow For U. Of Md. Ruling

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins has until Friday to show why the State shouldn't turn over to Del. Whitworth (R-Allegany) the controversial accreditation report on the University of Maryland.

Twice the Board of Regents of the University have voted to withhold it. Sections of the report were made public during the gubernatorial campaign in which Republican Gov. McKeldin defeated H. C. Byrd, the University's former president.

Whitworth, who has said the entire report should be made available, filed a suit requesting that it be turned over to him.

The report withheld renewal of accreditation of the University pending compliance with several recommendations. It did not disturb the existing accreditation.

Civil Service Plan OK'd

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—City Council today approved a civil service plan for Rockville government employes.

The plan, approved at a meeting which lasted until long after midnight, sets up a merit plan, provides for leave and retirement benefits, and establishes a salary-grade structure, job description list and administrative procedure.

Silver Spring J. P. Dies

SILVER SPRING, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—Monroe Stevens, 54, justice of the peace assigned to the Silver Spring substation of the Montgomery County Police Department since his appointment in 1952, died today at his home in Sellman, Md.

Sterilization Order Is Upheld By Judge

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Judge Herman M. Moser today ruled two lawyers could not intervene in an order he signed for the sterilization of a woman mental patient.

The Baltimore attorneys, Francis J. Meagher and John J. Sweeney Jr., argued in their petition the court exceeded its authority.

There were no religious points raised, but the Catholic Review has printed at length a summary of the stand taken by the two men.

Relatives of the woman requested the sterilization after doctors said her mental illness was related to childbirth. She had borne a number of children, several of them illegitimate.

The "Cleaningest" Cleaner!
There's Been a Change Made in FINA FOAM

The new Triple Strength Fina Foam produces the highest level cleaning efficiency. It has a definite advantage where the resoiling of carpeting or upholstery is considered. When carpets are home cleaned, a good portion of the cleaner remains in the pile because rinsing has been omitted. Any of the new Fina Foam left in the carpet dries to a fine invisible crystalline powder which is easily removed by vacuuming. Ordinarily, soaps and some synthetic detergents leave a gummy deposit in the pile; this traps dirt and causes the carpet to resoil rapidly. The new Fina Foam does not cause the fibres to mat and on drying leaves the rugs or upholsetry fabrics with an open lofty pile. The new Fina Foam is triple strength. One gallon makes 3 gallons, so not only is it much more efficient and easy to apply, it is much less costly to use. The new Triple Strength Fina Foam is available at Rosenbaum's.

Educators Face Big Problem: How To Keep Men Teachers Teaching

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—This is American Education Week, and a good time to look at a development that may play an important part in the future of this country.

Which is: Men teachers have been flocking to the high school class room — but they're flocking right out again.

The Office of Education reported today that in 1952, the last year for which it has statistics, a greater percentage of high school teachers were men than at any time in the last 50 years.

Its survey showed that 45.6 per cent of the high school teachers in 1952 were male. You'd have to go all the way back to 1900, with 49.9 per cent, to beat it.

But this statistic on schoolmasters had barely rolled in before the National Education Assn. came up with a rebuttal.

"That's all right for 1952," said Ray Maul, NEA's assistant director of research, "but we have later figures of a different type."

Maul's statistics have been collected from colleges training future teachers. They show a steady falling off of those who are preparing to teach, and an alarming falling off in those subjects normally taught by men: Physics, chemistry, biology and general science.

Furthermore, of those men who do qualify to teach, many never get into a class room, Maul said, but wind up with a better paying job in industry, or a worse paying job in the armed services.

Certainly statistics are dull, but let's slip in one more as an illustration. Of those trained to teach chemistry and who were graduated last year, less than a fourth went into teaching.

All right, but why is this so important?

Because, Maul says, this is a technological age, with a tremendous demand for trained scientists, because trained scientists aren't likely to appear unless there is an adquate supply of good high school teachers, and because we're falling off at a time when Russia is stepping up its scientific training.

"This may not alarm you," Maul said, "but it's alarming big industries. I recently attended a meeting with some of the biggest, and they're genuinely alarmed."

Raising salaries, of course, is the obvious way to keep men teaching, and, as an educator, Maul's all for it. But he says that for the long haul this country must work out some plan of making sure the better minds get more training.

"The best guess is that half our youngsters who are qualified to go to college drop out," he said. "We must find a way to salvage a greater proportion of our superior students."

Convicts Taking Course On How To Win Friends

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10 (AP) — Forty-five convicts in Holmesburg Prison are taking a course on how to win friends.

Commissioner Edward J. Hendrick, in charge of city prisons revealed this recently during a budget discussion before the City Council.

Asked by Council President James A. Finnegan if "you are teaching prisoners how to win friends and influence people—maybe guards too?" Hendrick replied, "The emphasis is on how to win friends; how to improve their condition generally."

"Safe Driving Day" Set For December 15

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—If you are driving a car on Wednesday Dec. 15, take it easy. That will be observed nationally as "SD Day"—Safe Driving Day—under a campaign authorized by President Eisenhower.

Ways and means to focus attention nationally on making this one day as free as possible of traffic accidents were discussed here yesterday at a meeting called by Charles F. McCahill, general manager of the Cleveland News.

McCahill, a former president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Assn., is chairman of a committee representing media of information in the campaign.

President Eisenhower last February authorized creation of a permanent "President's Action Committee for Highway Safety" to coordinate a state, local and national crusade against death and injury on the roads.

Bottles To Provide Sea Drift Record

LA JOLLA, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP) — Scientists are going to toss 1,000 salad oil bottles a month into the sea off the California coast for a year to see how they drift.

The four-ounce bottles manufactured ordinarily for salad oil were selected because of their size and shape.

Scientists at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography figure 300 of the 12,000 will be picked up by persons who will notify the institution by filling out and returning the enclosed post cards.

Records of the drift of the 300 which the institution hopes to get back will provide information about ocean currents.

Speculation has placed Denver of the Western League in the No. 1 spot as the replacement for Kansas City.

Photographs May Disclose Cells' Secret

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—A powerful microscope has taken the first pictures of what may be a missing link to explain a vital secret of life.

The pictures show tiny threads at one stage in living cells, the threads apparently link the center or nucleus of the cell and the cytoplasm or bulk of the cell surrounding the nucleus.

Your body, all living things, are composed of cells.

The nucleus is somewhat like an executive office or control point in the cell, and the cytoplasm like a factory. The nucleus controls much of the production of life materials and chemical changes in the factory part.

A mystery has been how the nucleus transmits its control. Until now, there has been no direct visual evidence of material passing from the nucleus to the cytoplasm to explain it, said Prof. Arthur W. Pollister, Columbia University biologist. The tiny threads may go far toward explaining it.

The photographs, shown to the National Academy of Sciences, were taken with an electron microscope by Prof. Pollister, M. Gettner and R. Ward, all of Columbia.

Some photos show the tiny threads ringing the surface of the nucleus like a short stubby beard. The same threads extend into the nucleus.

The slices of cells were only a millionth of an inch thick. The threads were visible at magnifications of 4,000 and 24,000 diameters.

Market Advances In Face Of Losses In Key Areas

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Stock Market derived major support from railroads today and advanced in the face of some sharp losses in key areas.

There was a rather broad spread of gains and losses going to around 3 points with the plus signs dominating the list.

Ahead with the rails were the steels, oils, merchandising issues, utilities, and farm implements.

Motors ran into late selling and closed lower, especially Chrysler which was off 2¼ at 64⅞. Tobaccos again were under selling pressure with still more debate about smoking and cancer going on. Other losses were among individual issues like Goodrich off 2¾ at 113¾ and U. S. Gypsum off 6½ at 215 after declaring an extra of $4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks established its third straight 25-year high with a gain of 70 cents at $141.30, the best since Oct. 17, 1929.

Both the industrial and railroad components of the average established new highs—the former up 80 cents at $194.20 and the latter up 90 cents at $105.60. Utilities gained 20 cents at $64.90.

City Officials Plan To Attend Meeting

Today is a legal holiday for city employes but some city officials will be attending or on their way to the seventh annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League at Easton.

Leaving today will be Mayor Roy W. Eves, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson and possibly Finance Commissioner John J. Long. Gibson will attend a special meeting outside the regular league program called by John S. Shriver, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau, for Friday at 9 a. m. The state League meeting will last through Saturday.

Mayor Eves is a league councilman-at-large. He said the city has also been invited to send representatives to the American Municipal Association 31st annual Congress November 28 to December 1 in Philadelphia.

From 150 to 170 state officials are expected at Easton. Sessions on juvenile delinquency, new social security law, proposed exchange of roads between the state and its political subdivisions, civil defense, public relations municipal legislation in addition to forums for city attorneys, engineers and finance officers have been arranged.

"It was like magic—the change RIVAL DOG FOOD made in my dog!"

Says Mrs. J. V. Michel, 3633 Oak Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Why do so many dog owners find that only Rival Dog Food gives them the results they want? Because the Rival formula—remarkably complete and scientifically balanced—was specifically created to meet every dog feeding requirement. Rival contains the variety meats dogs need for growth and energy; the nutritious liver they relish for its rich flavor; the natural vitamins and minerals they must have for sparkling eyes and coats; more of those highly essential proteins than most canned dog foods! The more brands you've tried, the more you'll appreciate what Rival does for your dog. Take the advice of the millions who have fed over one billion cans of Rival to their dogs—change to Rival now!

RIVAL is a wonderful dog food—over One Billion Cans already sold!

Market Advances In Face Of Losses In Key Areas

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Stock Market derived major support from railroads today and advanced in the face of some sharp losses in key areas.

There was a rather broad spread of gains and losses going to around 3 points with the plus signs dominating the list.

Ahead with the rails were the steels, oils, merchandising issues, utilities, and farm implements.

Motors ran into late selling and closed lower, especially Chrysler which was off 2¼ at 64⅞. Tobaccos again were under selling pressure with still more debate about smoking and cancer going on. Other losses were among individual issues like Goodrich off 2¾ at 113¾ and U. S. Gypsum off 6½ at 215 after declaring an extra of $4.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks established its third straight 25-year high with a gain of 70 cents at $141.30, the best since Oct. 17, 1929.

Both the industrial and railroad components of the average established new highs—the former up 80 cents at $194.20 and the latter up 90 cents at $105.60. Utilities gained 20 cents at $64.90.

"It was like magic—the change RIVAL DOG FOOD made in my dog!"

Says Mrs. J. V. Michel, 3633 Oak Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

Why do so many dog owners find that only Rival Dog Food gives them the results they want? Because the Rival formula—remarkably complete and scientifically balanced—was specifically created to meet every dog feeding requirement. Rival contains the variety meats dogs need for growth and energy; the nutritious liver they relish for its rich flavor; the natural vitamins and minerals they must have for sparkling eyes and coats; more of those highly essential proteins than most canned dog foods! The more brands you've tried, the more you'll appreciate what Rival does for your dog. Take the advice of the millions who have fed over one billion cans of Rival to their dogs—change to Rival now!

RIVAL is a wonderful dog food—over One Billion Cans already sold!

Virginia Lee Selects Nov. 27 For Wedding To R. A. Smith

Miss Virginia Louise Lee, fiancee of Cpl. Ronald A. Smith, has selected November 27 for the date of their marriage.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 4 p. m. in Cresaptown Methodist Church, with Rev. Raymond Crove officiating.

Miss Janis Lee is to be her sister's maid of honor; and Charlene Lee, another sister, junior bridesmaid, while Judy Dickerhoof will be flower girl and Warren Smith, cousin of the bridegroom, ring bearer. John Whally will serve as his nephew's best man and the ushers will be Glen Leydig, David Smith, and Carl Vandegrift, uncles of the bridegroom.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Lee, Route 1, Ridgeley. A graduate of Allegany High School, she was the 1948 Allegany County Farm Queen and is employed as secretary-receptionist at the Allegany County Board of Education.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, LaVale. He also is a graduate of Allegany High School, and entered the Army in December 1952. For the past 17 months he has been stationed with the 80th Ordnance Supply Company in Nancy, France. He also attended I.B.M. schools in Mannheim and Lenggries, Germany. Prior to entering the service, he was employed with the John I. Vandegrift Construction Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee will entertain with a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party. It will be held in the church social hall, following the ceremony.

Mrs. Smith will entertain with a prenuptial shower and card party in compliment to her prospective daughter-in-law November 12 at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Lindner, Bedford Road, is reported improving in Sacred Heart Hospital, where she is a patient.

Allegany Home Ec Girls Applying Studies For Teas

A project which enables Allegany High School home economics students to apply generally their knowledge on housekeeping duties is being carried out by classes of Miss Carolyn Arbogast, home economics instructor.

The project is in the form of weekly teas to be held for faculty members at the Allegany House. Each class is divided into three groups foods, sewing, and housekeeping, which will rotate every six weeks, thus giving each person a chance to participate in all groups.

Chairmen Are Named

Chairmen for a supper, party and sale were named at the meeting of the LaSalle Mothers Club, Tuesday night. Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh presided at the business session in the Social Center.

A covered dish supper will be held December 5 in SS. Peter and Paul parish hall with Mrs. William Buzzard and Mrs. George Miller chairmen. Mrs. John Kienhofer, Mrs. Sidney Storer and Mrs. William Newnam are in charge of the Christmas party, to be held December 14 at the center. Mrs. Wade Caffey was named chairman of the rummage sale to be held tomorrow evening and Saturday morning in SS. Peter and Paul hall.

Brother Daniel spoke of the scholastic work of the students and announced a meeting of the parents and teachers tonight at 7.

Junior mothers served refreshments during the social. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lawrence Hymes and Mrs. John McDonald.

LaVale Club Changes Date Of Meetings

The LaVale Homemakers Club changed the meeting date and time and elected two officers at the meeting Monday at the fire hall. Meetings were changed from the first to the second Monday of the month, beginning the first of the year. They are to begin at 1 o'clock instead of 1:30 as previously.

Mrs. Marshall Lewis was elected vice president and Mrs. Thomas Williamson, secretary. Mrs. John Beckman gave the Nominating committee report.

It was decided to have the Christmas party in the form of a covered dish dinner as usual, beginning at 12:30. Jingle gifts will be distributed by Santa and members are to bring contributions of canned goods for a welfare basket.

Mrs. Ernest Screen, president, led the flag salute and the group sang "America the Beautiful," under the direction of Mrs. Charles Long, with Mrs. Guy Brengle at the piano.

Silent prayer was offered by the group for Mrs. George Brown in the loss of her husband, and for one of the members, Mrs. John Beck, who died last week.

A poem on Thanksgiving, was read by Mrs. Screen. The song of the month, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," was sung by Mrs. Charles Long. Roll call was answered to "Did you attend county Achievement Day and what were your achievements during the year?" Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, Welfare chairman, reported sending sympathy cards to Mrs. Douglas Ritchie in the loss of her mother, and a sick card to Mrs. Lulu Hughes. She reported Mrs. Joseph Kotchenreuther is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. Routine reports were given by Miss Mary Brengle and Mrs. Dayton Murphy.

Mrs. Douglas Smith reported on the open house for different clubs, to be held at the Court House December 8, 9, 10, on Christmas ideas, decorations and foods. The Nutrition chairmen are in charge of the cookies, candies and bread; the Home and Yard Beautification chairmen, the decorations. The LaVale club's day is the ninth. Each member was asked to send ideas for decorations and her favorite recipies by December 1, so they may be compiled in a sheet for distribution at the open house.

A meeting of the Home and Yard Beautification chairmen was announced for the 15th at 10:30 at the Court House. Mrs. Charles Long reported on the home furnishing meeting and said she is ordering booklets on refinishing furniture from the university. Mrs. John Cook talked on the National Council of Homemakers, held last week in Washington. She showed the program of the Maryland song sheet, told of the vesper service and pageant Maryland night. Mrs. Smith spoke of the banquet, speakers and music as well as souvenirs which consisted of an apple, orchid and terrapin pin for each of the 2,000 guests, including Governor and Mrs. McKeldin.

Concluding the meeting a tea was held and Mrs. O. M. Marquis and Mrs. Homer Carlton were honored.

Girl Scouts To Distribute Organization Pamphlets

Plans were formulated to have the girls organized to distribute the annual Girl Scout pamphets, "Pictorial Review" of local facts and statistics, at the meeting of the Public Relations committee of the Girl Scout Council Monday evening. Mrs. Lucile Roeder presided and reports were given.

It was announced that pictures of three troops were shown at the conference in Washington recently. One was Troop 18 making skirts; another of Troop 5 having a Swiss party climaxing work on its minstrel badge; and the other Troops 43 and 3 making favors for the local hospitals.

Others present were Miss Olive Hurlburt, Mrs. Eleanor Diggs and Mrs. Mildred McClung.

The next meeting is January 10.

Esther Smith Heads State Hairdressers, Cosmetologists

Two Other Local Women Named

Three local women were elected to office in the Maryland State Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association, Inc., at the state convention last weekend.

The December 14 meeting will be at the Central Methodist Church George Street, with Mrs. K. J. Rally hostess. Each is to bring a gift to be sent to the Quincy Orphanage.

Sixteen members and three guests were present.

Society Will Fill Mission Box Nov. 14

The Woman's Society of World Service formulated plans for a covered dish supper and a combined meeting with the Bethel EUB women at the regular meeting Tuesday night at the church. Mrs. Hale Burgess presided.

November 17 was selected as the date for the covered dish supper. It will be held at 6 o'clock after which Rev. C. K. Welch will review the book, "Christ Calls to Worldwide Witnessing." The men and Youth Fellowship of the church are invited to attend.

The combined meeting with Bethel women will be December 14. Husbands are invited to attend and a jingle party will follow the meeting.

Members were reminded that donations of materials for the mission box to be sent to Kentucky are to be brought to the church by November 14. Pencils, tablets, crayons, soap, and wash cloths are especially needed.

Group singing of "Jesus Calls Us," opened the meeting. A prayer poem, "Let Us Give Thanks" was presented by Mrs. Burgess. Reports were given by Mrs. Edna Knotts, Mrs. Anna Goss, Mrs. Nellie May Readhead, and Mrs. Susan Clark. It was reported that six boxes of clothing and household material was donated for the Church World Service.

A devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Beatrice Linaberg. Her topic was "The Missionary Looks at His Field." Mrs. Paul Getz, Mrs. Redhead, Mrs. Ruth Welch and Mrs. Ruth Hare were the speakers. The leader gave four headings under which the field budgets are arranged, evangelism through the church, education, healing and social action and community development.

A special thank offering service followed. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Ethel Shoemaker. Mrs. Linaberg read a poem, "I Thank Thee Lord," after which the group repeated the Lord's Prayer. A social hour followed. One visitor and 21 members attended.

Second Grade with Mrs. Edward Smith, home room mother, will be in charge of the SS. Peter and Paul parish card party at 8 tonight in the parish hall.

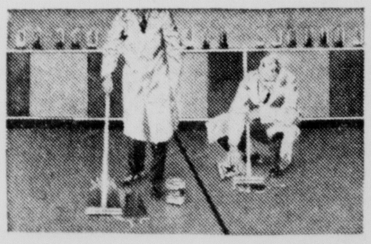
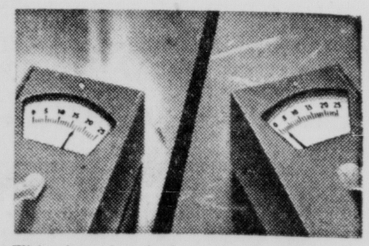
You who feel strongly about the performance of a floor polish will welcome improved Hard Gloss Glo-Coat. It's the latest thing from Johnson's Wax! Nothing before has let you keep floors so lovely, shiny, simple to clean. Johnson's Wax experts created this new formula to resist busy feet and regular damp-moppings. It's so tough it lets you cut down on the number of times you wax each year. Its finish is so much harder that your floors stay much brighter for six, seven, even up to ten weeks! Accept no substitutes!


You can test floor polishes exactly the way the experts do it at Johnson's Wax famous Research Tower. Apply Hard Gloss Glo-Coat to half a kitchen floor and put any substitute brand on the other half.

A dozen kitchen parties won't give your floor the rugged wear the Johnson's Wax test floor gets daily. For six weeks, hundreds walk on it and it's regularly damp-mopped. Then comes the Gloss Meter test . . .


This photoelectric device proves eyes don't deceive. Just as your own floor will show after weeks of traffic and damp-mopping, Hard Gloss Glo-Coat scores a brightness rating of sixteen . . . the substitute polish a four.

LaVale Club Changes Date Of Meetings

The LaVale Homemakers Club changed the meeting date and time and elected two officers at the meeting Monday at the fire hall. Meetings were changed from the first to the second Monday of the month, beginning the first of the year. They are to begin at 1 o'clock instead of 1:30 as previously.

Mrs. Marshall Lewis was elected vice president and Mrs. Thomas Williamson, secretary. Mrs. John Beckman gave the Nominating committee report.

It was decided to have the Christmas party in the form of a covered dish dinner as usual, beginning at 12:30. Jingle gifts will be distributed by Santa and members are to bring contributions of canned goods for a welfare basket.

Mrs. Ernest Screen, president, led the flag salute and the group sang "America the Beautiful," under the direction of Mrs. Charles Long, with Mrs. Guy Brengle at the piano.

Silent prayer was offered by the group for Mrs. George Brown in the loss of her husband, and for one of the members, Mrs. John Beck, who died last week.

A poem on Thanksgiving, was read by Mrs. Screen. The song of the month, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," was sung by Mrs. Charles Long. Roll call was answered to "Did you attend county Achievement Day and what were your achievements during the year?" Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, Welfare chairman, reported sending sympathy cards to Mrs. Douglas Ritchie in the loss of her mother, and a sick card to Mrs. Lulu Hughes. She reported Mrs. Joseph Kotchenreuther is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. Routine reports were given by Miss Mary Brengle and Mrs. Dayton Murphy.

Mrs. Douglas Smith reported on the open house for different clubs, to be held at the Court House December 8, 9, 10, on Christmas ideas, decorations and foods. The Nutrition chairmen are in charge of the cookies, candies and bread; the Home and Yard Beautification chairmen, the decorations. The LaVale club's day is the ninth. Each member was asked to send ideas for decorations and her favorite recipies by December 1, so they may be compiled in a sheet for distribution at the open house.

A meeting of the Home and Yard Beautification chairmen was announced for the 15th at 10:30 at the Court House. Mrs. Charles Long reported on the home furnishing meeting and said she is ordering booklets on refinishing furniture from the university. Mrs. John Cook talked on the National Council of Homemakers, held last week in Washington. She showed the program of the Maryland song sheet, told of the vesper service and pageant Maryland night. Mrs. Smith spoke of the banquet, speakers and music as well as souvenirs which consisted of an apple, orchid and terrapin pin for each of the 2,000 guests, including Governor and Mrs. McKeldin.

Concluding the meeting a tea was held and Mrs. O. M. Marquis and Mrs. Homer Carlton were honored.

Girl Scouts To Distribute Organization Pamphlets

Plans were formulated to have the girls organized to distribute the annual Girl Scout pamphets, "Pictorial Review" of local facts and statistics, at the meeting of the Public Relations committee of the Girl Scout Council Monday evening. Mrs. Lucile Roeder presided and reports were given.

It was announced that pictures of three troops were shown at the conference in Washington recently. One was Troop 18 making skirts; another of Troop 5 having a Swiss party climaxing work on its minstrel badge; and the other Troops 43 and 3 making favors for the local hospitals.

Others present were Miss Olive Hurlburt, Mrs. Eleanor Diggs and Mrs. Mildred McClung.

The next meeting is January 10.

Esther Smith Heads State Hairdressers, Cosmetologists

Two Other Local Women Named

Three local women were elected to office in the Maryland State Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association, Inc., at the state convention last weekend.

Mrs. Esther Smith, president of the Allegany County unit, was elected president of the state organization; Mrs. Leona Bayline, Baltimore, executive vice president; Mrs. Leona Mason, Baltimore, recording secretary; Mrs. Alberta Lindner, Cumberland, corresponding secretary; Miss Virginia Baynard, Easton, treasurer; Spencer Kelly, sergeant at arms, and Mrs. Georgie Pusey, Colora, historian.

Mrs. Virginia Sunderlin, Cumberland, was named liaison officer to represent Allegany Unit at all state meetings.

The 22d annual meeting and trade show, along with the convention, was held at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore. The convention was opened by Miss Inez McGeoch, and Spencer Kelly offering prayer. Miss Leona Mason called the roll. Mrs. Sunderlin, state chairman of the Nominating committee, presented the slate of officers, who will serve one-year terms beginning in January 1955.

A welcoming address by the state president opened the trade show. Artists of the show were introduced by Miss Bayline, Show chairman. The artists were Mrs. Gennette Johnson Hannigan of Coral Gables, Fla.; Vernon Isabelle, Texas; and Robert King, New York.

Golden Curl contest judges were Mr. King, Joseph Hornsby, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Mrs. Hannigan. Ernest Butka, Baltimore, Contest chairman, presented the awards.

Winners were Charles Baw, Baltimore, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., first place; Mrs. Ruth Lee, Silver Spring, second place, and Donald Donotella, Silver Spring, third.

Allegany County Unit will have its regular meeting Monday at 7:30 at the YMCA.

Vera Blinn Society Has Reports

Various reports were given at the meeting of the Vera Blinn Woman's Society of World Service held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Shaffer, Potomac Park. Mrs. Roland Newcomer was assistant hostess.

Mrs. John S. Cook Sr., presided at the business session, preceeding the program. Routine reports were given by Mrs. William Suder, Mrs. R. C. Isiminger, and Mrs. John House.

Reporting on the board meeting Mrs. L. G. Bridgers, a guest, told of the election of Mrs. C. Newton Kidd, Baltimore, as national president. Mrs. Isiminger reported on the institute held at Bethany United Brethren Church.

The thank offering service was led by Mrs. Robert Baker. She was assisted by Mrs. L. S. Brokmarkle, Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt, Mrs. Isiminger, Mrs. Suder and Mrs. Melvie Rider. Mrs. House told the story of the first Thanksgiving.

The December 14 meeting will be at the Central Methodist Church George Street, with Mrs. K. J. Rally hostess. Each is to bring a gift to be sent to the Quincy Orphanage.

Sixteen members and three guests were present.

Society Will Fill Mission Box Nov. 14

The Woman's Society of World Service formulated plans for a covered dish supper and a combined meeting with the Bethel EUB women at the regular meeting Tuesday night at the church. Mrs. Hale Burgess presided.

November 17 was selected as the date for the covered dish supper. It will be held at 6 o'clock after which Rev. C. K. Welch will review the book, "Christ Calls to Worldwide Witnessing." The men and Youth Fellowship of the church are invited to attend.

The combined meeting with Bethel women will be December 14. Husbands are invited to attend and a jingle party will follow the meeting.

Members were reminded that donations of materials for the mission box to be sent to Kentucky are to be brought to the church by November 14. Pencils, tablets, crayons, soap, and wash cloths are especially needed.

Group singing of "Jesus Calls Us," opened the meeting. A prayer poem, "Let Us Give Thanks" was presented by Mrs. Burgess. Reports were given by Mrs. Edna Knotts, Mrs. Anna Goss, Mrs. Nellie May Readhead, and Mrs. Susan Clark. It was reported that six boxes of clothing and household material was donated for the Church World Service.

A devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Beatrice Linaberg. Her topic was "The Missionary Looks at His Field." Mrs. Paul Getz, Mrs. Redhead, Mrs. Ruth Welch and Mrs. Ruth Hare were the speakers. The leader gave four headings under which the field budgets are arranged, evangelism through the church, education, healing and social action and community development.

A special thank offering service followed. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Ethel Shoemaker. Mrs. Linaberg read a poem, "I Thank Thee Lord," after which the group repeated the Lord's Prayer. A social hour followed. One visitor and 21 members attended.

Second Grade with Mrs. Edward Smith, home room mother, will be in charge of the SS. Peter and Paul parish card party at 8 tonight in the parish hall.

Zion WSCS will hold a rummage sale Saturday at 52 Bedford Street, beginning at 10 a.m.

Cresaptown Group Makes $245.95

The Cresaptown Women's Society of Christian Service made $245.95 on the sale of apple butter to date, it was announced at the meeting Tuesday evening at the church. A hundred dollars of it was applied to the church budget, a copper kettle was purchased and a stirrer was donated by Mrs. Annie Shank to be ready for the project next year. The remainder of the money will be used for different projects.

A worship period was conducted by Mrs. Edna Lafferty. Talks were given by Miss Susan Smith on "India;" Mrs. Mary Lewis on "Pakistan;" and Mrs. John Smith on "Ceylon."

It was announced that 41 sick calls had been made during the month. Catherine Eye will be the hostess for the year.

A study course will be given each Wednesday for a month. It will be on "Under the Flags," and will be conducted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lafferty, at the church.

A Christmas party will be held in conjunction with the meeting December 14. The Refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. Marian Poland, Mrs. Emma Heinrich, Mrs. Valle Poland and Mrs. Pearl Broadwater.

In closing Miss Smith read a Thanksgiving prayer, after which refreshments were served.

Others atending were Miss Evelyn May, Mrs. Florence Boore, Mrs. Pearl Broadwater, Mrs. Blanche Flanagan, Mrs. Edna Hounshell, Mrs. Bertha Judy, Mrs. Edna Lafferty, Mrs. Clara Lewis, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Hanah Powell, Mrs. Shank, Mrs. Bertha Smith, Mrs. Lavina Smith, Mrs. Minta Willison, Mrs. Mary Winter, Mrs. Marian Poland, Mrs. Valle Poland and Mrs. Emma Heinrich.

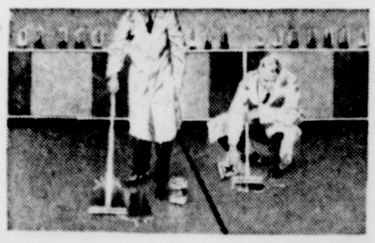
WEARS ON AND ON WHERE SUBSTITUTES WEAR OFF!

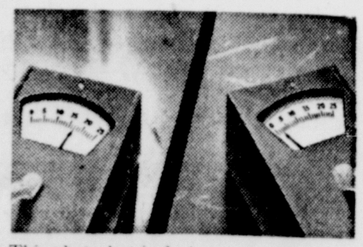
Improved formula produces ...New Brightness ...New Long-Life Shine!

You who feel strongly about the performance of a floor polish will welcome improved Hard Gloss Glo-Coat. It's the latest thing from Johnson's Wax! Nothing before has let you keep floors so lovely, shiny, simple to clean. Johnson's Wax experts created this new formula to resist busy feet and regular damp-moppings. It's so tough it lets you cut down on the number of times you wax each year. Its finish is so much harder that your floors stay much brighter for six, seven, even up to ten weeks! Accept no substitutes!



You can test floor polishes exactly the way the experts do it at Johnson's Wax famous Research Tower. Apply Hard Gloss Glo-Coat to half a kitchen floor and put any substitute brand on the other half.

A dozen kitchen parties won't give your floor the rugged wear the Johnson's Wax test floor gets daily. For six weeks, hundreds walk on it and it's regularly damp-mopped. Then comes the Gloss Meter test . . .



This photoelectric device proves eyes don't deceive. Just as your own floor will show after weeks of traffic and damp-mopping, Hard Gloss Glo-Coat scores a brightness rating of sixteen . . . the substitute polish a four.

TRY IT! New formula Hard Gloss Glo-Coat now on your dealer's shelves! ENDS SCUFFED-UP FLOORS

Allegany Seniors Are Now Taking Aptitude Tests

The Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security is conducting aptitude tests among seniors in Allegany County public and parochial schools.

Francis A. Kenney, manager, said 697 of the approximately 1,100 seniors are being given the test which is a device for measuring achievements, properties, characteristics, behavior and other job factors.

Kenney explained that only those seniors who will possibly have a job problem upon graduation are being given the general aptitude test battery.

Eliminated are those seniors who are definitely going to college and those who have a job lined up.

The ten aptitudes the battery measures are intelligence, verbal aptitude, numerical aptitude, spatial aptitude, form perception, clerical perception, aiming or eye-hand coordination, motor speed, finger dexterity, and manual dexterity.

After the results of the test are known, the Department of Employment Security counsels the seniors on the type of job in which they would best fit.

This test battery has become known and accepted as one of the most important tools for employment counseling, Kenney pointed out

With a new worker, the question is not what he has done, but what he is best suited to learn to do. Granted that such factors as vocational training, casual work experience, hobbies and interests have a great bearing on the answer to this question, it must be pointed out that the senior's characteristics which make him quick to acquire with appropriate training and experience a recognized degree of skill are an important part of his job assets, Kenney said.

Remaining on the testing schedule is LaSalle, Friday, and Valley High School, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 15, 16 and 17.

The employment service has already been to St. Mary's, Bruce, St. Peter's, Flintstone, Catholic Girls Central, Ursuline, Oldtown, Fort Hill, Beall, Carver and Mt. Savage high schools.

These tests were started in 1947 by the employment service. Other tests, such as trade tests for men who have been working, are available to employers, Kenney added.

Returns To Duty

Detective Lt. James E. Van of the Cumberland Police Department returned to his duties on the 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. shift Monday. He had been a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Official Congress Race Vote Is Recorded

Nuzum Discusses Plant Water Line

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum was in Baltimore yesterday to get final details settled concerning the right-of-way for the water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's new plant at North Branch.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said that Nuzum was scheduled to confer with officials in the chief engineer's office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and with Norman M. Prichett, chief engineer of the State Roads Commission.

Previously, Eves had revealed the city must learn future requirements of both the SRC and railroad before planning part of the water line. The route, it is understood, may hinge on SRC plans for improvements to Oldtown Road and proposed railroad expansion of its yard facilities.

Church Planning Youth Day Observance

Youth Emphasis Day will be observed Sunday at LaVale Methodist Church, according to Rev. W. W. Patterson, pastor, who said the young people of the church will participate in all services that day.

Robert Goodfellow will act as general superintendent for the 9:45 a. m. Sunday School service. Susan Deitz will read the Scripture, Ida Belle Hess will offer the prayer and Betty Lou Long, Charle Paul and Louis Shinnamon will speak on "Harvest Festivals."

Roger Goodfellow will be song leader, and Vivian Bennett, pianist. Raymond Butler, Vivian Bennett and Mary Goodfellow will teach the intermediate and senior classes, while Verna Jean Fike and Judy Murphy will be ushers.

Harry Eisentrout will speak at the 11 a. m. service, Eleanor Weber will read the scripture, David Stone will present a trumpet solo and the Youth Choir will sing. David Stone and Louis Shinnamon will be ushers.

A Youth Fellowship period will be held at 6:30 p. m., at which a round table discussion will be held on youth problems by four parents and four young people. The parents participating will be David P. Goodfellow, Willis V. Smith, Mrs. Dayton Murphy and Mrs. Kenneth Stone. The young people will be represented by Ida Belle Hess, Barbara Stone, Kent Smith and Marlene Murphy.

Neil Smith will be in charge of the 7 p. m. service, at which the speaker will be Kent Smith. Scripture will be read by Marlene Murphy and prayer will be offered by Barbara Arnold. A selection will be presented by the Youth Choir and David Stone will play a trumpet solo. Charles Paul, Gary Williams and Michael Goodfellow will be ushers.

The pastor will conduct an installation service.

Local Bank Forms Real Estate Unit

The Second National Bank of Cumberland announced yesterday that a charter has been granted to its new real estate holding company, to be known as Secnat, Inc., and that arrangements are being made to convey the bank premises to it. Subsequently the bank will lease the property back from this wholly owned affiliate.

The land on which the present bank building is situated originally consisted of three parcels, the first of which was acquired by the bank from James L. Graham in 1867. The other parcels were acquired from Ellen J. W. Campbell in 1890 and from Andrew M. L. Bush in 1892. The property adjacent to the bank building, recently occupied by Bopp's Flower Shop, was purchased by the bank from M. M. Fesenmeier in 1923. All of these parcels will be occupied by the enlarged bank building.

Actually the current conveyance will not represent the usual transfer of title because the property will be owned by the new corporation all of whose capital stock will be owned and carried by the bank as an investment. It will be recalled that this arrangement developed out of an amendment to national banking laws in whose enactment U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, a Second National director, played such a part.

The construction program of the bank continues and it is hoped to have the new quarters fully enclosed in the near future. Because completion of the job depends primarily on weather conditions and the prompt delivery of materials, no date has yet been set for the finish of the project by the contractor.

Burke To Head 'S-D Day' Plans In Maryland

Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, has been appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin as director for Maryland's "S-D" (Safe-Driving) Day, to be held Wednesday, December 15.

Burke has been instrumental in bringing Maryland to the forefront in traffic safety efforts. Just last month Governor McKeldin accepted an award from the National Safety Council after Maryland had been given a 100 per cent score in its safety public information program.

Governor McKeldin will issue a proclamation setting aside December 15 as "S-D Day" and has requested mayors of every town in the state to do likewise and appoint committees in their respective communities.

Maryland school officials have completed plans for safety patrol boys and girls to distribute safe driving and walking pledges to 450,000 Maryland school children to take home for their parents' signatures.

Mrs. Marie Gardiner, recently named chairman of the Women's Coordinating Group, will ask for the endorsement of all women's groups in the state.

Richard Hartman of the Automobile Club of Maryland and August Detlof of the Keystone Automobile Club have been appointed to the Governor's Committee to coordinate a speakers' program.

In the hope of reducing the holiday death toll this year, the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission has voted to extend the campaign from December 15, "S-D Day," to January 1, 1955.

Last year, 716 Marylanders were seriously injured and 27 were killed in collisions during the 16-day holiday season.

20 business houses and concerns in the City of Cumberland the total sum of over $400,000.

"With this information perhaps most of us will understand better what it would mean to the economy of Allegany County and especially to the business houses, railroads, farmers and individuals who directly receive compensation from this industry in Allegany County, if the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company should not make its proper return upon its investment and management would be forced by stockholders to close its plant here.

"Such a situation actually has happened in other industries and it could happen to all of our established industries in this county unless all of us, labor, management and public officials, study the problems, become informed of the facts and then cooperate and lend a helping hand. If such a policy does not prevail in this county we will be heading for economic chaos and much unhappiness for our people in the near future," he concluded.

Many Offices To Close For Holiday Today

Many city, county and Federal offices here will be closed today in observance of the first Veterans' Day.

The Court House will be open just for the naturalization ceremony at 10 a.m. All offices will be closed. Most offices in the Union Street County Building also will remain closed. City Hall will keep its doors locked and the Post Office will be closed.

Victim Of Ferry Disaster To Be Buried Monday

The body of Cpl. Thomas A. Dickey Jr., of Zihlman, who was among 49 servicemen named in an official list of service personnel missing aboard the capsized ocean ferry Toya Maru in Japan, September 26, is scheduled to arrive in Zihlman Saturday afternoon from California.

His body will be taken to the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dickey Sr. for a service Monday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Wilbur Grose, pastor of Allegany Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park where full military rites will be accorded by members of Farrady Post 24, American Legion, and John R. Fairgrieve Post 2462, VFW, of Frostburg.

Pallbearers will be Howard and Paul Winfield, Jack Downton, John Rizer, James Steele, of Zihlman and Glenn Landis, of Cumberland.

Cpl. Dickey attended Beall High School and at the time of his induction into the service was employed by Big Savage Refractories at Zihlman.

He had been in the Army since December 1952, and served overseas 16 months prior to his death. He was a member of Battery A of the 99th Field Artillery Battalion.

Cpl. Dickey took basic training at Fort George Meade and also at Camp Polk, La. He was home on furlough in April 1953 prior to going overseas.

Surviving, besides his parents, are three sisters, Mrs. William Hinkle, Mrs. Jack Thorp, Zihlman, and Miss Jean Dickey, at home.

Midland Will Get Surplus Food Today

Due to the holiday today, surplus food distribution, scheduled at the Fire Hall in Midland, will be made only during the morning hours.

According to Walter C. Chapman who has charge of the distribution, the food truck will be at the fire hall from 9 a. m. until noon. All registered persons in Midland, Gilmore and National, eligible for November commodities are asked to appear before noon. Otherwise they will be missed.

Four Admitted To State Bar

Four Allegany County men were among the 140 succesful law students who have been admitted to the Maryland State Bar in ceremonies before the Court of Appeals in Annapolis.

They were William Walsh, 811 Windsor Road; Paul Barnett, 223 Baltimore Avenue; Noyes T. Powers, 649 Washington Street, and Hugh A. McMullen, 218 Fayette Street.

Walsh and Barnett were admitted today while McMullen and Powers who are in the service were admitted previously.

John Joseph Mathias, 36 Frost Avenue, Frostburg, passed the bar examination given last summer, but is in the service and was not expected to be present at the ceremonies.

Two of the 140 men lawyers are sons of former judges, Walsh, whose father, William C. Walsh of this city, was on the Court of Appeals and the Fourth Judicial Circuit benches, and J. Owen Knotts II, Denton, whose late father was a circuit judge on the Eastern Shore.

There are some 800 miles of welding and 1,135,000 rivets in the battleship Missouri.

"Rocket Revue" Set December 3

Sponsored by Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, the third annual "Rocket Revue" will be presented December 3 at 8 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium under the direction of Robert J. Boniece.

Proceeds will be turned over to the ABL Christmas basket fund for the underprivileged. Last year the presentation netted about $700.

Talent for the revue will be provided by ABL employes and members of their families. The show, "Dear Diary," will depict various groups reenacting the dreams of a man who falls asleep while recalling past memories.

Rudolph Steinberger is general chairman of the production, which in former years was a variety presentation. Cletus Hartsock has charge of the adult glee club and Mrs. James Shrout is handling the chorus line.

Supervising the children's chorus is Mrs. Annette DeHaven of A Street, LaVale. A rehearsal was held last night in her home.

Members of the children's chorus are Blanche Brinker, Alma Irene Boniece, Beth and Conrad DeHaven, Saundra Jane and Larry Kent Fresh, Carol Ann and Larry Keyser, Susan and Thomas Lower, Carol Sue Merritt, Renee and Sandra Smith and Ellen Wenrich.

A dress or suit is fashionable only if it fits!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

There are three ways to select your clothes: by the eye, by the figure (your own, not the dollar sign), or by a considered pairing of eye-plus-figure appeal.

The eye elements are important: color, coordination with your wardrobe, suitability of a fashion to your personality and of its price tag to your budget. Equally important is the figure factor—any dress, suit or coat you purchase should enhance the best lines of your figure, minimize others.

There still is the combination question: does the fashion fit? If alterations are necessary, will the end result be perfection? Or might they add so much to the initial cost of a garment that it is no longer a good buy?

Practical Alterations

Most skirts can be altered quite simply — unless you're trying to bridge a whole size — but jackets are often difficult. So much of the tailoring is in the shoulder, neck, and armholes. My fashion consultant advises you to check the original fit, or the practical "alter-ability" at these points:

Shoulders. Do they "sit" properly? The hang of a jacket depends on this.

Back. Is there enough fabric to "span" the back when you move your shoulders forward?

Collar. Does it hug the neck? Creases below the collar in back are a dead giveaway of poor fit.

Sides. Do they lie smoothly, or do they wrinkle when the jacket is worn over a blouse?

Sleeves. Do they hit your wristbone? Half an inch above or below makes a big (and unfortunate) difference.

Waistline. Does it fit snugly, without pulling at the fastener? When alteration is to be made by letting out or taking in the waistband, be sure the zipper is removed and fitting done at both sides.

Hips. Is the hipline smooth? If fabric draws and wrinkles just below the beltline when you walk or sit, the skirt is too tight.

Dresses, Too

In having a dress fitted, be particularly careful that the waistline coincides with your own. Too short, and the dress will appear skimpy; too long, and it will buckle in back, since the waistline will be over your hips. The apparent waistline of a dress is lowered or raised by its styling, but its actual waistline must touch your own.

The care and imagination you put into the selection of your clothes ought to extend further than their up-to-date look.

Fit is the final word in fashion.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?" — Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Not Whether, But How Is The Question Now

Some cheering words came the other day from Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Speaking in Detroit before the Economic Club, he said that "we are again entering a phase of economic expansion." He frankly faced the possibility that the recovery might prove abortive, "as have many recoveries in the past." And he went on from there.

The fact that he did go on was significant. The manner of his going was even more so. If the promise of recovery is blighted, he said, the government cannot stand aloof but must be ready with vigorous measures to "maintain a stable prosperity."

Among these measures would be steps to "enlarge the potential role of automatic economic stabilizers—especially unemployment insurance." The government would act well before extensive unemployment develops, he said, and it "must handle cautiously" the fuel of inflation. And the government "must conduct its affairs so as to inspire favorable expectations concerning the future." Thus it will turn its back on "made-work schemes" and promote public assets such as highways. It will use monetary policy flexibly. It will use tax reduction to stimulate both consumption and investment rather than one or the other.

Dr. Burns showed how the transition from a war to a peacetime economy has been eased. He said: "Today it is no longer a matter of serious controversy whether the government should play a positive role in helping to maintain a high level of economic activity. What we debate . . . is not the need for controlling business cycles, but rather the nature of governmental action, its timing, and extent."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Dixon-Yates

The details of the Dixon-Yates contract are for congressional committees and lawyers or possibly even the courts to quarrel over; the explanations given the public are for all of us to consider. The essential reason for this contract is that private enterprise is superior to government enterprise. Granted that as a capitalist principle it is true that private enterprise is the best mechanism for the production and distribution of goods and services, those who engage in such enterprises ought to do it out of privately-owned capital at their own risk and not by government subsidies with government guarantees. The real issue then becomes the government - guaranteed contract.

It is impossible to say to the farmer that he is to give up price supports or to agree to their reduction and at the same time for the government to guarantee a profit to a public utility. This has nothing to do with the basic question of public ownership or private ownership of power. It has to do with the very nature of capitalism which is that the risk must be taken by the entrepreneur as he takes the profits. Otherwise, he opens the door to socialism and has only himself to blame for the consequences.

For a people who criticize socialism generally and in other countries, we have permitted ourselves an extraordinary amount of socialistic practices in the form of government subsidies, government ownership combined with private operations, outright government ownership and operations of enterprises which obviously can produce no profit or, at times, not even pay for themselves. This is not the occasion to argue over the practicality of what has been and is being done.

What I want to object to in this article is calling a guaranteed return on a private investment, private enterprise. It is nothing of the sort. It is government enterprise by means of selecting a favored private group to whom to give a profit for capital which they may or may not invest, but which they do not risk. The essence of capitalist theory is that a profit is permissible because a risk is taken. Where there is no risk, therefore, there should be no profit.

In the Dixon-Yates situation, some extraordinary steps were taken which concern the public and which puzzle them:

1. Why did the President of the United States directly or indirectly intervene in the matter of a contract which should have been handled by the agencies concerned?

2. Why did the Bureau of the Budget intervene when this is a matter that either concerned TVA or AEC?

3. Although contracts are occasionally let by other methods than public bid, and often wisely, the public ought to be told, as long as there is a controversy, why the Dixon-Yates group was selected as the favored instrument in preference to other groups. The reasons for such a selection may be wholly justified; the secrecy is not justified in any matter involving public activities.

4. A contract of such length and magnitude is difficult to read and to understand. Lawyers may quarrel over the meaning of particular clauses or even words; surely the layman can hardly grasp the escape clauses and loopholes and private interpretations. As long as there is a controversy, not only on the principle of letting such a contract, but on the contract itself, why does not some agency of the government make it clear to the public just what this contract is and what it involves?

Furthermore, what is the Dixon-Yates group? What banks, what insurance companies, what reservoirs of private capital are involved in this financing? The public would understand this situation better if everything were made perfectly clear. This is important for those who wish to preserve the private enterprise system in this country: there ought to be no union between political power and economic power. We criticize the Fascists and the Communists for such a union, and it always needs to be true that such a union does not exist in this country.

In a word, Wall Street should have been obliterated, as a symbol, in the 1930s, for it was a union of political and economic power and the reaction to it created an anti-capitalist attitude among our people. In two fundamental capitalist positions Wall Street retreated, namely, the New Deal and the inflation. That has produced further distrust of the symbol.

No Rest For The Weary

Question Raised On 'Disorderly Procedure' In Senate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Maybe the Senate of the United States is interested in order procedure and maybe it is not—but when a committee which has nothing to do with a subject, such as changes in the Senate rules, undertakes to report out directly to the Senate a resolution that belongs in another committee in the first instance, it may be asked whether this isn't disorderly procedure.

For many months now the Senate Rules Committee has been holding hearings and listening to testimony on the subject of congressional investigations and how witnesses shall be handled. Now, in the middle of that task, the Watkins Committee handling the McCarthy case has come forth with a resolution to change in certain respects the rules on committee work, but no hearings have been held on that particular proposal. This disregards entirely the work of the Rules Committee itself thus far—before it has made its own report.

Others Have Been Guilty

The same Watkins Committee, moreover, has come forth with a separate resolution charging Senator McCarthy with refusal to cooperate with a Senate committee whose invitation to testify in 1952—before his present term began—he did not accept. The exact phrasing of the resolution is that the Wisconsin senator was engaged thereby in "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate."

If it's a subject for censure when a senator refuses to accept an invitation of a Senate committee, then at least one other senator has been guilty of the same conduct at the present session of Congress, but no proposal to censure him has been offered.

Also, if "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate" is really to be a basis for censure hereafter—it never has been before—then obviously the Senate must re-examine the filibuster which engaged the attention of the Senate and obstructed the "legislative process" for nearly three weeks last summer. It will be surprising if any senators will allow themselves to be placed in the embarrassing position of being willing to censure only a senator who fights communism and refusing to censure any other senators guilty of a similar offense in declining to testify and in other alleged obstructions during a session of this very same congress.

Many of the Southerners who believe in the filibuster as a device to protect them may find, if they vote to approve "obstruction of the constitutional process of the Senate" as a censurable offense, that they may have lost the one means which they have always relied upon to prevent the passage of legislation thought to be hostile to the interests of the South. Everybody knows that a filibuster is not really debate on a pending issue but a deliberate means of preventing the majority from acting.

Another portion of the new resolution proposed by the Watkins Committee seeks to place the Senate on record as saying that it "disavows the denunciation of General Zwicker by Senator McCarthy as chairman of a Senate subcommittee and censures him for that action."

This language is so broad that it could bring weeks and weeks of debate in the present session, because it will be necessary to try the whole Zwicker case over again. Senator McCarthy and his supporters in the Senate have been insisting that the Department of the Army gagged certain officers who were willing to tell the McCarthy Committee the inside story of the Zwicker episode. There is no way now of keeping that story from being told on the floor of the Senate.

One version is that General Lawton, who was forbidden to testify, did tell some of the staff of the McCarthy Committee of conversations he had had with General Zwicker at Camp Kilmer, N. J., to the effect that he (General Lawton) couldn't get the Pentagon to act expeditiously in getting rid of the Communist menace at Fort Monmouth, N. J., until Senator McCarthy came into the picture. Radar secrets of importance in the interception of enemy planes were handled there. General Zwicker is alleged to have expressed disdain for and a prejudice against the Wisconsin senator, which is believed to have had a bearing on the Zwicker attitude at the hearing.

Compromise Resolution Possible

It is difficult to see also how the incident involving the promotion of Major Peress, alleged to be a Communist, can fail to be aired, too, on the floor of the Senate. Also the Watkins resolution doesn't say what particular "denunciation" is condemned. It implies that the Senate intends to accept as its own the entire Zwicker testimony and conduct as approved when it is obvious that the general was at fault in several particulars. This correspondent has always stated that the Wisconsin senator was intemperate and, indeed, lost his temper but that the issue is what was the provocation.

The Watkins Committee dropped other counts in the censure controversy because it deemed the "provocation" was such as to cause Senator McCarthy to say what he did about other senators. But in the coming debate it will be necessary to try all over again the whole question of what does or does not constitute "provocation." If the censure resolution is adopted, more censure resolutions will be proposed at this session to condemn the conduct of other senators who have said worse things to witnesses than the Wisconsin Senator ever did. Such resolutions probably will be tabled. But the point will be made—that only a senator fighting communism is censured.

Several senators, recognizing all the implications, are trying to work out a "compromise" resolution which will call attention to intemperate statements but will praise the Wisconsin senator's objectives in the anti-Communist fight.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Now that the early November votes have been protested and verified we are going to brief you on one of the main beefs of the campaign.

Whether you voted in a square, an oblong or a circle, this issue still came out catty-cornered.

We shall divide it into two quizzations. What was Dixon-Yates? And if so, how did Dixon get away from Mason?

Will the Deep South get in deeper by singing, "I Wish I Was In Dixon-Yates?" Or will it permit the status quo to bury its own under-the-counter deals?

There's a two-million smacker slander suit running around loose down thataways. Everybody's wondering who's that important?

You've got to compound the interest by going back to the TVA in 1933. Since then there has been a battle between public and private power. It started under Franklin Delano Roosevelt and was regarded as socialization of waffle irons.

Electric power and illumination are not so important up the Arkansas creek beds where the natives scratch matches on their bare feet. And heat their cabins with their breaths.

Somehow or another TVA started leaking at the hub caps. It ran short spoon-feeding the U. S. atomic works at Paducah. So just this last June President Eisenhower told the atomic commission to do business with the Middle South Utilities and the Southern Company.

Try And Stop Me!

McTavish and MacGregor were strolling down the street when both spied what looked like a silver half-crown on the sidewalk. "Oh, no," said McTavish loftily, "I'll nae fall for that old gag again." MacGregor, however, stopped to retrieve the coin. Lo and behold, it was a half-crown! When McTavish observed MacGregor's elation, he heaved a deep sigh and—went to see his oculist.

"What," demanded the teacher, "is a coquette?" Young Schwab from Atlanta, suh, piped up with, "A small coke."

Caskie Stinnett, perky correspondent for Holiday magazine, encountered two erotic dancers in Hollywood whose names seemed to set him back on his heels. They were, respectively, Miss September Maughan and Miss Berthe Day Suter. On a movie lot nearby, Caskie heard a harassed director implore another fair practitioner of the dramatic arts, "Now let's go through that death scene again, and put more life in it!"

Early Diagnosis, New Drugs Help Cure Tuberculosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

During the past seven years, rapid strides have been made in the treatment of tuberculosis. The spotlight centers about the new drugs that are proving so effective against the causative bacilli.

The good results make early diagnosis more important than ever because the sooner treatment is started, the better the outcome. Early manifestations are so vague most physicians rely upon periodic chest X-rays.

Most of us associate tuberculosis with cough. This is true but when the victim is a smoker he is likely to blame his hacking on the tobacco habit. Months may pass before he realizes his cough is out of all proportion to what might be expected from ordinary smoking.

Fatigue is another clew yet the hard worker is inclined to hold his job responsible. Others who are poor sleepers believe fatigue is caused by insomnia. These individuals cannot be blamed for failing to consult a physician. The periodic chest X-ray uncovers the disease long before it becomes so far advanced that everyone realizes something is amiss.

As the process makes headway the sense of well being wanes and before long, the person finds it difficult to perform a full day's work. Appetite is next to go, followed by decrease in weight. Another early sign is slight afternoon or early evening rise in temperature. Cough usually is loose and varying amounts of sputum are expelled. Now and then there are blood streaks or hemorrhages.

The best remedies include streptomycin, para-aminosalicylic acid (PAS), and isoniazid. These products are not as effective when used alone as in combination. Streptomycin and PAS are good starters and isoniazid is substituted should the individual develop allergy or intolerance to the other drugs. All three may be needed when the process is advanced.

It now is possible to remove leisons the wonder drugs cannot heal. Victims of large, tuberculosis cavities that fail to close after several months of treatment are the ideal candidates. The chest is opened and the involved lobe or segment is taken out (segmental resection or lobectomy).

The anti-tubercular drugs have added to the safety of this procedure by holding the causative germs in abeyance during and after the operation. In this respect, surgery comes to the aid of many who might not have been helped in any other way.

TOMORROW: Adverse effects of antibiotics.

Newest Senator From South Carolina May Upset Democrats' Small Margin

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Democrats may have a harder time keeping their hairbreadth majority in the Senate than anyone realizes.

When the Senate reconvened for the special McCarthy censure session, Charles E. Daniel, interim Democratic senator from South Carolina, a close friend of Ike's friend, Jimmie Byrnes, was having his picture taken with Vice President Nixon.

"I want you to know," he beamed, "that you can count on me. I want to work with you in every way possible.

"And the man who's coming up to succeed me is the same way," he added, referring to Senator-elect Strom Thurmond." "You can work with him, too."

"That's fine," enthused Nixon. "When he comes, you send him around to me. We'll give him a royal welcome."

New Citizens

Two hundred and fifty new American citizens gather in the inter-Department Auditorium in Washington today to take what for them is a momentous oath. To millions of others it will pass by unnoticed. But to these 250, plus other groups around the U.S.A., it will be one of their most important steps since birth.

For they will renounce their allegiance to one country and take an oath of allegiance to a new. Today they become citizens of the United States.

This ceremony takes place about once a month without most native Americans paying much attention to it. In New York today, 8,000 new citizens take the oath; other groups in other cities.

And while it will attract no headlines, the Women's Bar Association, the Advertising Council, the Sertoma clubs, and other public-spirited organizations are cooperating to solemnify the occasion and welcome these new Americans.

Today, for instance, the Advertising Council in Washington will present each new citizen with Arthur Goodfriend's stirring book "What Is America?" while the Sertoma Club (service to mankind) will present copies of the Declaration of Independence. Unfortunately, funds were not available to make a similar presentation to the 8,000 taking the oath of citizenship in New York.

On previous occasions, the DAR, B'nai B'rith and other groups have entertained the new citizens at small receptions immediately after the naturalization ceremony in a quiet, unpublicized, constructive type of citizenship which will prevent communism far more than the witch-hunting scaremongering of Joe McCarthy.

Stevenson's Grandfather

Adlai Stevenson seldom refers to his grandfather, who was vice president of the United States in the administration of Grover Cleveland. But the other day Adlai and advisers were in ex-Sen. William Benton's suite at the Savoy Plaza Hotel in New York when they received a telegram from Vice President Nixon demanding that Adlai retract his statement that Nixon was following the Communisty party line.

Advisers offered Stevenson all sorts of suggestions for a reply to the man the Democrats now call "McNixon." Finally Stevenson said:

"Well, I suppose I could reply as follows: 'Dear Mr. Nixon: I have now received two telegrams from the vice president of the United States. The first was from my grandfather. Sincerely yours, Adlai Stevenson.' "

He did not, however, send the telegram.

Politics With RR Money

One of the first investigations when the Democrats take over Congress will dig into politicking inside the Railroad Retirement Board by two Eisenhower appointees.

The R.R. Board was set up to administrate the pensions of railroad workers and is operated by the money withdrawn each week from railroad workmen's salaries. It is not a political organization. However, after Eisenhower appointed as new chairman, Raymond J. Kelly of Chicago, former Michigan commander of the American Legion, things began to change. He was followed by Frank C. Squire, another Chicagoan, and together they have proposed removing 10 administrative posts from Civil Service to make room for worthy Republicans.

As an excuse for this political gravy, the rumor has been spread that there is a "cell of 10 known Communists in the Railroad Retirement Board office."

Chief spreader of the rumor is Harold Rainville, listed as "special assistant" to Senator Dirksen of Illinois, though he actually works for the Republican Committee for the Re-Election of Senators, also does public relations work from the favored position. It was Rainville who was permitted by Senator McCarthy to help cross-examine Brig. Gen. Ralph Swicker in secret session when he, Rainville, represented no senator and had no more right to cross-examination than a newsman. This is one of the McCarthy issues now before the Senate for censure.

The fact that Rainville and his two Chicago friends, Kelly and Squire, now want to gut the Railroad Retirement Board for worthy Republicans will not only be probed by Democrats, but quite a few Republicans will help the investigation.

McCarthy And His Party

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

There is not much doubt about what is going to happen to Sen. McCarthy—bar a miracle he is going to be censured by a heavy majority. What is more interesting is what is likely to happen to the Republican party as a result of the censure fight.

In this connection, it is worth recalling something that happened at the funeral of Sen. Pat McCarran last October 2. The funeral of Democrat McCarran, who used to be McCarthy's most powerful ally in the Senate, was attended by six Republican senators—Sen. Knowland, in his capacity as majority leader, and Sens. Bridges of New Hampshire, Welker of Idaho, Malone of Nevada, Jenner of Indiana, and Goldwater of Arizona.

All five of the latter are considered McCarthy men. It was thus not surprising that they should discuss the prospect of the debate on censure. And, although they agreed that McCarthy would probably be censured, they were by no means unhappy over the prospect of a fight on the issue.

On the contrary, according to a reliable report, there was a good deal of feeling among this little band of McCarthy Republicans that the censure debate might provide an ideal time to show who was really boss in the Republican party. It might provide a fine time, in other words, to challenge the Eisenhower administration openly, with an eye to assuring eventual control of the party by the pro-McCarthy right wing.

Strategy Was Obvious

The strategy of such a challenge was fairly obvious. It called for attacking the censure resolution as a plot hatched in the White House. Presidential aide Sherman Adams was to be cast in the role of chief plotter, with the President as a willing accomplice. The President's letter to Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont, congratulating Flanders on his first speech criticizing McCarthy, could be used as evidence of the President's personal participation in the censure plot.

Such a direct, open, and concerted attack on the President, it was reasoned, would give the McCarthy Republicans at least a useful blackmail position in the party, and at most ultimate control of the party. It may be that the attack will still be made. There was at least a hint of something of the sort in Sen. Welker's speech on the opening day of debate. McCarthy himself seems prepared to go to almost any lengths.

Yet McCarthy seems likely to have far fewer Republican allies in any battle with the White House than seemed possible a few weeks ago. The reason is quite simple. The President is too strong. McCarthy is too weak.

Before the election, after all, most McCarthy-minded Republicans were taking a much gloomier view of Republican chances than even the over-jubilant Democrats. McCarthy himself was widely reported as believing that the Republicans would not know what hit them on election day.

A Democratic landslide would have weakened, perhaps fatally, President Eisenhower's hold on his party, and by the same token, it would have strengthened McCarthy. The McCarthy men were counting with absolute confidence on blaming the President for losing the election because he did not play the game the McCarthy way.

Eisenhower Given Credit

Now the three leading McCarthyites in the House of Representatives have been soundly trounced. Clifford Case of New Jersey, the one Republican McCarthy tried to beat, has been elected despite Republican scandals in Trenton and the decayed state organization. Worst of all from the McCarthy point of view, Eisenhower himself has been given personal credit for stemming a Democratic tide once thought unstemmable.

Under the circumstances it is not surprising that very few even among the McCarthy-minded men in the Senate are eager to enlist under the McCarthy banner in any McCarthy-Eisenhower battle. Indeed, although McCarthy will probably get 15 or 20 votes in the end, the tendency even among the McCarthy men is now to shy away from the Wisconsin demagogue. Particularly since McCarthy, in apparent desperation, began personal attacks on the elderly Sen. Arthur Watkins, there has even been some quiet talk in the cloakrooms about changing the censure resolution to a motion to expel.

Unless McCarthy's behavior becomes insanely outrageous, this is likely to come to nothing. But the Wisconsin movement to recall McCarthy must be taken more seriously. Leroy Gore, leader of the movement, plans to start collecting signatures again after the first of the year, and he is completely confident of getting the 280,000 signatures for recall.

At any rate, one way or another, McCarthy seems headed for some sort of final, fatal crash. No doubt he sees himself as a Samson in the Republican temple, bringing the whole party crashing down with him. Perhaps he could once have done just this. But it seems clear that he is too weak to do it now. For the McCarthy wing of the Republican party, which once threatened to dominate the party, looks like becoming an impotent minority.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Trouble with a long political campaign, says Milt, the sterling printer, is that by election time it's almost impossible to remember half the issues you're supposed to be excited about.

Maybe the reason some of those Soviet diplomats are so hard to understand is that they sound like they're talking out of the corners of their mouths and through their hats at the same time.

Our favorite football prognosticator, incidentally, appears to be 'way off form this season. Last Saturday, for example, he guessed more than half of the game results right.

The average American is a fellow who believes in a second chance for everybody — everybody, that is, except baseball managers and football coaches.

Not Whether, But How Is The Question Now

Some cheering words came the other day from Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Speaking in Detroit before the Economic Club, he said that "we are again entering a phase of economic expansion." He frankly faced the possibility that the recovery might prove abortive, "as have many recoveries in the past." And he went on from there.

The fact that he did go on was significant. The manner of his going was even more so. If the promise of recovery is blighted, he said, the government cannot stand aloof but must be ready with vigorous measures to "maintain a stable prosperity."

Among these measures would be steps to "enlarge the potential role of automatic economic stabilizers—especially unemployment insurance." The government would act well before extensive unemployment develops, he said, and it "must handle cautiously" the fuel of inflation. And the government "must conduct its affairs so as to inspire favorable expectations concerning the future." Thus it will turn its back on "made-work schemes" and promote public assets such as highways. It will use monetary policy flexibly. It will use tax reduction to stimulate both consumption and investment rather than one or the other.

Dr. Burns showed how the transition from a war to a peacetime economy has been eased. He said: "Today it is no longer a matter of serious controversy whether the government should play a positive role in helping to maintain a high level of economic activity. What we debate . . . is not the need for controlling business cycles, but rather the nature of governmental action, its timing, and extent."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Dixon-Yates

The details of the Dixon-Yates contract are for congressional committees and lawyers or possibly even the courts to quarrel over; the explanations given the public are for all of us to consider. The essential reason for this contract is that private enterprise is superior to government enterprise. Granted that as a capitalist principle it is true that private enterprise is the best mechanism for the production and distribution of goods and services, those who engage in such enterprises ought to do it out of privately-owned capital at their own risk and not by government subsidies with government guarantees. The real issue then becomes the government - guaranteed contract.

It is impossible to say to the farmer that he is to give up price supports or to agree to their reduction and at the same time for the government to guarantee a profit to a public utility. This has nothing to do with the basic question of public ownership or private ownership of power. It has to do with the very nature of capitalism which is that the risk must be taken by the entrepreneur as he takes the profits. Otherwise, he opens the door to socialism and has only himself to blame for the consequences.

For a people who criticize socialism generally and in other countries, we have permitted ourselves an extraordinary amount of socialistic practices in the form of government subsidies, government ownership combined with private operations, outright government ownership and operations of enterprises which obviously can produce no profit or, at times, not even pay for themselves. This is not the occasion to argue over the practicality of what has been and is being done.

What I want to object to in this article is calling a guaranteed return on a private investment, private enterprise. It is nothing of the sort. It is government enterprise by means of selecting a favored private group to whom to give a profit for capital which they may or may not invest, but which they do not risk. The essence of capitalist theory is that a profit is permissible because a risk is taken. Where there is no risk, therefore, there should be no profit.

In the Dixon-Yates situation, some extraordinary steps were taken which concern the public and which puzzle them:

1. Why did the President of the United States directly or indirectly intervene in the matter of a contract which should have been handled by the agencies concerned?

2. Why did the Bureau of the Budget intervene when this is a matter that either concerned TVA or AEC?

3. Although contracts are occasionally let by other methods than public bid, and often wisely, the public ought to be told, as long as there is a controversy, why the Dixon-Yates group was selected as the favored instrument in preference to other groups. The reasons for such a selection may be wholly justified; the secrecy is not justified in any matter involving public activities.

4. A contract of such length and magnitude is difficult to read and to understand. Lawyers may quarrel over the meaning of particular clauses or even words; surely the layman can hardly grasp the escape clauses and loopholes and private interpretations. As long as there is a controversy, not only on the principle of letting such a contract, but on the contract itself, why does not some agency of the government make it clear to the public just what this contract is and what it involves?

Furthermore, what is the Dixon-Yates group? What banks, what insurance companies, what reservoirs of private capital are involved in this financing? The public would understand this situation better if everything were made perfectly clear. This is important for those who wish to preserve the private enterprise system in this country: there ought to be no union between political power and economic power. We criticize the Fascists and the Communists for such a union, and it always needs to be true that such a union does not exist in this country.

In a word, Wall Street should have been obliterated, as a symbol, in the 1930s, for it was a union of political and economic power and the reaction to it created an anti-capitalist attitude among our people. In two fundamental capitalist positions Wall Street retreated, namely, the New Deal and the inflation. That has produced further distrust of the symbol.

No Rest For The Weary

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Maybe the Senate of the United States is interested in order procedure and maybe it is not—but when a committee which has nothing to do with a subject, such as changes in the Senate rules, undertakes to report out directly to the Senate a resolution that belongs in another committee in the first instance, it may be asked whether this isn't disorderly procedure.

For many months now the Senate Rules Committee has been holding hearings and listening to testimony on the subject of congressional investigations and how witnesses shall be handled. Now, in the middle of that task, the Watkins Committee handling the McCarthy case has come forth with a resolution to change in certain respects the rules on committee work, but no hearings have been held on that particular proposal. This disregards entirely the work of the Rules Committee itself thus far—before it has made its own report.

Others Have Been Guilty

The same Watkins Committee, moreover, has come forth with a separate resolution charging Senator McCarthy with refusal to cooperate with a Senate committee whose invitation to testify in 1952—before his present term began—he did not accept. The exact phrasing of the resolution is that the Wisconsin senator was engaged thereby in "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate."

If it's a subject for censure when a senator refuses to accept an invitation of a Senate committee, then at least one other senator has been guilty of the same conduct at the present session of Congress, but no proposal to censure him has been offered.

Also, if "obstructing the constitutional process of the Senate" is really to be a basis for censure hereafter—it never has been before—then obviously the Senate must re-examine the filibuster which engaged the attention of the Senate and obstructed the "legislative process" for nearly three weeks last summer. It will be surprising if any senators will allow themselves to be placed in the embarrassing position of being willing to censure only a senator who fights communism and refusing to censure any other senators guilty of a similar offense in declining to testify and in other alleged obstructions during a session of this very same congress.

Many of the Southerners who believe in the filibuster as a device to protect them may find, if they vote to approve "obstruction of the constitutional process of the Senate" as a censurable offense, that they may have lost the one means which they have always relied upon to prevent the passage of legislation thought to be hostile to the interests of the South. Everybody knows that a filibuster is not really debate on a pending issue but a deliberate means of preventing the majority from acting.

Another portion of the new resolution proposed by the Watkins Committee seeks to place the Senate on record as saying that it "disavows the denunciation of General Zwicker by Senator McCarthy as chairman of a Senate subcommittee and censures him for that action."

This language is so broad that it could bring weeks and weeks of debate in the present session, because it will be necessary to try the whole Zwicker case over again. Senator McCarthy and his supporters in the Senate have been insisting that the Department of the Army gagged certain officers who were willing to tell the McCarthy Committee the inside story of the Zwicker episode. There is no way now of keeping that story from being told on the floor of the Senate.

One version is that General Lawton, who was forbidden to testify, did tell some of the staff of the McCarthy Committee of conversations he had had with General Zwicker at Camp Kilmer, N. J., to the effect that he (General Lawton) couldn't get the Pentagon to act expeditiously in getting rid of the Communist menace at Fort Monmouth, N. J., until Senator McCarthy came into the picture. Radar secrets of importance in the interception of enemy planes were handled there. General Zwicker is alleged to have expressed disdain for and a prejudice against the Wisconsin senator, which is believed to have had a bearing on the Zwicker attitude at the hearing.

Compromise Resolution Possible

It is difficult to see also how the incident involving the promotion of Major Peress, alleged to be a Communist, can fail to be aired, too, on the floor of the Senate. Also the Watkins resolution doesn't say what particular "denunciation" is condemned. It implies that the Senate intends to accept as its own the entire Zwicker testimony and conduct as approved when it is obvious that the general was at fault in several particulars. This correspondent has always stated that the Wisconsin senator was intemperate and, indeed, lost his temper but that the issue is what was the provocation.

The Watkins Committee dropped other counts in the censure controversy because it deemed the "provocation" was such as to cause Senator McCarthy to say what he did about other senators. But in the coming debate it will be necessary to try all over again the whole question of what does or does not constitute "provocation." If the censure resolution is adopted, more censure resolutions will be proposed at this session to condemn the conduct of other senators who have said worse things to witnesses than the Wisconsin Senator ever did. Such resolutions probably will be tabled. But the point will be made—that only a senator fighting communism is censured.

Several senators, recognizing all the implications, are trying to work out a "compromise" resolution which will call attention to intemperate statements but will praise the Wisconsin senator's objectives in the anti-Communist fight.

William Benton's suite at the Savoy Plaza Hotel in New York when they received a telegram from Vice President Nixon demanding that Adlai retract his statement that Nixon was following the Communisty party line.

Advisers offered Stevenson all sorts of suggestions for a reply to the man the Democrats now call "McNixon." Finally Stevenson said:

"Well, I suppose I could reply as follows: 'Dear Mr. Nixon: I have now received two telegrams from the vice president of the United States. The first was from my grandfather. Sincerely yours, Adlai Stevenson.' "

He did not, however, send the telegram.

Politics With RR Money

One of the first investigations when the Democrats take over Congress will dig into politicking inside the Railroad Retirement Board by two Eisenhower appointees.

The R.R. Board was set up to administrate the pensions of railroad workers and is operated by the money withdrawn each week from railroad workmen's salaries. It is not a political organization. However, after Eisenhower appointed as new chairman, Raymond J. Kelly of Chicago, former Michigan commander of the American Legion, things began to change. He was followed by Frank C. Squire, another Chicagoan, and together they have proposed removing 10 administrative posts from Civil Service to make room for worthy Republicans.

As an excuse for this political gravy, the rumor has been spread that there is a "cell of 10 known Communists in the Railroad Retirement Board office."

Chief spreader of the rumor is Harold Rainville, listed as "special assistant" to Senator Dirksen of Illinois, though he actually works for the Republican Committee for the Re-Election of Senators, also does public relations work from the favored position. It was Rainville who was permitted by Senator McCarthy to help cross-examine Brig. Gen. Ralph Swicker in secret session when he, Rainville, represented no senator and had no more right to cross-examination than a newsman. This is one of the McCarthy issues now before the Senate for censure.

The fact that Rainville and his two Chicago friends, Kelly and Squire, now want to gut the Railroad Retirement Board for worthy Republicans will not only be probed by Democrats, but quite a few Republicans will help the investigation.

McCarthy And His Party

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

There is not much doubt about what is going to happen to Sen. McCarthy—bar a miracle he is going to be censured by a heavy majority. What is more interesting is what is likely to happen to the Republican party as a result of the censure fight.

In this connection, it is worth recalling something that happened at the funeral of Sen. Pat McCarran last October 2. The funeral of Democrat McCarran, who used to be McCarthy's most powerful ally in the Senate, was attended by six Republican senators—Sen. Knowland, in his capacity as majority leader, and Sens. Bridges of New Hampshire, Welker, of Idaho, Malone of Nevada, Jenner of Indiana, and Goldwater of Arizona.

All five of the latter are considered McCarthy men. It was thus not surprising that they should discuss the prospect of the debate on censure. And, although they agreed that McCarthy would probably be censured, they were by no means unhappy over the prospect of a fight on the issue.

On the contrary, according to a reliable report, there was a good deal of feeling among this little band of McCarthy Republicans that the censure debate might provide an ideal time to show who was really boss in the Republican party. It might provide a fine time, in other words, to challenge the Eisenhower administration openly, with an eye to assuring eventual control of the party by the pro-McCarthy right wing.

Strategy Was Obvious

The strategy of such a challenge was fairly obvious. It called for attacking the censure resolution as a plot hatched in the White House. Presidential aide Sherman Adams was to be cast in the role of chief plotter, with the President as a willing accomplice. The President's letter to Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont, congratulating Flanders on his first speech criticizing McCarthy, could be used as evidence of the President's personal participation in the censure plot.

Such a direct, open, and concerted attack on the President, it was reasoned, would give the McCarthy Republicans at least a useful blackmail position in the party, and at most ultimate control of the party. It may be that the attack will still be made. There was at least a hint of something of the sort in Sen. Welker's speech on the opening day of debate. McCarthy himself seems prepared to go to almost any lengths.

Yet McCarthy seems likely to have far fewer Republican allies in any battle with the White House than seemed possible a few weeks ago. The reason is quite simple. The President is too strong. McCarthy is too weak.

Before the election, after all, most McCarthy-minded Republicans were taking a much gloomier view of Republican chances than even the overjubilant Democrats. McCarthy himself was widely reported as believing that the Republicans would not know what hit them on election day.

A Democratic landslide would have weakened, perhaps fatally, President Eisenhower's hold on his party, and by the same token, it would have strengthened McCarthy. The McCarthy men were counting with absolute confidence on blaming the President for losing the election because he did not play the game the McCarthy way.

Eisenhower Given Credit

Now the three leading McCarthyites in the House of Representatives have been soundly trounced. Clifford Case of New Jersey, the one Republican McCarthy tried to beat, has been elected despite Republican scandals in Trenton and the decayed state organization. Worst of all from the McCarthy point of view, Eisenhower himself has been given personal credit for stemming a Democratic tide once thought unstemmable.

Under the circumstances it is not surprising that very few even among the McCarthy-minded men in the Senate are eager to enlist under the McCarthy banner in any McCarthy-Eisenhower battle. Indeed, although McCarthy will probably get 15 or 20 votes in the end, the tendency even among the McCarthy men is now to shy away from the Wisconsin demagogue. Particularly since McCarthy, in apparent desperation, began personal attacks on the elderly Sen. Arthur Watkins, there has even been some quiet talk in the cloakrooms about changing the censure resolution to a motion to expel.

Unless McCarthy's behavior becomes insanely outrageous, this is likely to come to nothing. But the Wisconsin movement to recall McCarthy must be taken more seriously. Leroy Gore, leader of the movement, plans to start collecting signatures again after the first of the year, and he is completely confident of getting the 280,000 signatures for recall.

At any rate, one way or another, McCarthy seems headed for some sort of final, fatal crash. No doubt he sees himself as a Samson in the Republican temple, bringing the whole party crashing down with him. Perhaps he could once have done just this. But it seems clear that he is too weak to do it now. For the McCarthy wing of the Republican party, which once threatened to dominate the party, looks like becoming an impotent minority.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Trouble with a long political campaign, says Milt, the sterling printer, is that by election time it's almost impossible to remember half the issues you're supposed to be excited about.

Maybe the reason some of those Soviet diplomats are so hard to understand is that they sound like they're talking out of the corners of their mouths and through their hats at the same time.

Our favorite football prognosticator, incidentally, appears to be 'way off form this season. Last Saturday, for example, he guessed more than half of the game results right.

The average American is a fellow who believes in a second chance for everybody — everybody, that is, except baseball managers and football coaches.

Shortage Of School Teachers In West Virginia Reaches Alarming Proportions, Report Indicates

Hardy County Group Compiles Data On State-Local Situation

MOOREFIELD — The Hardy County Education Association, through its public relations committee of which Blanche Hinkle is chairman, has prepared some interesting facts about the public school teacher shortage in Hardy County and most of West Virginia. The report follows:

1. Needed: At least 1,000 teachers to alleviate existing over-crowded classes in the state.

2. Since 1949-50, school enrollment has increased 17,500; but only 390 additional teachers have been employed — an average of 44 pupils per teacher.

3. During 1953-54, West Virginia employed 1,066 emergency certified teachers. In addition, they employed another 3600 who have substandard training — less than four years of college education.

4. In 1942, of all employed beginning elementary teachers, 82 per cent were still teaching at the end of the third year. Today less than 50 per cent are found in service at the end of the third year.

5. In 1942-43, schools had 585 teachers who were 20 years of age. In 1948-49 that number of 20-year-old teachers dropped to 138 or a 76 per cent loss. In the same period, there was a 55 per cent loss of teachers of ages 21-25; a 53 per cent loss of teachers 26-30, and a 41 per cent loss of those of ages 31-35. This signifies the fact that young people are not entering or staying in the teaching profession in West Virginia.

West Virginia is also training more teachers than are being employed under present financial limitations and restrictions.

In addition to the approximately 575 in service teachers who earned degrees in 1952-53 the University and all other colleges graduated 962 persons qualified to teach.

Half Leave State

Of those 962 qualified persons, only 450 were employed within the state — a loss of 53 per cent of trained teaching personnel. This has been happening over a period of years.

The University and state supported colleges trained an estimated 80 per cent of these teacher graduates. The cost to the state was approximately $2400 for each one. Yet West Virginia failed to employ more than 53 per cent of these much needed teachers.

Records at the University and college campuses show that many of these graduates were employed in other states at a salary of $600 to $1,000 in excess of that paid in West Virginia.

It is recognized that not all the answers lie in salary differentials, however the association believes teacher pay as the Number One factor in West Virginia's failure to attract and hold in the classrooms well-trained teachers.

Hardy County Problem

Hardy County now employs 101 teachers. Last year the county lost 20 teachers. Nine of the number lost were teachers with degrees. This year (1954-55) the county is employing six teachers with emergency certificates. One teacher has no training beyond high school and one has only six hours of college credit.

Five per cent of the teachers now employed in Hardy County are eligible to retire. Seven per cent will be eligible for retirement within the next five years. Within 10 years, 16 per cent will be eligible for retirement, and 15 per cent within 15 years. 43 per cent will be eligible to retire in less than 15 years. This is in addition to the normal turnover. This problem is in addition to the larger than normal turnover the county has been experiencing.

Next year the schools of West Virginia will open with more pupils than are now enrolled. Students preparing to teach are not half the number needed.

There is need to encourage capable young people to become teachers. The state and county must establish salary schedules and working conditions that will meet competition of industry, government positions, and other occupations, and which will attract and hold good teachers.

Natural Gas Found Near Romney

New Well Starts Like A Record Eastern Producer

ROMNEY — A gas strike in nearby Hampshire County, W.Va., could develop into one of the largest gas fields east of the Mississippi River in the opinion of a Washington geologist.

C. W. Hoffer, geologist for the group conducting the drilling, said evidence indicates that the well which came in Monday evening will be a big producer.

The drilling is being done by Milburn E. Anderson of the Anderson Oil Company of Warren, Pa., and his associate, W. O. Youkers, Knox, Pa.

Impressed By Volume

Both men have indicated they are impressed at the volume of gas from the well being drilled on the Kerr Dolan farm—about eight miles east of Romney on U. S. Route 50.

Gas came in Monday at a depth of 4,827 feet, Anderson said, adding that the volume has been increasing as the drilling progresses. The well last night was at a depth of 4,848 feet.

The drilling began in April following a five-month survey of the geological formation of the county by the Petty Geophysical Company of San Antonio, Texas.

Anderson stated the strike is in accordance with findings of the Petty Company survey, indicating that the geological survey was perfectly mapped.

Gas is normally found under what is known as the whip cove structure, Anderson explained, adding that that formation in Hampshire County is one of the largest east of the Mississippi.

The Oriskany sand is the gas-producing strata, he continued, and drillers have struck a 200-foot layer of such strata. So far, Anderson said, only 40 feet of it has been penetrated.

Could Change Economy

Both Anderson and his associate have expressed the opinion that royalty payments to land owners from whom they have leased acreage could change the entire economy of the Hampshire County area.

Anderson has leased approximately 34,000 acres in the Hampshire area, and his associate, an estimated 5,000 acres.

Gas in large volume was struck last year some 1,000 yards from the site of the newest strike, Anderson noted. That one, known as the McBride well, was capped until it could be determined if others could be successfully drilled in the area.

The machinery for the Anderson drilling is being operated with gas from the McBride well, that one being tapped and a line run the approximate 1,000 yards to the new strike.

Beall Elementary Marks Special Event

FROSTBURG — Beall Elementary School has been observing American Education Week during the past few days.

Today at 2:15 p.m., a program will be presented for Grades 5, 6 and 7, with group singing by Grades 5 and 6. Dr. Laura Harney of State Teachers College will tell stories to the group.

Friday at 2 p.m., a play will be presented by Grades 4 and 6 entitled, "We Make the Flag," and group singing and choral readings by Grade 7.

VHS Changes Time For Minstrel Show

LONACONING — Minstrel show time is changed from 8 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. for the convenience of parents and patrons who travel by bus to the school.

"Burnt Cork Capers," Valley High School minstrel, will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday, November 17 and 18, at 7:30 p. m. in the Valley auditorium.

Potomac Valley Chapter W. Va. University Alumni Will Meet

MOOREFIELD—The Potomac Valley Chapter of West Virginia University Alumni and former students will hold an open house at the Moose Hall, Moorefield, November 18, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

All alumni, former students and friends of the University are welcome to attend the gathering and will be entertained with a movie of one of the football games. No reservations are necessary.

Eugene T. Gunning, Cumberland, is president of the Potomac Valley Chapter of West Virginia University Association composed of Hardy, Grant, Mineral, and Pendleton counties in West Virginia and Allegany County, Maryland. Ralph J. Bean is chairman of the Hardy County group, assisted by Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, Mrs. Betty Baker, Oscar H. Bean and Mrs. C. R. Whitman.

Area Council To Hold Memorial Services

FROSTBURG — Memorial services will be held for deceased members of Council 1442, Knights of Columbus, Sunday morning and Monday evening.

The group will attend in a body 7:30 Mass to be celebrated at St. Michaels Church and will meet in the council chamber at the Knights of Columbus home Monday at 8 p. m., to conclude the memorial ceremony.

Louis Valenzans, deputy grand knight in charge of the program, requests that all members be present to participate in both services.

Welfare Club To Sponsor Thanksgiving Charity Ball

WESTERNPORT—Final plans for the annual Charity Thanksgiving Dance sponsored by the Social Welfare Club were made at the recent meeting at DeLuxe Restaurant.

The dance will be held at the home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion Friday November 26, beginning at 9 p. m. The music for the dance will be provided by Art Shaffer's Orchestra of Cumberland.

Donations amounting to $64 made during the month of November were announced as follows: food orders, $40; coal $9; Westernport Health Center $10 and Westernport Library $5. Eight volunteers of the club assisted at the stock room arranging foodstuff and clothing for the United Organizations in Piedmont.

The club ordered that a pair of shoes be provided for needy when requested by the United Organizations for any under privileged person.

Prof. Leonard Withers, head of the music department of Potomac State College, Keyser, gave a talk on his European trip and showed illustrated slides. He was assisted by his sister Miss Anne Withers, also a member of Potomac State faculty.

Following the program a farewell party was held for Mrs. Barbara Hoover who is moving to Watersville, Maine. Mrs. Roberta Phelps, president, presented Mrs. Hoover with a gift in behalf of the club. Refreshments were served.

Natural Gas Found Near Romney

New Well Starts Like A Record Eastern Producer

ROMNEY — A gas strike in nearby Hampshire County, W.Va., could develop into one of the largest gas fields east of the Mississippi River in the opinion of a Washington geologist.

C. W. Hoffer, geologist for the group conducting the drilling, said evidence indicates that the well which came in Monday evening will be a big producer.

The drilling is being done by Milburn E. Anderson of the Anderson Oil Company of Warren, Pa., and his associate, W. O. Youkers, Knox, Pa.

Impressed By Volume

Both men have indicated they are impressed at the volume of gas from the well being drilled on the Kerr Dolan farm—about eight miles east of Romney on U. S. Route 50.

Gas came in Monday at a depth of 4,827 feet, Anderson said, adding that the volume has been increasing as the drilling progresses. The well last night was at a depth of 4,848 feet.

The drilling began in April following a five-month survey of the geological formation of the county by the Petty Geophysical Company of San Antonio, Texas.

Anderson stated the strike is in accordance with findings of the Petty Company survey, indicating that the geological survey was perfectly mapped.

Gas is normally found under what is known as the whip cove structure, Anderson explained, adding that that formation in Hampshire County is one of the largest east of the Mississippi.

The Oriskany sand is the gas-producing strata, he continued, and drillers have struck a 200-foot layer of such strata. So far, Anderson said, only 40 feet of it has been penetrated.

Could Change Economy

Both Anderson and his associate have expressed the opinion that royalty payments to land owners from whom they have leased acreage could change the entire economy of the Hampshire County area.

Anderson has leased approximately 34,000 acres in the Hampshire area, and his associate, an estimated 5,000 acres.

Gas in large volume was struck last year some 1,000 yards from the site of the newest strike, Anderson noted. That one, known as the McBride well, was capped until it could be determined if others could be successfully drilled in the area.

The machinery for the Anderson drilling is being operated with gas from the McBride well, that one being tapped and a line run the approximate 1,000 yards to the new strike.

Beall Elementary Marks Special Event

New Scholarship Established At Potomac State

Mr. And Mrs. Stanley Establish Award

KEYSER — Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Stanley, well-known owners of the Rosemont Restaurant, Armstrong Street, Keyser, have established the newest scholarship at Potomac State College.

To be known as the "Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Stanley Scholarship," the grant will be for $150 a year for two years, and is to be awarded to a graduate of a Mineral County High School. The Scholarship committee of the college is to select the recipient.

"I never had the chance to go to college," Mr. Stanley said, "so I would like to see that some worthy young person gets that chance. Furthermore, I only hope others will become interested in taking some 'stock' in our fine community 'corporation,' Potomac State College, for we get a good percentage of our business from the college."

Mrs. Stanley said: "It was 'Scratch's' idea, and I think it is a wonderful one." Mrs. Stanley attended a night class in Spanish at the college a few years ago.

The Stanleys hope to enroll Mrs. Stanley's daughter, Miss Colleen Davis, at Potomac State, when she completes high school.

Ever since they began their restaurant business in Keyser, first at the Bus Terminal and now at the Rosemont, the Stanleys have been strong supporters of the college and its students. Not only have they given employment to students, but they have a standing agreement with the football team that when the team wins, there are free milk shakes and French fries for the members.

Army Police Get Westernport Man

WESTERNPORT — Newman W. Sentz, Westernport soldier sentenced to 60 days in the County Jail when he was found guilty of a charge of assaulting his wife, was removed to Army custody by two Military Policemen yesterday.

Sentz began his term on October 3 after being sentenced by Magistrate Carl Shaffer here.

Student Council Officers

Bunny Levitt To Give Basketball Exhibition Here Nov. 30

World's Free Throw Champ Heads Clinic

Affair At Ft. Hill Set For 7:30 P. M., Coaches To Attend

The Allegany County Board of Education in cooperation with the Wilson Hardware Company of Cumberland has arranged for an appearance here of Harold "Bunny" Levitt to conduct a clinic on basketball rules and to demonstrate cage techniques Tuesday, November 30, at Fort Hill High School.

The clinic will be held at the gymnasium beginning at 7:30 p. m. and will be free. All area high school coaches, teams, and officials have been inivted to attend the session by the Board of Education.

Gives Exhibitions

Levitt, who will appear here through the sporting goods division of the Converse Rubber Company of Malden, Mass., has been giving exhibitions throughout the country for several years, as a special representative of the rubber concern.

Levitt is an outstanding figure in basketball and handball and holds the world's free throw championship—499 consecutive free throws with a basketball without a miss. This amazing performance landed him in Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" and a later exhibition found Bunny shooting free throws for 7½ hours in which time he missed only two of 871 trials.

Only Appearance Here

This will be the only appearance here this year for the little basketball wizard who toured the world for three years with the Harlem Globe Trotters, showing his specialty between halves.

Since 1939, allowing for three years in the armed services as a physical training director, Bunny has traveled the country over giving exhibitions to build better interest in basketball. He simplifies teaching methods and sticks to fundamentals, demonstrating and explaining basket shooting in detail, as well as passing, dribbling, pivoting, offense and defense. He also given a valuable discourse on rules and answers questions on rules interpretations.

Cumberland K. Of C., Fisher & Robinette Clash Is Postponed

Fisher and Robinette's clash with the Cumberland Knights of Columbus on the former's board tonight in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League has been postponed until next Wednesday.

The F.&R. shufflers occupy first place with a 22-2 record while The Knights trail by five games with 17 wins and 7 losses.

Purple Heart's second place team visits Clingerman's tonight while Hann's Tavern, tied with the K. of C. for third place, journeys to Mt. Savage to shoot it out with the V.F.W.

Other Thursday night matches are Frostburg Legion at Frostburg K. of C., Frostburg Stadium Inn at Frostburg Eagles, Goodfellowship Club at Cas Taylor's and Frostburg Golden Nugget at the Hi Dee Club.

Woodmen of the World host the Cumberland Redmen on Friday night.

W. Va. Hunting Season Opens

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Wild ducks and geese became fair game at noon today and the hunting season opens tomorrow for rabbits, quail and grouse, squirrel and wild turkey.

Also opening tomorrow is the bow and arrow season on deer, applying in all counties which will be open to hunters in December for the regular gun season.

Squirrel and wild turkey also may be taken until Nov. 27. The seasons on all ducks except the wood duck and all geese except brants and snow geese will run through Jan. 8.

Rabbits, quail and grouse will remain fair game through Jan. 1.

Frostburg Schedules Well Baby Clinic

FROSTBURG — A well baby clinic will be held today from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the City Hall.

The station wagon will follow the usual route to pick up mothers and their children, with the first stop being at Midlothian at 10 a.m.

Dr. John B. Davis will be in charge of the clinic assisted by Miss Rose Loibel and Mrs. Lois Jackson, public health nurses.

Fencel Is Told To Quit Football

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—A Roanoke specialist today advised Dick Fencel, Virginia Military Institute quarterback, to give up football for the rest of the season.

A shoulder injury Fencel received in the West Virginia game has not yet healed and probably will require an operation within the next few months. Fencel has been running as second string quarterback and had completed 50 per cent of his passes as well as leading all Keydet quarterbacks in rushing average.

Fans Still Seek Army-Navy Ducats

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia Nov. 27 has been sold out for a week but the Naval Academy announced today it is still receiving applications for tickets at an average rate of 150 a day.

These applications and checks will have to be returned, athletic officials said. They announced last Wednesday that all the available 98,616 tickets have been allotted.

Exterminator Cap To Run On Grass

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — Stanley Mikell's Brush Burn, third in the International at Laurel, and 10 other horses were drawn to tomorrow's Exterminator Handicap which Pimlico is reviving on the grass.

The Exterminator was originated in 1940 as a two mile and 70 yard race on the dirt. Named for the 1918 Kentucky Derby winner, it was omitted from last year's Pimlico program.

It returns as a $10,000 added event to become Pimlico's first big race on turf.

Yankees To Hold Instruction School

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The fifth session of the New York Yankees "instructional school" for rookies and minor league prospects will be held at St. Petersburg, Fla., next spring, General Manager George M. Weiss said today.

The school will run for 18 days, Feb. 10-28, just prior to the opening of the regular Yankee training camp. Manager Casey Stengel will head a "faculty" which will include the Yankee coaches and scouts and selected minor league managers.

Andrews Gets Nod

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Rugged Al Andrews, his nose bleeding freely from the fifth round on, tonight pounded out a 10-round decision over fast-punching Chico Varona of Havana, Cuba., in a non-televised headliner at Chicago Stadium.

Army-Navy Tilt To Pit East's Best Elevens

90,000 Are Expected To See Service Game

By HUGH FULLERTIN JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Two great ends, probably the best in the East if not the entire nation, and two outstanding quarterbacks will oppose one another when Army and Navy meet at Philadelphia Nov. 27.

And at this stage there's little doubt that the crowd of 90,000, plus countless television watchers, will see two teams that are the East's very best in a fitting windup to the 1954 season.

The teams are alike in so many ways that even the members of Lou Little's "club" of coaches who have taken unmerciful beatings from one or both service teams can't pick between them.

Each team has one more game next Saturday before starting final preparations for their annual meeting. Navy takes on Columbia, already beaten 67-12 by Army, and Army meets Penn, a 52-6 victim of Navy. Their scores against two other common opponents this season look as if they had been trying to outdo each other.

Chunky Eddie Erdelatz, who deserted pro football in 1950 to become Navy coach, unhesitatingly calls this his best Navy team. Army's Earl (Red) Blaik says his cadets are "a good offensive team." Statistics show Blaik is guilty of understatement. Army merely leads all major college teams in total offense and rushing.

Army's mainstays are quarterback Pete Vann and Don Holleder, a tall end. It was Holleder who really "made" the Army team when he rejoined it after missing the first two games.

Navy's glamor boy is end Ronnie Beagle, touted as an All-America candidate, but quarterback George Welsh, who almost lost his job to Dick Echard, has been given a very important factor in recent games.

Both teams have strong supporting casts, but they also have weaknesses that can be exploited. Navy's guards are vulnerable to "draw" plays, for instance, and Army's pass defense has shown flaws.

But the teams have two assets in common, quickness and desire—qualities nearly every coach seeks in football players. Their linemen take off so fast when the ball is snapped that there usually is a big hole in the opposing line when the backs come through. And they're always trying to throw that extra block or to pursue and gang tackle the ball carriers, even at the expense of penalties.

Lane Predicts 10-Team Loops

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox predicted today that San Francisco and Los Angeles will get major league baseball as part of a 10-club league set-up within three years.

Lane, chairman of the major leagues realignment committee, said that "the time is rapidly approaching when one league or the other must move into the fertile area on the Pacific Coast."

Richmond Tackles Named By Board

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Both of Richmond's star tackles—Clarence Keville and Billy Thacker—today were nominated for the All-America football team by the Southern Conference Nominating Board.

Keville and Thacker were nominated for their performance in Richmond's 13-0 victory last week over Wake Forest.

Three other players also were selected for All-America consideration for the first time, including halfback Carl Norman of West Virginia and quarterback Dave Woolwine and halfback Mike Foley, both of Virginia Military.

Badminton Club To Open Winter Season Tonight

The City Recreation Department Badminton Club for adults will open its winter season this evening in the Fort Hill School gymnasium, 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The club was organized last year for the recreation of men and women who do not engage in other sports and for others desiring to learn the fine points of the game. The club is open to the public.

A club for Juniors will start this coming Saturday afternoon, 1:30 to 5.

Rackets and birds are furnished free by the Recreation Department and instruction is given free by L. E. Van Sant, tennis and badminton coach.

All this as necessary for new members is to report at the Fort Hill School gymnasium tonight or any other Thursday evening this winter.

Clingerman's Win Over Cresaptown, Keep Shuffle Lead

Clingerman's league-leading shufflers maintained their margin in first place by defeating the Cresaptown ladies last night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. The score was 2-1.

Golden Nugget of Frostburg remained three games behind the leaders with a 2-1 decision over the Woodmen of the World, breaking a second place tie with Stadium Inn of Frostburg who lost 2-1 to Frostburg American Legion.

Hi Dee Club defeated Cas Taylor's 2-1 and Purple Heart scored the only sweep of the evening with a 3-0 win over Pocahontas.

High score of the night went to Gladys Smouse of Stadium Inn with 30 points. Other high scores were Ann Engle, Golden Nugget, 28; Orlean Haines, WOW, 23; Lorraine Judy, Clingerman's, 23; Eleanor Nichols, Cresaptown, 25; Bertha Klink, Legion, 23; Louise Scherch, Purple Heart, 26; Evelyn Galford, Pocahontas, 11; Gretchen Walsh, Hi Dee, 24; and Leona Morgan, Cas Taylors, 20. The standings:

Clingerman's	16	5	W.O.W.	10	11
Golden Nugget	13	8	Purple Heart	10	11
Hi Dee Club	12	9	Pocahontas	8	13

Morty Cohen Trophy Is Memorial Award

BALTIMORE, Nov 10 (AP) — A sports trophy will be given in memory of 2nd Lt. Morton J. Cohen, better known as Morty Cohen, track star at the University of Maryland before he graduated in 1953.

Cohen died Sunday in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

A standout hurdler and broad jumper at Maryland and holder of several Southern Conference titles, Cohen was graduated in June, 1953 and commissioned in the Air Force.

He entered Walter Reed last spring suffering from leukemia and died there Sunday.

William Jimeson, head of the Baltimore Olympic Club, for which Cohen also performed, said a memorial trophy will be presented in the trackman's name.

Colts Back Ill, Won't Make Trip

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—John Huzvar, the second string fullback, will be left behind by the Baltimore Colts on their trip to Milwaukee to play the Green Bay Packers Saturday night.

Huzvar will remain in the hospital where he was taken yesterday with a still undetermined ailment.

League To Meet

The Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League will hold a meeting Monday night at Purple Heart lodge beginning at 8:30 o'clock. President Mary Humbertson urges all teams to be present.

In 17 racing seasons Delaware Park, the state's only thoroughbred track, has returned $14,477,242.82 to the state via taxes.

Government Says Fight Game Has Become Business

Supreme Court Hears Boxing Monopoly Suit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The government told the Supreme Court today boxing promoters have become so involved in nation-wide television shows that the fight game should be officially declared to be a business within the meaning of the nation's antitrust laws.

This line of argument was taken by Philip Elman, special assistant to the attorney general, in asking the high tribunal to order a lower court to bring to trial the government's civil suit that claims boxing violates the country's laws against monopolies.

Elman said the court's previous decisions exempting baseball from the antitrust laws should not be applied to boxing.

And, spurred by a suggestion from Justice Felix Frankfurter, Elman told the court it shouldn't be "capricious" in dealing with the comparison between baseball and boxing. The two activities simply are not the same thing, Elman said.

Whitney North Seymour, New York attorney representing the International Boxing Club, challenged this statement directly. He said baseball and boxing are "precisely analagous."

And, Seymour said, the court must use its baseball decisions as a precedent for throwing out the government's claim and declaring boxing to be outside the scope of the antitrust laws.

The argument appeared to boil down to these questions:

1. Does the widespread use of radio, television and motion picture contracts by boxing promoters put them in interstate commerce?

2. Does the structure of boxing differ substantially from the structure of baseball?

3. When Congress declared baseball to be outside the scope of antitrust laws, was it tacitly putting boxing within those laws?

"Yes," said the government; "no," said the boxing people.

The Supreme Court will weigh these issues before coming up with a decision, which is not likely to be forthcoming for several months.

Lamone, Donaldson Named Co-Captains

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—West Virginia Coach Art Lewis today named a couple of his line stars — Gene Lamone and Chick Donaldson—as co-captains for the game with William and Mary Saturday.

Lamone and Donaldson, both seniors, play side-by-side in the Mountaineer line at right guard and center, respectively. Each has been a game co-captain once before this season.

For the second straight day, Lewis drilled the Mountaineers chiefly on passing and pass defense. The emphasis on pass defense probably is due to the fact that William and Mary has both the Southern Conference's leading passer, Al Grieco, and its leading pass receiver, Larry Fones.

Klochak Is Named Sophomore Of Week

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP) — Don Klochak, North Carolina's promising young fullback, has been named the Associated Press Atlantic Coast Conference sophomore-of-the-week.

Klochak, 19, of Fairhope, Pa., won the nomination for his brilliant line-plunging in the 21-19 win over South Carolina Saturday. The 218-pounder gained 124 yards in 12 carries for an average of 10.3.

Led by Dalton Hillegas who powered his way across the goal line twice for touchdowns the Fort Hill Junior Varsity eleven trounced Allegany High's Jayvees yesterday, 25-0, at the Fort Hill stadium.

In chalking up their fifth win in six games this season Coach Wayne Boor's charges dominated the play throughout, gaining a total of 271 yards rushing and passing to Allegany's 104.

Coach Jim Hosack's Alleganians held the Fort Hill Little Sentinels on virtually even terms throughout the first half, trailing 6-0 at intermission by virtue of Hillegas' six-yard plunge for the initial Scarlet and White score.

Hillegas started the Fort Hill romp which broke the game wide open in the second half by scoring again, this time on a 6-yard gallop in the third quarter. Ramsey Rankin added the point from placement to give the Little Sentinels a 13-0 lead.

In the fourth period the Fort Hillians garnered two more six-pointers to complete the rout as the Little Campers suffered their fifth setback.

Bill Powell tossed to Russ McGaughey on the Allegany 15 and the Fort Hill end raced into the end zone for the third Sentinel counter to complete a 45-yard pass play and then Powell smashed over from the six later in the period to end the day's scoring.

The Little Sentinels will complete their season next week with a game against the LaSalle High Jayvees. The lineups:

Coach Earl Blaik Ill With Pneumonia, To Miss Penn Tilt

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—The Army disclosed tonight that football Coach Earl (Red) Blaik has pneumonia and will miss the Army-Penn game at Philadelphia Saturday.

It will be the first time in his career as a head coach that Blaik has failed to be on hand for a game played by his team.

Col. Douglas Kendrick, the post surgeon, said Blaik will remain in the hospital another week but should be well in time to play strategy for the Navy game.

Capt. Bob Dobbs, defensive backfield coach, will direct the team against Penn.

Glick Named Back Of Week

Colorado Aggies Coach Heaps Praise

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 10 (AP)—Gary Glick, named today the Associated Press national back of the week, said: "That's great, but I sure don't know if I'm deserving."

The junior quarterback was quick to praise the Colorado A & M line behind which he operated in skippering the Rams to an unlooked-for 14-13 victory over Utah in their Skyline Conference grid game last Saturday.

Glick's scored both A & M touchdowns, booted both extra points and blocked a Utah extra point effort.

His coach, Bob Davis, once a stellar halfback at Utah, called Glick's selection "wonderful news."

The 193-pound Glick played fullback last season because Ram coaches felt "he had all the requirements for an excellent split-T field general," Davis said.

Glick is married and the father of two children. He holds down two part-time jobs. Before entering A & M, Glick spent 4 years in the Navy and played service football at San Diego and Alameda, Calif.

Former Pitt Star Dies In Hospital

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Dr. Robert G. Hogan, 43-year-old dentist who starred at quarterback for the University of Pittsburgh's powerhouse 1932 football team, died today in Meadville City Hospital.

Dr. Hogan was hospitalized after he fell on steps leading to his house here last night and bumped his head.

Exterminator Cap To Run On Grass

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — Stanley Mikell's Brush Burn, third in the International at Laurel, and 10 other horses were drawn to tomorrow's Exterminator Handicap which Pimlico is reviving on the grass.

The Exterminator was originated in 1940 as a two mile and 70 yard race on the dirt. Named for the 1918 Kentucky Derby winner, it was omitted from last year's Pimlico program.

It returns as a $10,000 added event to become Pimlico's first big race on turf.

Yankees To Hold Instruction School

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The fifth session of the New York Yankees "instructional school" for rookies and minor league prospects will be held at St. Petersburg, Fla., next spring, General Manager George M. Weiss said today.

The school will run for 18 days, Feb. 10-28, just prior to the opening of the regular Yankee training camp. Manager Casey Stengel will head a "faculty" which will include the Yankee coaches and scouts and selected minor league managers.

Andrews Gets Nod

Army-Navy Tilt To Pit East's Best Elevens

90,000 Are Expected To See Service Game

By HUGH FULLERTIN JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Two great ends, probably the best in the East if not the entire nation, and two outstanding quarterbacks will oppose one another when Army and Navy meet at Philadelphia Nov. 27.

And at this stage there's little doubt that the crowd of 90,000, plus countless television watchers, will see two teams that are the East's very best in a fitting wind-up to the 1954 season.

The teams are alike in so many ways that even the members of Lou Little's "club" of coaches who have taken unmerciful beatings from one or both service teams can't pick between them.

Each team has one more game next Saturday before starting final preparations for their annual meeting. Navy takes on Columbia, already beaten 67-12 by Army, and Army meets Penn, a 52-6 victim of Navy. Their scores against two other common opponents this season look as if they had been trying to outdo each other.

Chunky Eddie Erdelatz, who deserted pro football in 1950 to become Navy coach, unhesitatingly calls this his best Navy team. Army's Earl (Red) Blaik says his cadets are "a good offensive team." Statistics show Blaik is guilty of understatement. Army merely leads all major college teams in total offense and rushing.

Army's mainstays are quarterback Pete Vann and Don Holleder, a tall end. It was Holleder who really "made" the Army team when he rejoined it after missing the first two games.

Navy's glamor boy is end Ronnie Beagle, touted as an All-America candidate, but quarterback George Welsh, who almost lost his job to Dick Echard, has been given a very important factor in recent games.

Both teams have strong supporting casts, but they also have weaknesses that can be exploited. Navy's guards are vulnerable to "draw" plays, for instance, and Army's pass defense has shown flaws.

But the teams have two assets in common, quickness and desire—qualities nearly every coach seeks in football players. Their linemen take off so fast when the ball is snapped that there usually is a big hole in the opposing line when the backs come through. And they're always trying to throw that extra block or to pursue and gang tackle the ball carriers, even at the expense of penalties.

Lane Predicts 10-Team Loops

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox predicted today that San Francisco and Los Angeles will get major league baseball as part of a 10-club league set-up within three years.

Lane, chairman of the major leagues realignment committee, said that "the time is rapidly approaching when one league or the other must move into the fertile area on the Pacific Coast."

Richmond Tackles Named By Board

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Both of Richmond's star tackles—Clarence Keville and Billy Thacker—today were nominated for the All-America football team by the Southern Conference Nominating Board.

Keville and Thacker were nominated for their performance in Richmond's 13-0 victory last week over Wake Forest.

Three other players also were selected for All-America consideration for the first time, including halfback Carl Norman of West Virginia and quarterback Dave Woolwine and halfback Mike Foley, both of Virginia Military.

Badminton Club To Open Winter Season Tonight

The City Recreation Department Badminton Club for adults will open its winter season this evening in the Fort Hill School gymnasium, 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The club was organized last year for the recreation of men and women who do not engage in other sports and for others desiring to learn the fine points of the game. The club is open to the public.

A club for Juniors will start this coming Saturday afternoon, 1:30 to 5.

Rackets and birds are furnished free by the Recreation Department and instruction is given free by L. E. Van Sant, tennis and badminton coach.

All this as necessary for new members is to report at the Fort Hill School gymnasium tonight or any other Thursday evening this winter.

Clingerman's Win Over Cresaptown, Keep Shuffle Lead

Clingerman's league-leading shufflers maintained their margin in first place by defeating the Cresaptown ladies last night in an Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League match. The score was 2-1.

Golden Nugget of Frostburg remained three games behind the leaders with a 2-1 decision over the Woodmen of the World, breaking a second place tie with Stadium Inn of Frostburg who lost 2-1 to Frostburg American Legion.

Hi Dee Club defeated Cas Taylor's 2-1 and Purple Heart scored the only sweep of the evening with a 3-0 win over Pocahontas.

High score of the night went to Gladys Smouse of Stadium Inn with 30 points. Other high scores were Ann Engle, Golden Nugget, 28; Orlean Haines, WOW, 23; Lorraine Judy, Clingerman's, 23; Eleanor Nichols, Cresaptown, 25; Bertha Klink, Legion, 23; Louise Scherch, Purple Heart, 26; Evelyn Galford, Pocahontas, 11; Gretchen Walsh, Hi Dee, 24; and Leona Morgan, Cas Taylors, 20. The standings:

Morty Cohen Trophy Is Memorial Award

BALTIMORE, Nov 10 (AP) — A sports trophy will be given in memory of 2nd Lt. Morton J. Cohen, better known as Morty Cohen, track star at the University of Maryland before he graduated in 1953.

Cohen died Sunday in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

A standout hurdler and broad jumper at Maryland and holder of several Southern Conference titles, Cohen was graduated in June, 1953 and commissioned in the Air Force.

He entered Walter Reed last spring suffering from leukemia and died there Sunday.

William Jimeson, head of the Baltimore Olympic Club, for which Cohen also performed, said a memorial trophy will be presented in the trackman's name.

Colts Back Ill, Won't Make Trip

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—John Huzvar, the second string fullback, will be left behind by the Baltimore Colts on their trip to Milwaukee to play the Green Bay Packers Saturday night.

Huzvar will remain in the hospital where he was taken yesterday with a still undetermined ailment.

Government Says Fight Game Has Become Business

Supreme Court Hears Boxing Monopoly Suit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The government told the Supreme Court today boxing promoters have become so involved in nation-wide television shows that the fight game should be officially declared to be a business within the meaning of the nation's antitrust laws.

This line of argument was taken by Philip Elman, special assistant to the attorney general, in asking the high tribunal to order a lower court to bring to trial the government's civil suit that claims boxing violates the country's laws against monopolies.

Elman said the court's previous decisions exempting baseball from the antitrust laws should not be applied to boxing.

And, spurred by a suggestion from Justice Felix Frankfurter, Elman told the court it shouldn't be "capricious" in dealing with the comparison between baseball and boxing. The two activities simply are not the same thing, Elman said.

Whitney North Seymour, New York attorney representing the International Boxing Club, challenged this statement directly. He said baseball and boxing are "precisely analagous."

And, Seymour said, the court must use its baseball decisions as a precedent for throwing out the government's claim and declaring boxing to be outside the scope of the antitrust laws.

The argument appeared to boil down to these questions:

1. Does the widespread use of radio, television and motion picture contracts by boxing promoters put them in interstate commerce?

2. Does the structure of boxing differ substantially from the structure of baseball?

3. When Congress declared baseball to be outside the scope of antitrust laws, was it tacitly putting boxing within those laws?

"Yes," said the government; "no," said the boxing people.

The Supreme Court will weigh these issues before coming up with a decision, which is not likely to be forthcoming for several months.

Lamone, Donaldson Named Co-Captains

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—West Virginia Coach Art Lewis today named a couple of his line stars — Gene Lamone and Chick Donaldson—as co-captains for the game with William and Mary Saturday.

Lamone and Donaldson, both seniors, play side-by-side in the Mountaineer line at right guard and center, respectively. Each has been a game co-captain once before this season.

For the second straight day, Lewis drilled the Mountaineers chiefly on passing and pass defense. The emphasis on pass defense probably is due to the fact that William and Mary has both the Southern Conference's leading passer, Al Grieco, and its leading pass receiver, Larry Fones.

Klochak Is Named Sophomore Of Week

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP) — Don Klochak, North Carolina's promising young fullback, has been named the Associated Press Atlantic Coast Conference sophomore-of-the-week.

Klochak, 19, of Fairhope, Pa., won the nomination for his brilliant line-plunging in the 21-19 win over South Carolina Saturday. The 218-pounder gained 124 yards in 12 carries for an average of 10.3.

Led by Dalton Hillegas who powered his way across the goal line twice for touchdowns the Fort Hill Junior Varsity eleven trounced Allegany High's Jayvees yesterday, 25-0, at the Fort Hill stadium.

In chalking up their fifth win in six games this season Coach Wayne Boor's charges dominated the play throughout, gaining a total of 271 yards rushing and passing to Allegany's 104.

Coach Jim Hosack's Alleganians held the Fort Hill Little Sentinels on virtually even terms throughout the first half, trailing 6-0 at intermission by virtue of Hillegas' six-yard plunge for the initial Scarlet and White score.

Hillegas started the Fort Hill romp which broke the game wide open in the second half by scoring again, this time on a 6-yard gallop in the third quarter. Ramsey Rankin added the point from placement to give the Little Sentinels a 13-0 lead.

In the fourth period the Fort Hillians garnered two more six-pointers to complete the rout as the Little Campers suffered their fifth setback.

Bill Powell tossed to Russ McGaughey on the Allegany 15 and the Fort Hill end raced into the end zone for the third Sentinel counter to complete a 45-yard pass play and then Powell smashed over from the six later in the period to end the day's scoring.

The Little Sentinels will complete their season next week with a game against the LaSalle High Jayvees. The lineups:

Coach Earl Blaik Ill With Pneumonia, To Miss Penn Tilt

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—The Army disclosed tonight that football Coach Earl (Red) Blaik has pneumonia and will miss the Army-Penn game at Philadelphia Saturday.

It will be the first time in his career as a head coach that Blaik has failed to be on hand for a game played by his team.

Col. Douglas Kendrick, the post surgeon, said Blaik will remain in the hospital another week but should be well in time to play strategy for the Navy game.

Capt. Bob Dobbs, defensive backfield coach, will direct the team against Penn.

Glick Named Back Of Week

Colorado Aggies Coach Heaps Praise

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 10 (AP)—Gary Glick, named today the Associated Press national back of the week, said: "That's great, but I sure don't know if I'm deserving."

The junior quarterback was quick to praise the Colorado A & M line behind which he operated in skippering the Rams to an unlooked-for 14-13 victory over Utah in their Skyline Conference grid game last Saturday.

Glick's scored both A & M touchdowns, booted both extra points and blocked a Utah extra point effort.

The 193-pound Glick played fullback last season because Ram coaches felt "he had all the requirements for an excellent split-T field general," Davis said.

Glick is married and the father of two children. He holds down two part-time jobs. Before entering A & M, Glick spent 4 years in the Navy and played service football at San Diego and Alameda, Calif.

Former Pitt Star Dies In Hospital

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Dr. Robert G. Hogan, 43-year-old dentist who starred at quarterback for the University of Pittsburgh's powerhouse 1932 football team, died today in Meadville City Hospital.

Dr. Hogan was hospitalized after he fell on steps leading to his house here last night and bumped his head.

WMI League To Open 30-Game Cage Schedule On January 7

Nine Referees Assigned To Handle Games

Allegany Campers To Defend Title During 34th Season

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will open its 34th season on January 7 and Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers' Allegany High School Campers will be set to defend its title captured last year.

Arthur G. Ramney, director of athletics for the Board of Education, has announced that nine area officials have been assigned to handle the league's 30-game slate this year.

Nine Officials Named

They are Frederick "Tack" Clark, Keyser; C. Eddie Diehl, Holland Street, Cumberland; John Fox, Keyser; William P. Hahn, Cumberland; J. Ray Hull, Frostburg; Larry Patterson, Westernport; Robert E. Pence, Cumberland; James Roby, Cumberland; and Joseph Stanislawcyk, Keyser.

The opening contests on a Friday will pit the defending AHS quintet against Mt. Savage at Campobello; Fort Hill host to Valley High and Bruce at Beall.

Allegany High's perenniel champions will be seeking their 20th championship in the 34-year history of the circuit this season and the 19th under the helm of Coach Bowers.

Last year's Blue and White squad captured the diadem with a 9-1 record, losing only to Beall High's Mountaineers, 68-63, in an overtime clash in Frostburg.

That loss to Beall also proved to be the only blemish on the Campers' record as they won the WMI, City, County and State championship with a 24-1 mark.

Field Veteran Five

Expected again to provide the top opposition to Allegany this year in the circuit will be Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Fort Hill Sentinels, Eddie Finzel's Beall High Mountaineers, and Bruce High's Bulldogs from Westernport under the tutelege of Mentor Augie Eichhorn.

Also touted as a strong possibility as a contender for the WMI crown is Johnny Meyers' Valley High School Black Knights who are expected to field a veteran group of campaigners. John Thomas, Mt. Savage Braves round out the six-team circuit. The schedule with referees assigned:

Jan. 7—Valley at Fort Hill, Stanislawczyk and Fox.
Mt. Savage at Allegany, Pence and Patterson.
Bruce at Beall, Hahn and J. Roby.

Jan. 11—Mt. Savage at Valley, Stanislawczyk and Fox.
Beall at Allegany, Hahn and Diehl.
Fort Hill at Bruce, Pence and Clark.

Jan. 14—Allegany at Valley, Stanislawczyk and Patterson.

Ruff Mate Pays $420 To Win At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Shenandoah Stable's Ruff Mate returned the fourth highest payoff on a winning horse in Maryland today when he returned $420.60 for $2 in the eighth and last race at Pimlico.

About the same amount as he paid was bet on him, $422. There was also $219 on him to finish second for which he

WMI League To Open 30-Game Cage Schedule On January 7

Nine Referees Assigned To Handle Games

Allegany Campers To Defend Title During 34th Season

The Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will open its 34th season on January 7 and Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers' Allegany High School Campers will be set to defend its title captured last year.

Arthur G. Ramney, director of athletics for the Board of Education, has announced that nine area officials have been assigned to handle the league's 30-game slate this year.

Nine Officials Named

They are Frederick "Tack" Clark, Keyser; C. Eddie Diehl, Holland Street, Cumberland; John Fox, Keyser; William P. Hahn, Cumberland; J. Ray Hull, Frostburg; Larry Patterson, Westernport; Robert E. Pence, Cumberland; James Roby, Cumberland; and Joseph Stanislawcyk, Keyser.

The opening contests on a Friday will pit the defending AHS quintet against Mt. Savage at Campobello; Fort Hill host to Valley High and Bruce at Beall.

Allegany High's perenniel champions will be seeking their 20th championship in the 34-year history of the circuit this season and the 19th under the helm of Coach Bowers.

Last year's Blue and White squad captured the diadem with a 9-1 record, losing only to Beall High's Mountaineers, 68-63, in an overtime clash in Frostburg.

That loss to Beall also proved to be the only blemish on the Campers' record as they won the WMI, City, County and State championship with a 24-1 mark.

Field Veteran Five

Expected again to provide the top opposition to Allegany this year in the circuit will be Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Fort Hill Sentinels, Eddie Finzel's Beall High Mountaineers, and Bruce High's Bulldogs from Westernport under the tutelege of Mentor Augie Eichhorn.

Also touted as a strong possibility as a contender for the WMI crown is Johnny Meyers' Valley High School Black Knights who are expected to field a veteran group of campaigners. John Thomas, Mt. Savage Braves round out the six-team circuit. The schedule with referees assigned:

Jan. 7—Valley at Fort Hill, Stanislawczyk and Fox.
Mt. Savage at Allegany, Pence and Patterson.
Bruce at Beall, Hahn and J. Roby.

Jan. 11—Mt. Savage at Valley, Stanislawczyk and Fox.
Beall at Allegany, Hahn and Diehl.
Fort Hill at Bruce, Pence and Clark.

Jan. 14—Allegany at Valley, Stanislawczyk and Patterson.
Fort Hill at Beall, Pence and Diehl.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10 (INS) — "The Romance of Leonardo Da Vinci," by Dimitri Merejkowski, a Russian who has lived in Paris most of his life is being readied for the screen by Producer Charles Schnee at MGM.

This should be a very fascinating picture as Da Vinci was an astounding man.

The translation into English of the Merejkowski story has been done by Bernard Guilbert Gurney. An actor has not yet been chosen but I wouldn't be surprised if it would be a Robert Taylor assignment.

Any trouble Lana Turner may have had on "Sea Chase" apparently has been ironed out. There are some changes in the script, with writers working on the new ending. Director John Farrow tells me that Lana looks beautiful, slim and blonde. He also says that David Farrer, Number One at England's boxoffices, has been added to the cast and started work today.

This is the first time Lana has ever been borrowed by a studio, but actually it's by the same studio — Warner Brothers — where she first started with Mervyn Leroy, who is working on the next stage on "Mister Roberts."

Arlene Dahl did so well by herself in "Woman's World" at 20th the bosses have invited her to stay on for "Pink Tights" with Sheree North, Dan Dailey and Johnnie Ray.

I know few actresses in our business as happy as Arlene is these days. Recently, I interviewed her and Fernando Lamas at their honeymoon home and both of them are in seventh heaven.

Fernando is excited about singing in "The Girl Rush" with Roz Russell, and Arlene is pleased about her repeat on the 20th lot because it keeps her close to home in "Fernando's Hideaway" — where she wants to be.

Alex wants Jose Ferrer, only Ferrer will have a bigger mustache, a longer beard, longer legs and a bigger hat than he wore as Toulouse Lautrec in "Moulin Rouge."

When good-looking Frenchman Jacques Sernas first came to Hollywood he told me he had no intention of letting himself be used for "publicity romances." So, I gather his frequent dating of Terry Moore must be on the level.

Sernas has been the guest of Terry and her parents at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas for the past four days.

Whatever develops between Terry and Jacques, he has an important date to keep with his mother first. He flies back to Paris on Friday to bring her to this country after the holidays.

Jane Powell and Pat Nerney got a traffic ticket driving up to Ojai for their wedding and Publicist Bill Lyon got one driving back with the pictures for the press.

At the Bantam Cock, Marie Windsor introduced Jack Hupp as her future husband, so it must be true. They posed for pictures together at Universal-International Studio.

James Dean, who was so in love with Pier Angeli before she announced her engagement to Vic Damone, makes his TV debut on the General Electric show.

Marilyn Monroe is right next door to Mercedes McCambridge at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Both girls will be allowed to go home in a very short time.

Leo Durocher plays Captain Queeg in "Giant Mutiny" on Jack Benny's TV show next Sunday. Jack plays the Van Johnson role in this satire on "Caine Mutiny."

The William Goetzes leave Nov. 21, accompanied by Claudette Colbert and Dr. Joel Pressman to attend the wedding of Judith Goetz, their elder daughter, to Richard Allan Shepherd.

Mrs. Grace Dawley, who was the wife of pioneer Director J. Searle Dawley, has just undergone a serious eye operation. Her great courage is wonderful and her faith so beautiful that her friends believe her eyesight will be restored.

River Tugboat Is Damaged In Fire

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Nov. 10 (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the tugboat Neptune of Newark, Del., as it pulled a deck barge down the Susquehanna River near here last night.

Capt. Jack M. Moore, 33, and his brother, Harry T. Moore, 37, first mate, both of Delaware City, were alone on the 55-foot tugboat and fought the blaze in the engine room and galley for about an hour before help arrived.

Their radio was out of order and unable to call for help, the two men shut off the below-deck fire and fought it with hand extinguishers.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CLEVELAND (INS)—Among the distinguished foreign crime experts covering the Marilyn Sheppard murder trial is K. Knatchbull-Wattles, famed British detective best remembered for cracking the Cholmondeley-Chumly garroting case which sent the scoundrel Murgatroyd to deserved goal.

Ran into "Knatch," as he was known in Scotland Yard, only last night at the Theatrical Grill, Cleveland's answer to the Cheshire cheese. He dropped into this quiet meeting place of wits and essayists to inquire the way to the nearest Marconigram office. "Knatch" was kind enough not only to recall fondly our war (Boer) days but to give me exclusive U. S. rights to the material he is writing by flashlight with the pointed peak of his Sherlock Holmes hat.

By Inspector G. Knatchbull-Wattles

"Knatch"

Cleveland — (By Rothschild Pigeon)—I am here. Incontrovertibly.

After a careful study of the voluminous reports compiled by industrious "stenographers" at the coroner's inquiry, as well as the bail-bond hearing, the grand jury findings and several score of signed statements, tipsters' phone calls and anonymous letters, I have reached the conclusion—perhaps hastily—that some sort of crime has been committed.

There is reason to believe that the victim was a Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard. At least, the colonial press has thus identifed her. British libel law being what it is, I am not permitted at this time to name the defendant, but confess I am sorely prompted to divulge this information in my memoirs, now tentatively scheduled on Hutchinson's Spring List, 1973.

It may possibly be of interest to charter subscribers of the Athenaeum Quarterly Review that in America there are certain restrictions erected to discourage murder by gunplay and knouting. This, I confess, came as a bit of a surprise to your correspondent, too. He had recently witnessed a series of late, late television shows intended for British commercial television but has learned since arrival in this splendid cotton-exporting town on Lake Huron that Edward G. Robinson did not invariably go unapprehended.

So. Back to the trial. To repeat, I am here. I was welcomed heartily by the judge. He will pardon, I trust, my startled expression when I found him bereft of his judicial wig. With a discreet cough I whispered, "Your worship, your valet is a varlet. He has failed to robe you properly. Your wig, sir." For reasons for which I can only say—with a helpless shrug—"that's colonial life," he preferred to ignore my solicitous remarks. A stubborn man, he has each day failed to appear on the bench wearing what every jurist knows he must wear—the tightly rolled shoulder length wig without whose presence Anglo-Saxon justice is scarcely possible and Magna Carta so much billingsgate.

Your obedn't s'vant has undergone many other hardships in the new world, notably the deplorable coffee served in America. A conscientious search of local memorials to Brillat-Savarin has failed to unearth a single dish of bubble and squeak or even of brussels sprouts. But, after all, one must be patient. What can one safely expect of a country hardly 178 years old?

Being here in Cleveland for the Marilyn Sheppard case, naturally I am here. Let no snide fellow from the Royal Automobile Club contest that. I have my card of admission. My place is hard by Inspector Fabian's. We make the best of things. At luncheon at the Express Grill nearby only Friday we shouted "crumpets" when the waitresses appeared. They slapped our faces. Extraordinary conduct. They seemed offended by the word.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL

IF SOMEONE asked you what is the most important factor in good play of the cards, you might expect the answer to be difficult. It is not. It is perhaps the simplest straightforward answer you could give to any bridge question. It is merely to count up the tricks surely in sight, as soon as you see the dummy, then figure out how many more you must get. In the case of a suit contract, you may reverse that by counting the number of apparent losers, then reckoning how many of them you must avoid.

	♠ K 7 5 ♥ A 9 8 4 2 ♦ 7 ♣ Q 10 8 2
♠ J 10 9 4 3 ♥ Q J 6 ♦ J 4 2 ♣ A 3	N W E S	♠ Q 8 2 ♥ 10 7 3 ♦ Q 10 9 ♣ K 9 7 5
	♠ A 6 ♥ K 5 ♦ A K 8 6 5 3 ♣ J 6 4

(Dealer: Southh. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Upon winning the spade J lead with the A, South hoped the hearts would set up with the loss of a single trick. They did, after the K and A won and the 9 was given up to the Q. The spade 4 to the Q was allowed to pass, then the 2 to the K enabled the declarer to cash the rest of the hearts, making a total of six tricks in all. When he next scored two diamond tops, making a total of only eight for South, East soundly unblocked with the Q, so that West got the third diamond with the J, whereupon he beat the contract with spades.

South had committed the cardinal sin of card-playing—failure to count up his tricks. If he had done that, he would have seen that giving up a diamond trick would have established enough if the outstanding six were evenly divided, whereas the same division in hearts would not do the job.

Explaining to North, South said he didn't like to try the diamonds because he had only a singleton of that suit in dummy. Actually that was no factor, as the same lucky break, a division of the outstanding cards, was necessary in either suit. The diamonds, being one card longer, would have given him enough, whereas the hearts couldn't.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 2 ♥ A Q 10 4 ♦ 7 3 ♣ A Q 10 7 4 3
♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 8 6 5 2 ♦ J 10 8 6 2 ♣ 8	N W E S	♠ Q J 9 4 ♥ K 7 3 ♦ 9 5 ♣ K J 9 2
	♠ A K 7 6 3 ♥ J 9 ♦ A K Q 4 ♣ 6 5

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the right way for South to play at 3-No Trumps after the diamond J is led?

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CLEVELAND (INS)—Among the distinguished foreign crime experts covering the Marilyn Sheppard murder trial is K. Knatchbull-Wattles, famed British detective best remembered for cracking the Cholmondeley-Chumly garroting case which sent the scoundrel Murgatroyd to deserved goal.

Ran into "Knatch," as he was known in Scotland Yard, only last night at the Theatrical Grill, Cleveland's answer to the Cheshire cheese. He dropped into this quiet meeting place of wits and essayists to inquire the way to the nearest Marconigram office. "Knatch" was kind enough not only to recall fondly our war (Boer) days but to give me exclusive U. S. rights to the material he is writing by flashlight with the pointed peak of his Sherlock Holmes hat.

Here is his first offering:

By Inspector G. Knatchbull-Wattles

"Knatch"

Cleveland — (By Rothschild Pigeon)—I am here. Incontrovertibly.

After a careful study of the voluminous reports compiled by industrious "stenographers" at the coroner's inquiry, as well as the bail-bond hearing, the grand jury findings and several score of signed statements, tipsters' phone calls and anonymous letters, I have reached the conclusion—perhaps hastily—that some sort of crime has been committed.

And in this vicinity.

There is reason to believe that the victim was a Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard. At least, the colonial press has thus identifed her. British libel law being what it is, I am not permitted at this time to name the defendant, but confess I am sorely prompted to divulge this information in my memoirs, now tentatively scheduled on Hutchinson's Spring List, 1973.

It may possibly be of interest to charter subscribers of the Athenaeum Quarterly Review that in America there are certain restrictions erected to discourage murder by gunplay and knouting. This, I confess, came as a bit of a surprise to your correspondent, too. He had recently witnessed a series of late, late television shows intended for British commercial television but has learned since arrival in this splendid cotton-exporting town on Lake Huron that Edward G. Robinson did not invariably go unapprehended.

So. Back to the trial. To repeat, I am here. I was welcomed heartily by the judge. He will pardon, I trust, my startled expression when I found him bereft of his judicial wig. With a discreet cough I whispered, "Your worship, your valet is a varlet. He has failed to robe you properly. Your wig, sir." For reasons for which I can only say—with a helpless shrug—"that's colonial life," he preferred to ignore my solicitous remarks. A stubborn man, he has each day failed to appear on the bench wearing what every jurist knows he must wear—the tightly rolled shoulder length wig without whose presence Anglo-Saxon justice is scarcely possible and Magna Carta so much billingsgate.

Your obedn't s'vant has undergone many other hardships in the new world, notably the deplorable coffee served in America. A conscientious search of local memorials to Brillat-Savarin has failed to unearth a single dish of bubble and squeak or even of brussels sprouts. But, after all, one must be patient. What can one safely expect of a country hardly 178 years old?

Being here in Cleveland for the Marilyn Sheppard case, naturally I am here. Let no snide fellow from the Royal Automobile Club contest that. I have my card of admission. My place is hard by Inspector Fabian's. We make the best of things. At luncheon at the Express Grill nearby only Friday we shouted "crumpets" when the waitresses appeared. They slapped our faces. Extraordinary conduct. They seemed offended by the word.

Daily Bridge Lesson

MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL

IF SOMEONE asked you what is the most important factor in good play of the cards, you might expect the answer to be difficult. It is not. It is perhaps the simplest straightforward answer you could give to any bridge question. It is merely to count up the tricks surely in sight, as soon as you see the dummy, then figure out how many more you must get. In the case of a suit contract, you may reverse that by counting the number of apparent losers, then reckoning how many of them you must avoid.

	♠ K 7 5 ♥ A 9 8 4 2 ♦ 7 ♣ Q 10 8 2
♠ J 10 9 4 3 ♥ Q J 6 ♦ J 4 2 ♣ A 3	N W E S	♠ Q 8 2 ♥ 10 7 3 ♦ Q 10 9 ♣ K 9 7 5
	♠ A 6 ♥ K 5 ♦ A K 8 6 5 3 ♣ J 6 4

(Dealer: Southh. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Upon winning the spade J lead with the A, South hoped the hearts would set up with the loss of a single trick. They did, after the K and A won and the 9 was given up to the Q. The spade 4 to the Q was allowed to pass, then the 2 to the K enabled the declarer to cash the rest of the hearts, making a total of six tricks in all. When he next scored two diamond tops, making a total of only eight for South, East soundly unblocked with the Q, so that West got the third diamond with the J, whereupon he beat the contract with spades.

South had committed the cardinal sin of card-playing—failure to count up his tricks. If he had done that, he would have seen that giving up a diamond trick would have established enough if the outstanding six were evenly divided, whereas the same division in hearts would not do the job.

Explaining to North, South said he didn't like to try the diamonds because he had only a singleton of that suit in dummy. Actually that was no factor, as the same lucky break, a division of the outstanding cards, was necessary in either suit. The diamonds, being one card longer, would have given him enough, whereas the hearts couldn't.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 2 ♥ A Q 10 4 ♦ 7 3 ♣ A Q 10 7 4 3
♠ 10 8 5 ♥ 8 6 5 2 ♦ J 10 8 6 2 ♣ 8	N W E S	♠ Q J 9 4 ♥ K 7 3 ♦ 9 5 ♣ K J 9 2
	♠ A K 7 6 3 ♥ J 9 ♦ A K Q 4 ♣ 6 5

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

What is the right way for South to play at 3-No Trumps after the diamond J is led?

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of my dear son, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died 9 years ago, November 11, 1945.
What would I give to clasp your hand,
Your happy face to see,
To hear your voice and see your smile,
That meant so much to me.
Mother, Brothers & Sisters.

In memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph J. Decker, who passed away one year ago today, Nov. 11, 1953.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our house,
Which never can be filled.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life will never be the same.
His Wife and Children.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of my dear son, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died 9 years ago, November 11, 1945.
What would I give to clasp your hand,
Your happy face to see,
To hear your voice and see your smile,
That meant so much to me.
Mother, Brothers & Sisters.

In memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph J. Decker, who passed away one year ago today, Nov. 11, 1953.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our house,
Which never can be filled.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life will never be the same.
His Wife and Children.

Adv. N-Nov. 11-18-25

The following Resolution was presented by Commissioner Lemmert, and upon motion of Commissioner Orr, seconded by Commissioner Holmes, and unanimously carried, the same was adopted:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The safety and protection of its citizens is a matter of primary importance to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, a public corporation of the State of Maryland; and

WHEREAS, The Western Maryland Safety Council is an organized group of citizens of Allegany County who are the leaders in community safety in said County; and

WHEREAS, For the past six years the Western Maryland Safety Council has been bringing to the attention of the citizens of this County the "Three E's of Accident Prevention", "Education", "Engineering" and "Enforcement"; Education of the citizens to develop safety consciousness; Engineering to provide safer environments at home, at work and on the streets and highways; Enforcement of all safety regulations and traffic laws in an impartial manner; and

WHEREAS, The Western Maryland Safety Council holds an annual County Safety Week to call to the attention of all citizens the safety problems which must be met to reduce the pain, suffering and loss that inevitably follows injury to or death of our citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND:

That the week of November 14, 1954 to November 20, 1954, be and it is hereby designated as "County Safety Week" in Allegany County, Maryland, and all agencies, organizations and individuals in said County are hereby urged to seriously consider the purpose of this week and to join with the Western Maryland Safety Council in its endeavors to arouse the general public interest in Allegany County in "Accident Prevention" so that through the united efforts of all citizens the annual toll of injury and death from accident may be materially reduced.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND,
By WILLIAM H. LEMMERT,
President.

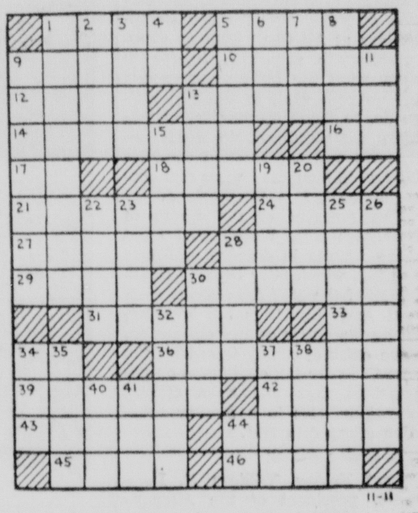
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Adv. N-Nov. 11-18-25

The following Resolution was presented by Commissioner Lemmert, and upon motion of Commissioner Orr, seconded by Commissioner Holmes, and unanimously carried, the same was adopted:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The safety and protection of its citizens is a matter of primary importance to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, a public corporation of the State of Maryland; and

WHEREAS, The Western Maryland Safety Council is an organized group of citizens of Allegany County who are the leaders in community safety in said County; and

WHEREAS, For the past six years the Western Maryland Safety Council has been bringing to the attention of the citizens of this County the "Three E's of Accident Prevention", "Education", "Engineering" and "Enforcement"; Education of the citizens to develop safety consciousness; Engineering to provide safer environments at home, at work and on the streets and highways; Enforcement of all safety regulations and traffic laws in an impartial manner; and

WHEREAS, The Western Maryland Safety Council holds an annual County Safety Week to call to the attention of all citizens the safety problems which must be met to reduce the pain, suffering and loss that inevitably follows injury to or death of our citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND:

That the week of November 14, 1954 to November 20, 1954, be and it is hereby designated as "County Safety Week" in Allegany County, Maryland, and all agencies, organizations and individuals in said County are hereby urged to seriously consider the purpose of this week and to join with the Western Maryland Safety Council in its endeavors to arouse the general public interest in Allegany County in "Accident Prevention" so that through the united efforts of all citizens the annual toll of injury and death from accident may be materially reduced.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND,
By WILLIAM H. LEMMERT,
President.

Whitworth Cites Importance Of Area Industry

Defends Tax Bill For Existing Plants

Total payroll of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company during 1953 was $7,512,000, Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., of Westernport asserted last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Cumberland Conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Whitworth submitted figures to show what the Luke plant spends for payroll, coal, to the two railroads, to truck companies, to farmers for pulpwood, to local contractors and construction companies and to business houses and concerns located in Cumberland.

The member of the House of Delegates from Westernport cited these figures in defense of House Bill 293, which later became Chapter 18 of the 1953 Acts of the General Assembly. This bill introduced by the entire county delegation, gave existing county industries the same 10-year tax exemption on expansions that had been offered new industries in a similar measure adopted in 1951.

Bill Under Attack

Last Friday, William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said the county faces a "serious situation" as a result of the retroactive feature of House Bill 293. It provided that any expansion made after June 1, 1951, would be exempt from county taxes beginning this year and continuing for 10 years.

"To keep the Luke plant in Allegany County competitive and successful in the paper market millions of dollars have been spent in recent years for modern machinery and new additions," Whitworth said.

"Such a decision by management was not easy in the face of taxation in Allegany County where the tax costs per ton of production and per dollar invested is higher than of the other states (New York, South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia) where the company does business.

"However, relief and encouragement was given by the Maryland Legislature for new additions whereby all of our industries, large or small, were encouraged to expand and keep pace with their competitors in other states and localities.

Benefits Cumberland

"Let me cite some of the benefits given by the Luke plant to all the people, not only to those living in the western end of our county, but to those living in the City of Cumberland as well."

Then Whitworth quoted a number of figures. First, he said, as of January 1, 1954, the Luke plant employed 1,688 persons, most of whom live in various parts of Allegany County, including a number in the City of Cumberland.

Total payroll for 1953 was $7,512,000 in wages and salaries, $626,000 a onth, which is the amount of money into the pockets of the people from this one industry. The plant purchased $1,020,000 worth of coal from this vicinity last year, a monthly average of $85,000 to coal producers.

For both the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway Company, the Luke plant is the largest Allegany County customer, Whitworth continued. For freight hauled by the B & O, the Luke plant paid $1,158,604.94 in 1953. During the same year $1,270,326.83 was paid to the Western Maryland.

Local Income Boosted

The paper mill at Luke paid over $156,000 to local trucking companies located in Allegany County and the City of Cumberland in 1953 for hauling paper and materials, a monthly average of $13,000.

Over $2,000,000 worth of pulpwood was purchased from farmers in Allegany County and vicinity during the past year, the delegate added. That is $187,000 for the pocketbooks of local farm people every month, he pointed out.

Contracting and construction companies in Allegany County were paid almost $2,000,000 in 1951, 1952 and 1953 by the Luke plant. These companies also employ Allegany County people.

Pays Heavy Taxes

Concerning taxes, Whitworth asserted that the Luke plant is assessed on real estate and personal property to the extent of $8,907,536 and during 1953 paid over $203,000 in real estate and personal property taxes, $87,000 in income taxes and $20,545 in user taxes.

Finally, he observed that the paper mill paid last year to some

Its 'School Time' At Local Bank

Women Of Area Plan To Attend Safety Luncheon

One of the new features of the sixth annual Allegany County Safety Week starting Sunday will be a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the Western Maryland Women's Traffic Safety Group, according to Paul L. Burley Sr., president of the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Miss Catherine O. Fiora, co-chairmen of the Western Maryland Women's Traffic Safety Group, have sent letters inviting presidents and safety committee chairmen of the various civic clubs, PTA's, Homemakers Clubs, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Soroptimists, Associated Women of the Farm Bureau and auxiliaries of the various fire departments in Allegany and Garrett counties to attend.

Mrs. Marie Gardiner of Baltimore, chairman of the Women's Traffic Safety Groups of Maryland, will preside at an informal discussion of ways to further the cause of traffic safety following the luncheon.

The objective is for each woman to take the ideas formulated at the meeting back to her own group where they will be carried into action.

The idea for women's groups to take an active part in traffic safety originated last summer at President Eisenhower's White House Safety Conference. Rather than form another organization, women in Allegany and Garrett counties hope to carry out the program through existing clubs.

Allegany County's sixth annual Safety Week is sponsored jointly by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and the Western Maryland Safety Council.

County Students To Take Part In Band Day

Four Allegany County high school bands will take part in the second annual Band Day at the University of Maryland Saturday.

Schools to be represented are Allegany and Fort Hill high schools of Cumberland, Bruce of Westernport and Beall of Frostburg.

A total of 30 high school bands and 2,000 young musicians from all parts of Maryland will take part in the program under the direction of William A. Stokes, drum major of the University of Maryland Band, which will be host.

Band Day is designed to further interest in marching bands in Maryland. Stokes will be assisted by Reginald D. Hobbs, director of publicity for the university band.

Fort Hill Students Gain Banking Experience On Job

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

School work can be different, a group of Fort Hill High School sophomores learned yesterday when they spent the day at the First National Bank.

Their special "school" day started at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when all 35 members of a business training class taught by Calvin McMillion gathered in the bank at Baltimore and George streets.

T. Victor Fier, trust officer of the bank, who served as their special guide, began the program by explaining some of the functions of the bank and where each is conducted in his particular bank.

The bank's vault, with its several inner locks which must be opened before the "green stuff" is reached, was one of the special attractions for the class.

After Fier's remarks were over, McMillion selected 12 of his special students to remain at the bank until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, each working with one of the bank's regular employes all day. The rest were sent up to Greenway Avenue to complete their school day because it would have been impossible to have provided learning experiences simultaneously for all 35 boys and girls.

Most of the 12 who remained drew teller or bookkeeping assignments, although one was at the note window and another at the window where Christmas savings are deposited.

To top it off, A. W. Tindal, president of the First National Bank, tossed in a little contest to help the 11 girls and one boy remember their experience better. He offered three prizes, $15, $10 and $5, for the three best reports by the students on "My Banking Experience." They have a week to prepare their essay.

McMillion, whose career has included banking as well as teaching, thought the experience of one day's work in a bank would prove beneficial to his students. They are studying banking right now and although he could draw on his own personal experience in explaining the various procedures, he still felt that actual experience on the part of the pupils would be their best teacher.

The instructor also thought it would be especially appropriate to take the "field trip" to the bank this week because this is American Education Week.

Before coming to Fort Hill as a teacher in the fall of 1952, Mc Million served as assistant cashier of the Ronceverte National Bank in Ronceverte, Greenbrier County, W. Va. He took the teaching position here at the time his wife was appointed home economics teacher at Fort Ashby High School in nearby Mineral County, W. Va. They reside at Short Gap.

Marian Year Contest Set By Knights

The Marian Year is the general theme of the annual essay contest now in progress by Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

James F. Quinn, contest chairman, announced last night that the participants in the competition are eighth grade students of parochial schools of Allegany and Garrett counties and also Martinsburg, W. Va.

About 40 students from the various schools are expected to enter the essay contest. Final date for the entering of essays is December 15, Quinn pointed out.

As yet judges have not been announced. A total of $50 in prizes will be presented the three top finalists at the close of the current school year.

First prize will be $25; second prize, $15 and third prize, $10. Assisting Quinn in the contest are Richard Mastrino, John J. Coyle and Charles J. Laughlin.

Crowe To Be Tried In Fatal Crash

Kenneth Owen Crowe, 24, of RD 2, Grantsville, driver of a car in which Miss Margaret Sue Miller, 21, of Knapps Meadow near Lonaconing was killed October 31, will be tried at 10 a. m., November 16 before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, of Oakland on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Crowe, after being questioned at the State's Attorney's office in Oakland, was released under $500 bond. The accident occurred on the New Germany Road five miles south of Grantsville early Sunday, October 31.

Miss Miller was pinned under the left door of the car and suffered a crushed left chest and other injuries. Death was instantaneous. Although Crowe was also thrown from the vehicle he did not suffer serious injuries, police said.

Optimist Club Presents Award To Van Ausdale

A community without optimism is comparable to a lost soul, City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan said in a talk last night at Central YMCA at a dinner-meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club which honored Carl Elton Van Ausdale, of LaVale, who this year was named "Most Optimistic Person of the Year."

In his talk Finan pointed out that optimism displayed by persons occasionally "rubs off" on others and that liberty, freedom and optimism go together and are requisites if a democracy is to survive.

He commented jokingly that probably the supreme optimist is a Democrat in Allegany County.

Finan outlined the life of Benjamin J. Judah, well-known lawyer of the 19th Century whose life was filled with setbacks and who overcame his hardship and was successful.

Finan was introduced at the meeting by Dr. Orville G. Swartley. Van Ausdale, in accepting a plaque from the local Optimist Club, said it was a great honor and he hoped he would live up to the tradition of those who received a similar award in past years.

Another plaque given to the club in memory of Raymond Hinkle, first charter member of the local organization to die, was presented by his widow, Mrs. Leah Hinkle.

Murderer Denied Habeas Corpus Writ

Herbert Smallwood, who is now confined in the State Penitentiary after having been found guilty of first degree murder, yesterday was denied a writ of habeas corpus by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Smallwood contended that he had to act as his own attorney because he had no money to provide one and the court would not appoint one. He was not tried here but his petition did not state where the trial did occur.

Judge Henderson ruled that his complaint should have been included in an appeal and not made a part of a petition for writ of habeas corpus. Twelve similar writs have been denied Smallwood in other courts.

State PTA Seeks To Avoid Split On Segregation

Convention Opens Today In Baltimore

By HUELL WARREN

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — The board of managers of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers sought today for ways to prevent the segregation issues from splitting it into opposing camps.

Joseph A. Hunter, retiring president of the state organization, said he expected the question to come up when delegates representing 117,000 in 495 local units open their annual convention Thursday morning.

He told the board, at a preliminary meeting today, that he intends to see there is a full discussion of the issue on the convention floor.

Segregation in the schools is not on the agenda for the 39th annual convention, but it cropped up several times in today's board meeting.

Mrs. A. D. Pollack, president of the Frederick County P-TA Council, proposed the state leaders bring it up themselves and reiterate the state organization's stand.

Compliance Urged

The board of managers last July urged local units to cooperate with other organizations and education officials "toward sound plans for compliance" with the Supreme Court decision of last May 17 that segregation in the public schools is unconstitutional.

The discussion produced no outright decision on procedure.

Members opposed to integration in the schools are expected to have their inning in the convention through presentation on the floor of the "West River Proclamation."

It was adopted several weeks ago at a meeting of parents and teachers of the Owensville Elementary and South High schools in Anne Arundel County after being proposed by Cmdr. J. M. Court, a Navy officer who is stationed in Washington and lives in the West River area near Annapolis.

The proclamation calls for a referendum on segregation. It also proposes a ban against pupils being taught by someone not of their own race.

Several steps toward integration within the State congress itself were reported to the board of managers.

The P-TA at Longview in Montgomery County has become the first Negro unit admitted to affiliation with the state organization, Mrs. Edward J. Wilson of Cumberland, state by-laws chairman, reported.

Another To Apply

Another Montgomery County Negro unit, at Rockville Terrace School, is in the process of applying.

Alfred Toombs, president of the St. Marys County council, reported two local units in that Southern Maryland county started steps last spring to join with the Maryland Congress.

P-TA units at many Negro schools belong to a separate Maryland Congress of Parent-Teacher Association and Mrs. Pollack reported some of them in Frederick County want to affiliate with both state organizations.

The by-laws of the larger organization now prevents it from accepting such groups.

The Weather

Beautiful fall weather continued to prevail yesterday and the weatherman promises more today with the temperature expected to warm up during the afternoon with sunny skies in the offing. Gas Dealers Urge State Law Changes

The Allegany and Garrett Counties Petroleum Industries Committee adopted a six-point legislative program at its annual meeting Tuesday night at the Algonquin Hotel.

The program calls for "a reasonable tax on gasoline, protection of road funds by a constitutional amendment, competition in the sale of products and services on highways, avoidance of burdensome highway bond debt, promotion of highway safety, and the withdrawal of the federal government from the gasoline tax field."

J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee, was principal speaker at the meeting.

"The levy of gasoline taxes at reasonable rates for highway purposes at the state level is both proper and essential," Lanigan declared, "but gasoline taxes cost the typical Maryland passenger car owner $58 a year, which is more than many of our customers take home after a week's work.

"The tax on gasoline in Maryland equals 37 per cent of the retail price," he added. Lanigan urged the Allegany and Garrett county dealers to remind their customers of this.

The committee discussed and adopted a resolution urging the General Assembly to submit to the voters in referendum a constitutional amendment setting aside special motor vehicle taxes for highways. Lanigan said 24 states have approved such amendments.

Civic Theatre Final Tryout Planned Tonight

Final tryouts for the Cumberland Civic Theatre's new play will be held in the City Hall auditorium starting at 8 o'clock tonight.

Two nights have been devoted to tryouts so far but a third night has been scheduled to give everyone who might be interested a chance to receive a part in the play.

The new play, "Night Must Fall," is a psychological drama in three acts by Emlyn Williams. It will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium Thursday, December 16.

There are four male and five female roles in the play, each one considered an excellent dramatic part. The play was produced with great success in London and New York. It is the story of a psychopathic killer and his attempt to evade discovery.

"Night Must Fall" will be directed by Loman B. (Chad) Riley. Aspirants for parts do not have to be experienced actors or actresses and they do not have to be members of the Cumberland Civic Theatre.

All persons interested in participating will be given the opportunity to read any or all parts in which they are interested.

Anyone desiring to learn the backstage work or administrative end of the theatre is invited to attend tonight's meeting. No experience is necessary. The more experienced members of the group will be happy to instruct any newcomer in the duties to be performed.

The Civic Theatre is sponsored by the City Recreation Department and is operated entirely by members of the group. They also conduct a workshop in which they teach those interested how to act, apply stage makeup, build sets and other operations. There are 65 members at the present time. New members are welcome to join at any time.

Divorce Granted

Evelyn K. Bazell has been granted a divorce in Allegany County Circuit Court from Kenneth R. Bazell. She was granted the right to resume use of her maiden name of Evelyn B. Knotts.

First Veterans Day Observance Scheduled Today

Parade, Honor Roll Unveiling Highlights

The unveiling this morning of a new memorial honor roll of the war dead of Allegany County, and a large street parade this evening will highlight Cumberland's participation in Veterans Day programs being marked for the first time today throughout the United States.

The honor roll will be unveiled at the local Post Office at 11 a.m. with Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon as master of ceremonies.

The line of march of the parade slated at 8 p.m., will be from the State Armory on South Centre Street to Union Street, to North George, Baltimore, North Mechanic and back to Baltimore to South George, Harrison and to the Armory.

Listed on the honor roll will be the names of veterans who paid the supreme sacrifice in World Wars I and II and in the Korean conflict.

To Complete Roll

Conlon urges that families of servicemen killed in Korea notify him so the list may be completed. The honor roll committee includes Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, Miss Wella Cook, John Parks and Conlon.

The honor roll, established in 1944, is being moved from the City Hall rotunda to make way for improvements. The unveiling program follows:

Invocation, Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church; singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Mrs. Harry Parker, proclamation read by Mayor Roy W. Eves, remarks by William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Prayer, Rabbi Daniel Lowy of B'er Chayim Congregation, unveiling of plaques by Mrs. Johanna Weimer of the Gold Star Mothers, placing of wreath by George Zegles, commander of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion; principal address by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and benediction, Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Citizenship Ceremonies

Members of the 1st Battalion, Maryland National Guard, will provide a color guard and Harry Barley will sound taps.

At 10 a.m., Associate Judge George Henderson will administer the oath of allegiance to six naturalized citizens in Circuit Court. Each will receive a scroll of the Declaration of Independence.

Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the Allegany County Bar Association, will speak. The Marine Corps Reserve and National Guard will furnish color guards for the ceremony.

A formal retreat to the colors will be held at 5 p.m. in the Legion Home on Harrison Street.

Parade Lineup

First Division — Kelly-Mansfield Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of Piedmont; Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, Maryland National Guard, Company C, 115th Infantry Regiment, 1st Battalion, National Guard.

Second Division — Beall High School Band of Frostburg; Marine color guard; 6th Special Infantry Company, USMC; Marine Corps League; Navy color guard; U. S. Navy Recruiting Corps, and Navy Mothers in cars.

Third Division—R. Thomas Farrell, marshal; Fort Hill High School Band; Grantsville Post 214, American Legion; Disabled American Veterans and Catholic War Veterans.

Fourth Division—Robert D. Wilson, marshal; Allegany High

Chapter To Meet

Marines Mark Birthday

Officers and enlisted members of the Inspector-Instructor staff of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, local Marine Corps Reserve unit, hold a cake-cutting ceremony at the Naval and Marine Corps Training Center in observance of the Marine Corps' 179th birthday, which was observed yesterday. The Corps, first American military service to be established by legislative act, was authorized by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia November 10, 1775. In the photo (left to right) are Hospital Corpsman Third Class Harold F. Shober, USNR, attached to the local unit; Sgt. John L. Young Jr., Staff Sgt. Willia mB. Barr, Master Sgt. Troy L. Bullard, Captain H. W. Tubbs Jr. (cutting cake); Tech. Sgt. Albert J. Boudreau, Sgt. Robert E. Anderson, Cpl. Richard C. Weber, Cpl. Gerald M. Linn. Similar observances were held elsewhere in the area last night.

HIGHWAY ZOO

The KANGAROO

This is the jumpy jerk who drives by leaps and bounds – from one stop to another. At the first faint glint of green at a stop light—whoosh! He's off like a rocket! This bounder, like the real kangaroo, sometimes carries his young with him. The kid in the pouch is safer!

Band Instructor Organizes Additional Marching Group

A new marching group called the Alcoettes will be added to the Allegany High School Band for the Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill. They will be under the direction of Miss Rita Houck, head majorette of the senior band.

The 18 senior high girls in this organization are divided into two groups, paper shakers and twirlers. Those comprising the shakers are Patricia Hook, Shirlie Hupp, Joan Yutzy, Jackie Rosemarkel, Ferne Kaplon, Betty Gerhart, seniors; Kathryn Grubb, Dorothy Bright, juniors; and Gail Campbell, sophomore. Using royal blue crepe paper shakers, the girls will display the various maneuvers of their routine.

Both groups were chosen by S. Lua Sykes, band instructor, and Miss Houck on the basis of general performance of routine, strut, arm movement, and personality.

The girls, who will make their first appearance in the Veterans Day parade today, will wear all white uniforms, white majorette boots trimmed with blue and white tassels and white beanie caps.

Whitworth Cites Importance Of Area Industry

Defends Tax Bill For Existing Plants

Total payroll of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company during 1953 was $7,512,000, Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., of Westernport asserted last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Cumberland Conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers at All Ghan Country Club.

Whitworth submitted figures to show what the Luke plant spends for payroll, coal, to the two railroads, to truck companies, to farmers for pulpwood, to local contractors and construction companies and to business houses and concerns located in Cumberland.

The member of the House of Delegates from Westernport cited these figures in defense of House Bill 293, which later became Chapter 18 of the 1953 Acts of the General Assembly. This bill introduced by the entire county delegation, gave existing county industries the same 10-year tax exemption on expansions that had been offered new industries in a similar measure adopted in 1951.

Bill Under Attack

Last Friday, William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said the county faces a "serious situation" as a result of the retroactive feature of House Bill 293. It provided that any expansion made after June 1, 1951, would be exempt from county taxes beginning this year and continuing for 10 years.

"To keep the Luke plant in Allegany County competitive and successful in the paper market millions of dollars have been spent in recent years for modern machinery and new additions," Whitworth said.

"Such a decision by management was not easy in the face of taxation in Allegany County where the tax costs per ton of production and per dollar invested is higher than of the other states (New York, South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia) where the company does business.

"However, relief and encouragement was given by the Maryland Legislature for new additions whereby all of our industries, large or small, were encouraged to expand and keep pace with their competitors in other states and localities.

Benefits Cumberland

"Let me cite some of the benefits given by the Luke plant to all the people, not only to those living in the western end of our county, but to those living in the City of Cumberland as well."

Then Whitworth quoted a number of figures. First, he said, as of January 1, 1954, the Luke plant employed 1,688 persons, most of whom live in various parts of Allegany County, including a number in the City of Cumberland.

Total payroll for 1953 was $7,512,000 in wages and salaries, $626,000 a onth, which is the amount of money into the pockets of the people from this one industry. The plant purchased $1,020,000 worth of coal from this vicinity last year, a monthly average of $85,000 to coal producers.

For both the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway Company, the Luke plant is the largest Allegany County customer, Whitworth continued. For freight hauled by the B & O, the Luke plant paid $1,158,604.94 in 1953. During the same year $1,270,326.83 was paid to the Western Maryland.

Local Income Boosted

The paper mill at Luke paid over $156,000 to local trucking companies located in Allegany County and the City of Cumberland in 1953 for hauling paper and materials, a monthly average of $13,000.

Over $2,000,000 worth of pulpwood was purchased from farmers in Allegany County and vicinity during the past year, the delegate added. That is $187,000 for the pocketbooks of local farm people every month, he pointed out.

Contracting and construction companies in Allegany County were paid almost $2,000,000 in 1951, 1952 and 1953 by the Luke plant. These companies also employ Allegany County people.

Pays Heavy Taxes

Concerning taxes, Whitworth asserted that the Luke plant is assessed on real estate and personal property to the extent of $8,907,536 and during 1953 paid over $203,000 in real estate and personal property taxes, $87,000 in income taxes and $20,545 in user taxes.

Finally, he observed that the paper mill paid last year to some

Women Of Area Plan To Attend Safety Luncheon

One of the new features of the sixth annual Allegany County Safety Week starting Sunday will be a luncheon meeting at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel for the Western Maryland Women's Traffic Safety Group, according to Paul L. Burley Sr., president of the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Miss Catherine O. Fiora, co-chairmen of the Western Maryland Women's Traffic Safety Group, have sent letters inviting presidents and safety committee chairmen of the various civic clubs, PTA's, Homemakers Clubs, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Soroptimists, Associated Women of the Farm Bureau and auxiliaries of the various fire departments in Allegany and Garrett counties to attend.

Mrs. Marie Gardiner of Baltimore, chairman of the Women's Traffic Safety Groups of Maryland, will preside at an informal discussion of ways to further the cause of traffic safety following the luncheon.

The objective is for each woman to take the ideas formulated at the meeting back to her own group where they will be carried into action.

The idea for women's groups to take an active part in traffic safety originated last summer at President Eisenhower's White House Safety Conference. Rather than form another organization, women in Allegany and Garrett counties hope to carry out the program through existing clubs.

Allegany County's sixth annual Safety Week is sponsored jointly by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and the Western Maryland Safety Council.

County Students To Take Part In Band Day

Four Allegany County high school bands will take part in the second annual Band Day at the University of Maryland Saturday.

Schools to be represented are Allegany and Fort Hill high schools of Cumberland, Bruce of Westernport and Beall of Frostburg.

A total of 30 high school bands and 2,000 young musicians from all parts of Maryland will take part in the program under the direction of William A. Stokes, drum major of the University of Maryland Band, which will be host.

Band Day is designed to further interest in marching bands in Maryland. Stokes will be assisted by Reginald D. Hobbs, director of publicity for the university band.

Fort Hill Students Gain Banking Experience On Job

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

School work can be different, a group of Fort Hill High School sophomores learned yesterday when they spent the day at the First National Bank.

Their special "school" day started at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when all 35 members of a business training class taught by Calvin McMillion gathered in the bank at Baltimore and George streets.

T. Victor Fier, trust officer of the bank, who served as their special guide, began the program by explaining some of the functions of the bank and where each is conducted in his particular bank.

The bank's vault, with its several inner locks which must be opened before the "green stuff" is reached, was one of the special attractions for the class.

After Fier's remarks were over, McMillion selected 12 of his special students to remain at the bank until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, each working with one of the bank's regular employes all day. The rest were sent up to Greenway Avenue to complete their school day because it would have been impossible to have provided learning experiences simultaneously for all 35 boys and girls.

Most of the 12 who remained drew teller or bookkeeping assignments, although one was at the note window and another at the window where Christmas savings are deposited.

To top it off, A. W. Tindal, president of the First National Bank, tossed in a little contest to help the 11 girls and one boy remember their experience better. He offered three prizes, $15, $10 and $5, for the three best reports by the students on "My Banking Experience." They have a week to prepare their essay.

McMillion, whose career has included banking as well as teaching, thought the experience of one day's work in a bank would prove beneficial to his students. They are studying banking right now and although he could draw on his own personal experience in explaining the various procedures, he still felt that actual experience on the part of the pupils would be their best teacher.

The instructor also thought it would be especially appropriate to take the "field trip" to the bank this week because this is American Education Week.

Before coming to Fort Hill as a teacher in the fall of 1952, Mc Million served as assistant cashier of the Ronceverte National Bank in Ronceverte, Greenbrier County, W. Va. He took the teaching position here at the time his wife was appointed home economics teacher at Fort Ashby High School in nearby Mineral County, W. Va. They reside at Short Gap.

Marian Year Contest Set By Knights

The Marian Year is the general theme of the annual essay contest now in progress by Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

James F. Quinn, contest chairman, announced last night that the participants in the competition are eighth grade students of parochial schools of Allegany and Garrett counties and also Martinsburg, W. Va.

About 40 students from the various schools are expected to enter the essay contest. Final date for the entering of essays is December 15, Quinn pointed out.

As yet judges have not been announced. A total of $50 in prizes will be presented the three top finalists at the close of the current school year.

First prize will be $25; second prize, $15 and third prize, $10. Assisting Quinn in the contest are Richard Mastrino, John J. Coyle and Charles J. Laughlin.

Crowe To Be Tried In Fatal Crash

Kenneth Owen Crowe, 24, of RD 2, Grantsville, driver of a car in which Miss Margaret Sue Miller, 21, of Knapps Meadow near Lonaconing was killed October 31, will be tried at 10 a. m., November 16 before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer, of Oakland on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Crowe, after being questioned at the State's Attorney's office in Oakland, was released under $500 bond. The accident occurred on the New Germany Road five miles south of Grantsville early Sunday, October 31.

Miss Miller was pinned under the left door of the car and suffered a crushed left chest and other injuries. Death was instantaneous. Although Crowe was also thrown from the vehicle he did not suffer serious injuries, police said.

Optimist Club Presents Award To Van Ausdale

A community without optimism is comparable to a lost soul, City Solicitor Thomas B. Finan said in a talk last night at Central YMCA at a dinner-meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club which honored Carl Elton Van Ausdale, of LaVale, who this year was named "Most Optimistic Person of the Year."

In his talk Finan pointed out that optimism displayed by persons occasionally "rubs off" on others and that liberty, freedom and optimism go together and are requisites if a democracy is to survive.

He commented jokingly that probably the supreme optimist is a Democrat in Allegany County.

Finan outlined the life of Benjamin J. Judah, well-known lawyer of the 19th Century whose life was filled with setbacks and who overcame his hardship and was successful.

Finan was introduced at the meeting by Dr. Orville G. Swartley. Van Ausdale, in accepting a plaque from the local Optimist Club, said it was a great honor and he hoped he would live up to the tradition of those who received a similar award in past years.

Another plaque given to the club in memory of Raymond Hinkle, first charter member of the local organization to die, was presented by his widow, Mrs. Leah Hinkle.

Murderer Denied Habeas Corpus Writ

Herbert Smallwood, who is now confined in the State Penitentiary after having been found guilty of first degree murder, yesterday was denied a writ of habeas corpus by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Smallwood contended that he had to act as his own attorney because he had no money to provide one and the court would not appoint one. He was not tried here but his petition did not state where the trial did occur.

Judge Henderson ruled that his complaint should have been included in an appeal and not made a part of a petition for writ of habeas corpus. Twelve similar writs have been denied Smallwood in other courts.

Chapter To Meet

HIGHWAY ZOO

The KANGAROO

This is the jumpy jerk who drives by leaps and bounds – from one stop to another. At the first faint glint of green at a stop light – whoosh! He's off like a rocket! This bounder, like the real kangaroo, sometimes carries his young with him. The kid in the pouch is safer!

NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Band Instructor Organizes Additional Marching Group

A new marching group called the Alcoettes will be added to the Allegany High School Band for the Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill. They will be under the direction of Miss Rita Houck, head majorette of the senior band.

The 18 senior high girls in this organization are divided into two groups, paper shakers and twirlers. Those comprising the shakers are Patricia Hook, Shirlie Hupp, Joan Yutzy, Jackie Rosemarkel, Ferne Kaplon, Betty Gerhart, seniors; Kathryn Grubb, Dorothy Bright, juniors; and Gail Campbell, sophomore. Using royal blue crepe paper shakers, the girls will display the various maneuvers of their routine.

Both groups were chosen by S. Lua Sykes, band instructor, and Miss Houck on the basis of general performance of routine, strut, arm movement, and personality.

The girls, who will make their first appearance in the Veterans Day parade today, will wear all white uniforms, white majorette boots trimmed with blue and white tassels and white beanie caps.

Marines Mark Birthday

Officers and enlisted members of the Inspector-Instructor staff of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, local Marine Corps Reserve unit, hold a cake-cutting ceremony at the Naval and Marine Corps Training Center in observance of the Marine Corps' 179th birthday, which was observed yesterday. The Corps, first American military service to be established by legislative act, was authorized by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia November 10, 1775. In the photo (left to right) are Hospital Corpsman Third Class Harold F. Shober, USNR, attached to the local unit; Sgt. John L. Young Jr., Staff Sgt. Willia mB. Barr, Master Sgt. Troy L. Bullard, Captain H. W. Tubbs Jr. (cutting cake); Tech. Sgt. Albert J. Boudreau, Sgt. Robert E. Anderson, Cpl. Richard C. Weber, Cpl. Gerald M. Linn. Similar observances were held elsewhere in the area last night.
